JAPAN ASKS RUSSIA FOR A GUARANTEE.

Would Have Korea Kept Outside of the Czar's Sphere of Influence.

Mikado's Government Gives Assurances That War is Not Desired, but Does not Hesitate to Make Known Its Sentiments—Refuses to Link the Matter With the Manchurian Question—Council of the Elders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Japan has asked Russia for an assurance that the latter power will not seek to include Korea within the sphere of her influence.

This demand has not been presented as an ultimatum, but Japan has explained that recent events, particularly in the neighborhood of Yalu River, have caused the Mikado's government great uneasiness, which can only be removed by Russia giving such an understanding as indicated.

This, according to what the Morning Post believes to be excellent authorities, is the keynote of the Far Eastern situation: "The Japanese demand for guarantees respecting Korea has been the subject of extended negotiations, which are still in progress. Russia sought to connect the Korean with the Manchurian question, and at one stage of the negotiations offered to give Japan a satisfactory guarantee as to Korea if Japan would undertake not to support any demand for the evacuation of Manchuria. The Japanese government declined to give any such undertaking, in view of the fact that Japan's Korean and Manchurian questions are separate and distinct."

As to whether the diplomatic situation is likely to develop in such manner as to lead to war, the Morning Post says: "No definite reply can be made to that question, but the inference is drawn that, as Russia was prepared, on certain conditions, to give the undertaking required by Japan, she does not regard the acquisition of Korea as a vital part of her policy in the Far East. Japan's view is that while Korea is vital to her interests, Manchuria is not. Great Britain and the United States being equally concerned with her in regard to the evacuation of the Chinese province."

"ELDER STATESMAN" CONFER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 15.—A dispatch from Kobe to the Daily Mail, dated October 14, says: "Baron Von Rosen, Russian Minister, and Baron Kamura, the Japanese Foreign Minister, conferred again today. It is reported that at a council of the 'elder statesmen.' (veterans outside the Cabinet,) Gen. Kodama, late Interior Minister, who has been appointed chief assistant to the military staff, being present, a resolution was adopted yesterday to the effect that Japan cannot tolerate any Russian move endangering the Independence of Korea. The Russian military activity at Yonampho and beyond the Yalu River continues."

The St. Pttersburg correspondent of the same paper says that Russia claims, under her treaty with China, the right to retain troops in Manchuria, as the robber bands constitute a danger to the Russian railway. The correspondent learns that Gen. Kouropatkin, the Russian War Minister, will shortly retire.

JAPS MAKE DENIAL OF WAR RUMORS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Japanese government has issued a denial of the alarmist reports of the imminence of war with Russia in a dispatch from Tokio, dated yesterday and sent to the Japanese ministers abroad. It says:

"The negotiations concerning the Manchurian and Korean questions are following their normal course, and there is no reason to anticipate a rupture between Japan and Russia. The alarmist reports current abroad are devoid of foundation."

ALEXIEFF'S REVIEW.

FINAL ACT OF WAR GAME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 13.—[Wired from Chicago, October 14.] The review by the Viceroy, Admiral Alexieff, Sunday, of 76,000 soldiers, participating in the maneuvers, was the final act of last week's "war game." This force was massed on the plains outside of the city. It included cavalry, infantry and artillery. Every infantry regiment is partly mounted, in accordance with the recent regulations. Foreigners were given every opportunity to witness the display, and the statement of officers regarding the total force were verified by the count of the visiting experts. It was also officially announced that the entire force within easy operating distance of Port Arthur numbers 100,000 men. Two months ago it was 60,000. Sunday's spectacle demonstrated that the reports regarding reinforcements arriving in Manchuria have underestimated the real increase.

The army assembled Sunday was greater than the Peking diplomatists believed Russia's entire force in Manchuria to be. Officials here are taking pains to advertise Russia's strength and proclaim that the maneuvers are intended as an object-lesson.

Admiral Alexieff, speaking to an American official, said: "War would be a great calamity. Here we believe that the best way to prevent it would be to strengthen ourselves as much as possible. Therefore we have left no steps untaken for that purpose."

The details of the maneuvers were kept secret, but the correspondent of the Associated Press learned that the landing forces at Talien Wan Bay were repulsed. It is reported that the attacking army broke through Port Arthur's defenses at three points.

Two battleships and two cruisers are on their way here from Russia. When they arrive, Russia's naval force on this station will be stronger than Japan's, according to the views of the Russian officers.

Anticipation of war is at a fever heat in the army and navy, but this is based entirely on the activity of the preparations visible everywhere. The higher officials believe that Japan has been overawed by the demonstration on Russia's part. No steps toward the evacuation of Manchuria have been taken and the Official Journal, the editor of which is a colonel on the Viceroy's staff, says none will be taken.

The Governors of East Siberia are here, consulting with the Viceroy for the purpose of arranging a new division of territory beyond the Amur into three provinces. The reports that a Chinese army had been assembled in the rear of Mukden are not confirmed.

RATE TO PACIFIC WORRIES THE SOUTH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 14.—Behind closed doors at the Galt House, prominent traffic officials of transcontinental and southeastern roads today discussed the question of an across-the-continent and Gulf rate upon which they could not agree last week in Chicago. The situation has developed into a fight on the part of the roads throughout the section bounded by the Ohio River on the north and the Mississippi on the west, against the western transcontinental lines.

The roads which comprise the Southeastern Freight Association and those in the Transcontinental Freight Association until recently have been making through rates from Tennessee, Georgia and other Southern States to the Pacific States and vice versa. The southeastern lines, however, for the past five years have been dissatisfied with the divisions they got out of the through rate, but their demands for a larger division were refused. The southeastern lines then cancelled their east-bound rates from the Pacific Coast. That was during July, and since then shippers from or to California have had to bill their goods twice. The transcontinental lines retaliated by abolishing west-bound rates, and the manufacturers were left without through rates. This state of affairs led to the closing down of many factories in the South in the past few months. Formerly they were given a through rate of about $1.45 for their product to California. Now the lowest commission rate amounts to $1.65. They lost heavily on goods they had agreed to lay down in California at a certain price, and are afraid to sell ahead on contract. Cotton goods have been shipped around Cape Horn to California for the first time in decades.

The southeastern roads have two alternatives which they are debating—whether to ask the transcontinental lines to go in with them on a horizontal increase of about 10 or more per cent. on this business, or to raise their own separate rates to points where the goods are turned over to the western lines. Many southern manufacturers claim that a raise in rates will kill their business.

CREDIT MEN'S WORK.

Efforts to Direct Legislation by Congress and State Legislatures in Favor of Desired Reforms.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary William R. Prendergast of the National Association of Credit Men has sent out to members in the last few days a digest of the resolutions adopted at the last national convention, and which comprises subject for legislative work during the approaching sessions of Congress and the legislatures in the several States, in accordance with the action of the convention. The members will strive in their several States and at Washington to obtain the desired legislation.

One subject upon which Federal legislation is to be asked is the sending of false statements through the mail for the purpose of obtaining credit. The Legislative Committee of the national association received authority to present to Congress a bill making the sender of such a statement amenable to punishment for an offense against the postal laws. Another Federal matter is that of reform in the consular service, and the officers of the association are to memorialize Congress to enact the Lodge bill, which failed to pass at the last session, but it is expected, will be reintroduced next winter.

Through the efforts of the association in the past, laws for the regulation of the sale of stocks of goods in bulk have been enacted in sixteen States. The Legislative Committee will try to have similar laws passed in other States. The bulk laws and the arguments in their favor are to be compiled, printed in booklets and distributed to local associations, and vice-presidents in States having no branch association are requested to notify the national office in this city whenever legislation affecting commercial interest is proposed in the several States. The members and merchants will then get prompt information, and will be enabled to exercise their influence, when they deem it proper, outside of their own committee in behalf of legislation.

Upon the subject of uniform exemptions, the association is not yet ready to formulate its conclusion, but it is working in that direction. It is agreed by members that the great diversity in the exemption systems in the several States is an injury to business. Many of the laws, it is said, were framed in former years to meet rural conditions, and are entirely unsuited to the flourishing commonwealths of these days. A uniform law, it is held, would [illegible] the families of unfortunate debtors to repudiate their just obligations.

The Legislative Committee is to make inquiries as to diverging laws now in force and draft a law or laws adapted to conditions in different parts of the country. If the committee's report is approved at the annual conventions in 1904, the association will appeal to the legislatures of 1904-05 for appropriate action.

FRANCE.

ITALY'S KING AND QUEEN GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME.

MERCURIAL PARIS REJOICES IN ITS GUESTS.

They Ride Through the Boulevards in a Carriage Drawn by Four Coal Black Horses, and Enthusiastic Cheers Meet Them Everywhere.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] France gave a royal reception today to King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena of Italy. From the moment the train bearing the Italian sovereigns stopped at the Bois de Bologne, until the nation's guests were safely conducted to their apartments at D'Orsay Palace, Paris resounded with acclamations of welcome, the booming of guns and the playing of the national anthems of Italy and France. It was a welcome which both France and Italy can be proud of, making easier the negotiations of the arbitration treaty which is believed to be one of the objects of the King's visit.

When the royal train stopped at the station, President Loubet cordially greeted the royal visitors, as the band played the Italian national anthem, and while the guard of honor presented arms. The President then presented the members of his suite to their Majesties. M. Loubet and the King afterward entered a carriage drawn by four coal-black horses, with outriders, escorted by a detachment of cuirassiers.

The appearance of the King was the signal for enthusiastic cheers. Through a double line of soldiers the President and the King, followed by Mme. Loubet and the Queeu and their suites, drove down the avenue Du Bois de Bologne, around the Arc de Triomphe and along the Champs Elysée to the Place de la Concorde, across the bridge to the D'Orsay Palace.

Later the King and Queen drove to the Elysée Palace to formally present their respects to President and Mme. Loubet.

BANQUET AT ELYSEE PALACE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 14.—President Loubet this evening gave a banquet at the Elysee Palace in honor of the royal visitors. It was a brilliant function and was an occasion for toasts in which host and guest alike expressed their pleasure at the rapprochement between the two nations, and dwelt on the happy effect that the Franco-Italian friendship would have on the relations of the European powers generally.

The guests numbered 144, and included, in addition to the official personages, a number of celebrities in the world of literature and art.

The streets tonight were thronged with a happy crowd admiring the decorations and illuminations which were numerous and magnificent, especially in the Place and Avenue D'Opera, the Grand Boulevard and the Rue Royale. Carriage traffic had to be suspended throughout the evening.

Ship Combine Loses Profits Due It.

Ex-President Dresser of the Trust Company of the Republic so Testifies.

Heavy Allowances of Money and Stock to the Underwriters for Alleged Expenses.

Earnings of the Bethlehem Company Diverted from the Proper Channels.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The inquiry before a referee into the affairs of the stranded ship-building combination at the instance of the Bond-holders' Protective Association was resumed today, and was productive of fresh developments that will claim the attention of the financial world and those who follow its fortune.

It developed that yesterday D. Leroy Dresser, late president of the Trust Company of the Republic, who last week divulged much of the inner history of the formation of the combination, made an effort to communicate with Charles M. Schwab with a view to obtaining some concessions as to the Bethlehem Steel Works that would render easier the scheme or rehabilitating the partly-wrecked concern. The message of Dresser was delivered to Schwab by Harris, of the broker house of Harris, Gates & Co., which marketed part of the ship-building stock, but Schwab declined to see Dresser.

W. D. Guthrie, counsel for Schwab, brought the facts of the incident out at the hearing in a series of questions directed to Dresser. His aim was to show that Dresser had sought to plead with Schwab, and had threatened to make certain disclosures when recalled to the stand that would reflect upon Schwab or his interests. [illegible]

Dresser asserted that the ship-building company had been wrecked because Schwab had withheld the profits of the Bethlehem company. This declaration he tersely spiritedly repeated when at the end of the cross-examination by Guthrie he was given an opportunity to explain.

There was produced and offered as evidence a memorandum, said to have been prepared by Col. McCook and given by him to Dresser. It contained the figures upon which the Trust company, of the republic, undertook the underwriting of the ship-building company, and while its purpose was not explained, it is expected that it will cut an important figure at a later stage of the proceedings. It is said that beside the division of stock detailed last week by Dresser, there was an additional division of money. The memorandum shows an allowance for "expenses" of $200,000 cash, $200,000 in bonds, $500,000 in preferred stock and $500,000 in common stock.

STATEMENT BY HARRIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—John F. Harris of Harris, Gates & Co., made the following statement late this afternoon with reference to Dresser's visit to him yesterday:

"Mr. Dresser wished it distinctly understood that he did not want to plead with Mr. Schwab. He said he believed that an amicable discussion of the question might induce Mr. Schwab to 'release his grip,' and that the United States Ship-building Company could then be rehabilitated. I repeated Mr. Dresser's statement to Mr. Schwab, who said he must decline to meet Mr. Dresser."

Harris asked to be excused from stating Schwab's reason for declining to see Dresser.

"Mr. Dresser," added Harris, "made it perfectly plain to me that the idea of seeing Mr. Schwab and talking things over was all his own, and that he had taken the step without consulting anybody."

TESTIMONY OF DRESSER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The inquiry into the affairs of the United States Shipbuilding Company, which is being pressed by the Bondholders' Protective Association, was resumed today before Referee Oliphant. Since the last hearing, arrangements had been made to take the testimony of Charles M. Schwab, Max Pam, Lewis Nixon, George W. Perkins, John W. Young, James S. Livingston and others concerned.

D. Leroy Dresser, formerly president of the Trust Company of the Republic, whose testimony as to the circumstances under which the shipbuilding company came into being, and particularly the terms by which it acquired the Bethlehem Steel Works and agreed to market its stock, startled financial circles, took the stand, but before he was asked any questions, there was an argument over the propriety of counsel for Schwab cross-examining him. It was finally agreed that Mr. Guthrie should cross-examine Dresser, and after it had been explained that Charles M. Schwab would attend and testify when desired and several witnesses had been sworn in, the examination proceeded.

Guthrie first questioned the witness as to the reports he had received or seen on the value of the plants included in the shipbuilding combination. Dresser said he had seen the representatives of Alexander B. Green and Riddle & Common, the accountants, but denied that he had seen a report of the matter.

"From the time the prospectus was first prepared until the transaction was finally consummated, had there been anything suggested to you that affected the soundness of the company?"

"I suspected nothing until I came back from Europe," said Dresser. "I made a very careful inquiry at that time. Trouble occurred during January and February, and I believe it was due to the control by Mr. Schwab of the Bethlehem company."

The witness then explained that he had appealed to Pam for assistance from the Bethlehem company. Dresser said that all the information contained in the prospectus of the company came from either Riddle & Co., or Col. McCook. The witness said he had not talked with Schwab about taking a part in the underwriting.

Nixon did that, he said, and brought him Schwab's subscription of $500,000. Schwab later paid the full amount of the allotment against him. He said there were a series of assessments, and he believed Schwab paid in full.

The witness was then led over the circumstances attending the call which Nixon and he made at the office of Schwab in June, 1902. He testified that Schwab had showed his reports of the operations and earnings of the Bethlehem company.

"Mr. Schwab said it would earn $2,000,000 a year," the witness said, "and as a matter of fact, it did."

Asked if $2,000,000 was not the sum, he said: "Mr. Guthrie, I do not wish to overstate the figures. Two millions would have satisfied us that it was a good purchase."

The witness swore that he had not received any surplus cash or first-mortgage bonds as promoter.

"When I was in Paris," he said, "I received some stock in the company from Mr. Young. When I left here I owned 1450 shares of the Trust Company of the Republic, which was worth $500,000, but that had been pretty well wiped out. Mr. Young gave me either 4000 or 5000 shares of each kind of stock, and I sold it for $100,000."

The witness denied existence of the $400,000 worth of first-mortgage bonds. It then developed that Dresser had endeavored yesterday to get into communication with Schwab, and the testimony on the point brought from the witness stand the declaration that the shipbuilding company had been wrecked through the withholding of the Bethlehem company's profits. The efforts of the witness to reach Schwab, made through Charles Harris of the brokerage firm of Harris, Gates & Co., was brought out by Guthrie for the purpose of showing that Dresser had sought to plead with Schwab, and had held over him the threat of exposure of other facts in connection with the shipbuilding company's failure.

Guthrie introduced the sensational incident and testimony by dropping his questions as to the stock Dresser had received, and saying: "Do you remember what you did yesterday?"

"My memory is good enough for that," answered the witness.

"Did you pay two visits yesterday to the office of Charles Harris?"

"I did," said the witness.

"Did you not seek a private interview with Mr. Schwab?" asked Guthrie.

"I certainly did not," said the witness, and then, in response to a series of questions put to him, the witness denied that he had sent word to Schwab that it would be well for him to see him, or that he had threatened to make disclosures that would injure Schwab.

When Guthrie finished his questions, Dresser said: "Now will you ask me what I did say?"

Untermeyer, attorney for the bondholders, told the witness to go ahead and tell what happened, and the witness went on: "Six weeks ago I saw Mr. Gates, and told him that if Mr. Schwab would take his grip off Bethlehem, the shipbuilding company would be all right. I went to the office of Harris, Gates & Co., in the interests of the shipbuilding company. Mr. Schwab had taken this means of putting it before the public to show that I was there to plead with him. I said that if he would give us and decent plan of reorganization, and not the confiscation plan that had been proposed, the company would be all right.

"I went over this ship-building matter with Charley Harris six weeks ago. I told him then that the wrecking of the shipbuilding company was due to Mr. Schwab withholding the profits of Bethlehem, instead of letting them flow into the shipbuilding company, where they belonged. I asked Mr. Harris to telephone Mr. Schwab, and he did so. If out of the mess and mire the United States Shipbuilding Company can be reëstablished, that is what I want to see done. I have no financial interest, but I feel that it will help me."

"Did you say anything to Mr. Schwab about his liability in this matter?" asked Untermeyer.

"No, I did not," said the witness. "That is a legal question, and I know nothing about it."

Dresser said that when he undertook the shipbuilding project for the Trust Company of the Republic, he believed that $600,000 had been underwritten.

In the course of his testimony Dresser mentioned the names of Herbert L. Satterlee, C. M. Wetmore, George R. Sheldon and several other members of the organization. Satterlee is a son-in-law of J. P. Morgan. His use of these names caused Guthrie to protest that all such testimony was irrelevant. At this point a recess was announced.

At the afternoon session Dresser announced that he protested against the terms of the taking-over of the shipbuilding interests of the Trust Company of the Republic by the Sheldon syndicate, because he believed the terms to be unfair.

ONE OF THE "DIRECTORS."

Dresser was succeeded on the stand by George P. Dailey, assistant treasurer of the Corporation Trust Company of New Jersey and one of the resident directors in New Jersey of the Shipbuilding combination. He testified that his company made a practice of furnishing resident directors for corporations organized in New Jersey, and that he and two of his fellow-clerks, Messrs. Newman and Seward, had been made directors of the Shipbuilding Company. He said a single share of stock had been bought for him in order that he might qualify, but he did not know who had paid for it, or how it had been paid for.

After much fencing, he said he did not have a personal bank account at the time he acquired the qualifying share. He remembered attending at least two meetings, but kept referring Untermeyer to the minutes for information as to what had been done at the meetings. While he admitted that he and his fellow-directors in New Jersey knew nothing of the shipbuilding business except such information as reached them in the documents laid before him, he would not admit that he was merely a dummy director. He finally said, however, that he and the others acted on the direction of the attorneys for the company. He knew of the Union Iron Works through the press, but did not know where the Bath Iron Works is.

Untermeyer reminded him that he and his fellow-directors had voted to issue nearly $70,000,000 worth of securities, and the witness said that he knew nothing of the plan to buy the Bethlehem works until he came to the meeting. He said that the directors had exercised no discretion or judgment in the matter, but had followed the direction of counsel.

TRAP SET BY BRISTOW.

Surprise Sprung on Defense in Miller-Johns Case.

Hidden Stenographer Took Notes of Important Interview.

How Johns Bled Ryan—Scathing Cross-Examination of Tax Commissioner.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—Standing room was in demand in the United States District Court room on the second day of the trial of Miller and Johns for conspiracy to extort a bribe in connection with the recently-exposed postal frauds. Nine witnesses were examined today, and the government has four more to call, so that the defense will not begin until the afternoon of the third day, and the case may not go to the jury until the last day of the week.

The monotony of the trial was very much broken when J. T. Watson testified that he was the private secretary to Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow, and told of the letters passing between John J. Ryan and the department. Finally Assistant District Attorney Darby asked him to describe what took place in the office of Fourth Assistant Postmaster Bristow on May 14, when Gen. Robb and Chief Inspector Cochrane had an interview with Miller. He was asked to describe everything in detail in the room and told about Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Bristow concealing him behind his desk in one corner while Gen. Robb and Chief Inspector Cochrane were in the room. Then Mr. Bristow retired, and Miller was soon sent into the room where Robb and Cochrane awaited him. Meantime Watson was seated on a bundle of old newspapers in the corner and taking full stenographic notes on his knee. Then Watson proceeded to read to the court from those original notes, and occupied an hour and a half in doing so. The first question propounded to Miller was by Gen. Robb, when he said:

"Mr. Cochrane and I have an unpleasant duty, and it must be performed now. Before anything is done you had better talk the matter over. You are a lawyer, and it is unnecessary to tell you that subterfuge will be useless, and that we will have none of it. We will leave that aside. The examiners have been at work in the West on the Ryan matter. eW have their reports, and their statements have been corroborated. It looks mighty bad for you, and we want you to explain."

Miller said he would explain whatever he could, and then he was interrogated in regard to his old friend, Joseph M. Johns and his connection with him from the beginning of the case to the end. He was not only questioned closely by both Robb and Cochrane, but he was also confronted with the reports of the postoffice inspectors. Watson read his notes on everything that took place, reproducing all except the reports of the inspectors and letters, and telegrams that were presented to Miller at that time. In this interview Miller claimed that he had done nothing with Johns until after the Ryan case was decided, and admitted that he did not regard Johns as an attorney of record in the office for Ryan. When Robb and Cochrane showed him the reports, also copies of letters and telegrams indicating that he had sent the ruling of the department to Johns on December 10, and wired him that the same had been sent. Miller admitted that he had written a letter to Johns; that it was in his own handwriting, and not dictated as other letters in the official correspondence of the department. In that secret interview the defendant admitted that he had not taken copies of his letters and telegrams to Johns or filed those that he had received from him, and that he considered them as personal and not official.

Then Watson read from his stenographic notes a question by Gen. Robb whether Ryan had turned over $4500 to Johns on the same day that the latter got the ruling from Miller. Miller denied any knowledge of that transaction, and insisted that he had never received, directly or indirectly, a cent for any copies of any ruling or any information regarding the same.

He declared to Robb and Cochrane that he did not believe that Johns had ever made any such representations as were attributed to him in the reports of the postoffice inspectors, after they had received the statements of Ryan and others.

The last witness of the day was Charles H. Robb, the successor of Gen. Tyner as Assistant Attorney-General for the postoffice. He testified to a second interview at which the same parties were present, except that his secretary, Mr. Tullis, took the place of Watson as stenographer in an unconcealed position. The second interview was in Gen. Robb's office, in which all of the same ground was gone over again, and in which it was claimed that the answers of Miller were different. The stenographic report of Mr. Tullis was then offered, and as transcribed it took Assistant District Attorney Darby another hour and a half to read it.

The Court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

HOW JOHNS BLED RYAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 14.—When the Miller and Johns trial was resumed today the direct examination of J. Q. Ryan was still in progress. At the adjournment of court last night, Judge Thompson took under advisement the objection of counsel to Ryan testifying to what Johns had said to him about what Miller may have said to Johns concerning future difficulties.

When court convened, Judge Thompson decided that the testimony of Ryan be admitted. Counsel for the defense excepted to the ruling, and the examination of Ryan by the government counsel was resumed.

Ryan proceeded to repeat in detail a conversation between Johns and himself in a room at Terre Haute, during which the witness claimed to have made a contract with Johns for $4500 for a favorable ruling from Miller. Counsel for the defendants interposed frequent objections, which were overruled by Judge Thompson. Ryan also testified that all his future transactions were with Johns as the middle man up to last December, when Johns came to Cincinnati and they met in a room at the Gibson House, where Ryan gave Johns $1000 in cash and $3000 in two checks.

Ryan continued his story about subsequent transactions, in which he says Johns wanted more funds right along until the witness finally made a statement of the whole matter to the postoffice inspectors, and made no further efforts to get bets on the races through the mails.

The cross-examination of Ryan by Charles W. Baker was terrific, the most prominent question being "Of how many murders are you guilty?" when Ryan replied that he had been acquitted of the only murder for which he was tried; then followed questions as to shooting scrapes and arrests, mostly connected with a saloon formerly conducted by Ryan in St. Louis. He was also examined at length about his trial for alleged passing of bad checks, and questioned about different arrests, one of them being for securing the corpse of a Chinaman.

Baker and Ryan admit that he gave Johns in his own handwriting a complete statement of his bookmaking, so the latter, as his attorney, could present the case to the Postoffice Department. This document was on letter heads of the Filbeck Hotel, at Terre Haute, and was admitted in evidence, as were also the contracts for $2500 and for $2000, on the same letter heads, and in the same handwriting of Ryan. It was brought out that there was to be no division of the $2000 for the revision of Ryan's advertising literature. Ryan admitted that he took in over a million dollars through the mails, and had two hundred thousand on hand when the postoffice inspectors took charge of his concern.

Hiram Rulinson next cross-examined Ryan as to why he had not been indicted as well as Miller and Johns. The witness denied that any bargain had been made, or immunity promised him. In redirect examination, Ryan testified that Johns dictated the statements and contracts that were in his handwriting on the Filbeck Hotel letter heads.

Green Under Arrest.

BINGHAMTON (N. Y.) Oct. 14.—Senator George E. Green was arrested today and arraigned before a United States Commissioner on an indictment found October 8, in Washington, charging him with conspiring with George W. Beavers and Willard D. Doremus to sell to the government through Beavers a stamp-cancelling machine known as the Doremus machine, in which Green was largely interested. Green demanded an examination, and the case was set down for November 9, when the previous indictments will come up. Bail was fixed at $5000, which was furnished.

"RESTORING HOST" MOVES ON NEW YORK.

THREE THOUSAND CRUSADERS ON EIGHT SPECIAL TRAINS.

At Signal of Departure Every Inhabitant of Zion City Kneels and Prays for Safe Journey—Preparing Madison Square Garden for Invaders.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The "restoring host" from Zion City began its movement upon New York City today. At intervals of one-half hour, trainloads of the followers of John Alexander Dowie left the North Shore city, eight trains in all bearing over 2000 "crusaders."

At the blowing of the fire whistle every inhabitant of the city was ready to kneel and pray for a safe journey, and over seven thousand women, men and children gathered at the railroad station to listen to the final instructions of their leader. The cars are decorated only with a Zion banner at the rear of each train. The trains proceeded over various lines, passing around Chicago.

Among the crusaders are representatives of nearly all Caucasian races, while there is a sprinkling of Asiatics among the guards. The Orient is represented by several Japanese and Syrians. Old men with long, flowing beards, old women, middled-aged and youthful, even some infants in arms, crowded the cars. Two Pullman coaches were attached to the rear of each special for the accommodation of the more well to do of Zion's host. Dowie, with his wife, and heads of departments, are traveling in comfort in special cars to leave last.

PREPARING BIG GARDEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Madison Square Garden is being prepared for the use of John Alexander Dowie and his adherents, who are expected to arrive Friday to undertake a reformation. Workmen today began to build at the east end of the garden a platform with seating capacity sufficient for "Zion's" 500 officers and choir of 600. In front of the platform will be a baptismal pool ten by fifteen feet in diameter.

DOWIE SECLUDES HIMSELF.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FORT WAYNE (Ind.) Oct. 14.—The train bearing Alexander Dowie passed through Fort Wayne on the Nickel Plate road tonight. Dowie secluded himself in his private car and a guard stood at either door to bar out reporters and others. Deacon Stern said Dowie would see no one until New York was reached. There was a great crowd at the station in hope of seeing the leader of the "Restoration Host," but they were disappointed.

PHILADELPHIA CONTINGENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Local Dowieites, led by their elder, Gideon Hammond, are preparing for participation in the Zionist invasion of New York tomorrow. Sixty strong, they will leave on the Pennsylvania Railroad in a special car in the morning. They will meet Dowie, their leader, at Madison Square Garden, and after a preliminary religious session, will assist in the door-to-door canvass of Gotham.

SOLEMN DUTY OF CITIZENS.

Grover Cleveland Addresses Chicago Merchants.

Debasement of Politics a Grave Danger to the Nation.

Patriots Must Enlist for Life in Battle Against Corrupt Foes of Republic.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Former President Grover Cleveland was the principal speaker tonight at the annual banquet of the Commercial Club in the Auditorium Hotel.

The subject he discussed was "American Good Citizenship," and he dwelt at length on the necessity of every citizen doing his part to make political action what it should be. This was the first time in eight years that Mr. Cleveland had visited Chicago, and he received an enthusiastic greeting. His speech in part follows:

"As I understand my situation, I am under bonds to keep the peace if possible, by eschewing politics in the few words I shall speak tonight; and I hope I may fulfill the condition of my bond, and avoid disturbing those most suspicious of my conduct, if I deal with that old, old topic, American Good Citizenship.

"There is abroad in our land a self-satisfied and perfunctory notion that we do all that is required of us when we make profession of our faith in the creed of good citizenship and abstain from the commission of palpably unpatriotic sins. This belief is inevitably the parent of self-righteous contentment, which leads us on quite well under the direction of those who make political activity their occupation. For ourselves, we are good, quiet, respectable and inoffensive citizens; and we are not politicians. We ought not to be badgered and annoyed by the preachings and exhortations of a restless, troublesome set of men, who continually urge upon us the duty of active and affirmative participation in public affairs. Why should we be charged with neglect of political obligations? We go to the polls on election day, when not too busy with other things, and vote the ticket our party managers have prepared for us. Sometimes when conditions grow so bad politically that a revival or stirring-up becomes necessary, a goodly number of us actually devote considerable time and effort to better the situation. Of course, we cannot do this always, because we must not neglect money-getting, and the promotion of great enterprises, which, as everybody knows, are the evidences of a nation's prosperity and influence. A great many people and a great deal of time are necessary to patriotically care for these things; and somehow, it is more pleasant to promote the country's good and at the same time our own financial prospects, in this way, than by habitually meddling in political operations.

"It seems to me that within our citizenship there are many whose disposition and characteristics very much resemble those quite often found in the membership of our churches. In this membership there is a considerable portion composed of those, who, having made profession of their faith and poined the church, appear to think their duty done when they live honestly, attend worship regularly and contribute liberally to church support.

"A description of these, found in Holy Writ, may fitly apply to many in the State, as well as in the church: 'For if any be a hearer of the Word and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass; for he beholdeth himself and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.'

"Many good and honest men are insiduously led to a condition of mind which will not permit them to harbor the uncomfortable thought that any omission on their part can check American progress, or endanger our country's continued development. Have we not lived as a nation more than a century; and have we not exhibited growth and achievement in every direction, that discredit all parallels in history? After us, the deluge. Why then need we bestir ourselves, and why disturb ourselves with public affairs?

"Those of our citizens who are deluded by these notions and who allow themselves to be brought to such a frame of mind, may well be reminded of the good old lady who was wont to impressively declare that she had always noticed if she lived until the first of March, she lived all the rest of the year. It is quite likely that she built a theory upon this experience which induced her with the passing of each of these fateful days, to defy coughs, colds and consumption, and the attacks of germs and microbes in a million forms. However this may be so, we know that with no design or intention on her part, there came a first day of March which passed without her earthly notice.

"The withdrawal of wholesome sentiment and patriotic activity from political action on the part of those who are indifferent to their duty, or foolhardy in their optimism opens the way for a ruthless and unrelenting enemy of our free institutions.

"Our government was made by patriotic, unselfish, sober-minded men, for the control or protection of a patriotic, unselfish and sober-minded people. It is suited to such a people; but for those who are selfish, corrupt and unpatriotic, it is the worst government on earth. It is so constructed that it needs, for its successful operation, the constant care and guiding hand of the people's abiding faith and love; and not only is this unremitting guidance necessary to keep our national mechanism true to its work, but the faith and love which prompt it are the best safeguards against selfish citizenship.

"Who will say that this is now our happy condition? Is not our public life saturated with the indecent demands of selfishness? More than this, can any of us doubt the existence of still more odious and detestable evils which, with steady cankering growth, are more directly than all others, threatening our safety and national life? I speak of the corruption of our suffrage open and notorious, of the buying and selling of political places for money, the purchase of political favors and privileges, and the traffic in official duty for personal gain. These things are confessedly common. Every intelligent man knows that they have grown from small beginnings until they have reached frightful proportions of malevolence; and yet respectable citizens by the thousands and hundreds of thousands have looked on with perfect calmness, and with hypocritical cant have declared that they are not politicians, or with silly pretensions of faith in our strength and luck, have languidly claimed that the country was prosperous, equal to any emergency, and proof against all dangers.

"Resulting from these conditions in a manner not difficult to trace, wholesome national sentiment is threatened with utter perversion. All sorts of misconceptions pervade the public thought, and jealousies rapidly taking on the complexion of class hatred, are found in every corner of the land.

"We now see its worst manifestation in the apparently incorrigible dislocation of the proper relations between labor and capital. This, of itself, is sufficiently distressing; but thoughtful men are not without dread of sadder developments yet to come. There has also grown up among our people a disregard for the restraints of law, and a disposition to evade its limitations—while querulous strictures concerning the action of our courts tend to undermine popular faith in the course of justice; and last, but by no means least, complaints of imaginary or exaggerated shortcomings in our financial policies, furnish an excuse for the flippant exploitation of all sorts of monetary nostrums.

"I hasten to give assurance that I have not spoken in a spirit of gloomy pessimism. I shall be the last of all our people to believe that the saving grace of patriotism amove my countrymen is dead or will always sleep. I know that its timely revival and activity mean the realization of the loftiest hopes of a free nation. I have faith that the awakening is forthcoming; and on this faith I build a cheerful hope for the healing of all the wounds inflicted in slumber and neglect.

"If good men are to interfere to make political action what it should be, they must not suppose they will come upon an open field unoccupied by an opposing force. On the ground they have neglected they will find a host of those who engage in politics for personal ends and selfish purposes; and this ground cannot be taken without a hand-to-hand conflict. The attack must be made under the banner of disinterested good citizenship, by soldiers drilled in lessons of patriotism. They must be enlisted for life and constantly on duty. As the Crusaders fought centuries ago for the recovery of the Holy Land from infidel possession, so with the same stubborn zeal must today's crusaders in the cause of good government, fight to recover their Holy Land from the infidels who would degrade and defile it.

"Their creed should bind together in generous coöperation all who are willing to fight to make our government what the fathers intended it to be—a depository of benefits which, in equal current and volume, should flow out to all the people. This creed should teach the wickedness of attempting to make free opportunity the occasion for seizing especial advantages, and should warn against the danger of ruthless rapacity. It should deprecate ostentation and extravagance in the life of our people, and demand in the management of public affairs, simplicity and economy. It should teach toleration in all things, save dishonesty and infidelity to public trusts. It should uphold the interests of labor and advocate its fair treatment, but should sternly forbid its interference with those contented with their toil, and its attempt to force compliance with its demands by violent disturbances of peace and good order. It should recognize in the wide distribution of capital and industrial enterprise the best assurance of intelligent, wholesomely interested, political conduct, and should condemn unnecessary, unnatural and speculative combinations in trade or enterprise, as teaching false business methods, and putting our consumers at their mercy. It should insist that our finances and currency concern not alone the large traders, merchants and bankers of our land, but that they are intimately and every day related to the well being of our people in all conditions of life, and that, therefore, if any adjustments are necessary, they should be made in such manner as shall certainly maintain the soundness of our peoples' earnings and the security of their savings. It should enjoin respect for the law as the quality that cements the fabric of organized society and makes possible a government by the people. And in every sentence and every line of this creed of good citizenship, the lesson should be taught that our country is a beautiful and productive field to be cultivated by loyal Americans, who, with their weapons near at hand, whether, they sow and reap or whether they rest, will aways be prepared to resist those who attempt to despoil by day or pilfer in the night.

Four of Assailants of the Absconding Constabulary Officers Lost Their Lives in the Fight—Typographical Union Making Trouble in Manila.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MANILA, Oct. 14.—[By Pacific Cable.] The crew of the boat in which Johnston and Herman, the runaway constabulary officers, accompanied by one constable started from Guimbaui for Cagayanes Island, attacked the outlaws on nearing the latter place, killing Johnston and wounding Herman and the constable. Herman killed four of the crew, and the other two jumped overboard. He then put back to Negros, where he sent guns and ammunition to the police, and abandoned the boat off Nabalva, Bayauan, where he was in hiding when the last was heard of him.

On Saturday night last the police captured the boat, recovering a number of constabulary guns, ammunition and some money. They also buried Johnston, whose body was found in the boat. It is presumed that the crew intended to kill the outlaws and secure their money and arms.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The arbitration treaty between Great Britain and France was signed today by Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, and the French Ambassador M. Cambon. The text of the treaty is as follows:

"The government of the French Republic and the government of His Britannic Majesty, signatories of the convention, concluded at The Hague, July 29, 1899, for the peaceful settlement of internal disputes.

"Considering that by Article 19 of that treaty, the high contracting powers reserve to themselves the right of concluding agreements with the view to have recourse to arbitration, in all cases in which they shall consider it possible to submit thereto, have authorized the undersigned to agree to the following provisions:

"Article 1—Differences of a judicial order, such as relate to the interpretation of treaties existing between the two contracting powers, which may arise between them, and which may not be possible to settle by means of diplomacy, shall be submitted to the Permanent Court of Arbitration and Board at The Hague, by the convention of July 29, 1899, on condition, however, that they do not involve either vital interest, or the independence or honor of the two contracting States, and that they do not affect the interests of a third power.

"Article 2—In each particular case the high contracting parties, before addressing themselves to the Permanent Court of Arbitration, shall sign a special arbitration bond, setting forth clearly the subject under dispute, the extent of the powers of the arbitrators and the details to be observed as regards the constitution of the arbitration tribunal and the procedure.

"Article 3—The present arrangement is concluded for a term of five years from the date of signing."

LONDON, Oct. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Alaska boundary tribunal adjourned this afternoon until Friday.

ANXIOUS CANUCKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—In the House of Commons today it was pointed out that while Lord Alverstone had contradicted the statements attributed to him in regard to the Alaska boundary case, Mr. Aylesworth had not done so. It was therefore surgested that the Premier should communicate with Mr. Aylesworth.

Premier Laurier replied that no one intmated that Lord Alverstone had said what was attributed to him, and no one thought differently of him because of his denial. It was the circulation of these stories by the Canadian press service that was creating the trouble, he said.

This led Mr. Gourlie, M.P., to remark that while the service received through the United States was not just what was desired from a Canadain point of view, still it was reliable. That was more than could be said of the new Canadian service, which he said was beneath contempt.

Widow Lloyd on Stand—Possible Contest Over the Will of Capt. Norton.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—D. N. Bartholdi of Jerome, Ariz., was arrested today by Secret Service Agent Hazen for calling on local lithographers and engravers in an endeavor to get them to make what he claimed was a stock certificate for a mining company. In the center of the certificate was a facsimile of a fifty kroner note which was to be printed on the front and on the back of the certificate.

Hazen put detectives on his track, and Bartholdi was followed to the International Hotel, and later to the Southern Pacific ticket office. Hazen believed that Bartholdi was about to leave the city.

This morning Bartholdi visited the Union Lithograph Company and left an order for 4000 certificates. The company was instructed to accept the order by the government officers. Secret Service Agent Hazen was present when Bartholdi called there, and followed him when he left. Bartholdi walked down Market street to the ferry, where he was arrested.

Bartholdi said he placed the order for other people, but had forgotten their names.

On September 23, 1500, Bartholdi wrote a letter from Prescott, Ariz., to the Los Angeles Lithographing Company, in which he inclosed a 10 guilden note, and offered the company $500 to print 4000 of them. Secret Service Agent Hazen was notified, and he carried on the correspondence with Bartholdi in the name of the company, but there were no developments.

When arrested today Bartholdi had a large pocket knife and a 38-caliber revolver. He claims to have interests in mines.

The way in which he intended to use the certificates, according to the belief of the Secret Service men, was to have them printed so that the counterfeit note in the center could be cut out.

WANT TO BREAK WILL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—John W. Barr, Jr., and William F. Norton of Louisville, Ky., have arrived here in the interest of the estate of the late Capt. W. F. Norton, an eccentric millionaire, who died at Coronado, where he occupied an $80,000 cottage. In his will he provided that his body should be cremated in Cincinnati, and he set aside a certain amount of money to be used for chartering a train to carry the remains and his friends to the scene of the cremation. His will also provided that the cremation should be attended with merry-making instead of mourning.

Shortly after his death a number of the collateral heirs gave notice of their intention to contest the will on the ground that Capt. Norton was not of sound mind, when he executed it. Messrs. Barr and Norton are, with a Louisville trust company, the executors of the estate, and are preparing to combat the contentions of the dissatisfied heirs, or if possible, to compromise.

LLOYD WILL CASE.

WIDOW ON THE STAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 14.—The Lloyd contested will case was resumed in the Superior Court today with the widow of the late C. R. Lloyd on the witness stand. Several letters were produced which had been written by Lloyd to his wife after he was shot by Bonall at San Bernardino. These letters showed a large amount of affection for his wife. In them, Lloyd stated that he always had had confidence in his wife, and for her not to worry, that he would come out all right.

Mrs. Lloyd was on the stand during the entire day and identified the numerous epistles as being in the handwriting of her husband after which they were read to the court and jury. They were introduced in behalf of the will.

Marshal H. S. Horton of Berkeley, testified that he once arrested Frederick Lloyd, the author of the present suit on the strength of a telegram from the elder Lloyd, who asked to have his son arrested as he was crazy. He stated that while young Lloyd was under arrest he had been given a telegram stating that his father had been shot and upon reading it he exclaimed, "My God he promised not to do anything for twenty-four hours."

DAVIS WILL FIGHT.

COMES UP IN NEW FORM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—The petition to set aside the will of Jacob Davis, who died some time ago leaving about $2,000,000, leaving his entire estate two relatives of his wife, Lizzie Muir and Isabella M. Muir, has come up again in a new form. A petition to set aside the will was filed today, alleging the unconstitutionality of the statute relative to notice to be given previous to the probate of a will.

The parties to the suit, who have appeared in other suits, are Laura Stead, Catherine S. Stead, Joseph Elizabeth V., Samuel S., and Jacob Elizabeth Bonifas and Annie Muir. All live in Australia. They claim that the notice provided by the statute is not sufficient. All are relatives of Davis.

The will was found in an urn containing the ashes of his wife. In former suits to set the will aside, allegations of forgery were made, and the will was also contested on other points. The matter has been before the Supreme Court several times, and the will has been sustained each time.

WAY TO GET AT IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKTON, Oct. 14.—Postmaster Thomas A. Nelson created somewhat of a sensation on the streets this morning, by appearing with a large pouch of mail over his shoulder and distributing letters and other mail matter in the same manner as a regular carrier.

It seems that there is some dispute among the carriers as to the arduousness of their respective routes, and to get at the matter in a practical manner, Mr. Nelson chose to go over each route himself and deliver the mail. He will take a different route each day, and the knowledge gained will enable him to so portion the routes as to equalize matters. The postmaster came in for a good deal of joshing.

GIFT TO THE GRAND LODGE FROM MORRIS SIMINOFF.

Edifice Cost Twenty-five Thousand Dollars and is a Splendid Addition to the Large Masonic Home for Widows and Orphans.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 14.—This afternoon in the presence of several thousand people, among whom were members of the Grand Lodge of Masons from all parts of the State, and residents of the surrounding towns, the Siminoff Temple, which has been donated to the Grand Lodge by Morris Siminoff, of San Francisco, was dedicated at Decoto, Alameda county, with impressive services under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of California. The Masons arrived at Decoto on several trains which reached the little country town between 12:30 and 2 o'clock. A procession was formed at the station, and the Masons then marched to the Masonic Home, where the exercises were held. Charles M. Patton, chairman of the Board of Trustees, cordially welcomed the Grand Master, and asked him to dedicate the new edifice. A short address was then made by Grand Masted Orrin Henderson of Stockton. The building was then dedicated according to Masonic rites. After the dedication, E. hart of Berkeley, Grand Orator, delivered an address on the beauty, stability and usefulness of Masonry, and the purposes to which Siminoff Temple are to be devoted. The new temple cost $25,000, and is a splendid addition to the large Masonic Home for widows and orphans at Decoto.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Christ Fields, for twelve years boatswain on the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's Puget Sound packet City of Puebla, was caught smuggling opium today, and is now in prison. Inspector J. A. Ross brushed against Fields on the gang plank, just after the steamer had docked, and felt something hard under the boatswain's jacket.

A search showed that Fields wore a harness filled with numerous pockets, in which were twenty tins of opium. Twenty tins more were found in his room. He says he was paid $10 by a Chinese in Seattle to land the drug here.

AMALGAMATION RUMOR.

ALASKAN TRADING COMPANIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 14.—A special dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer from Dawson says that a report is current to the effect that the two giant trading companies competing in the Klondike field are to be amalgamated. One is the North American Transportation and Trading Company and the other is the Northern Commercial Company. General Manager Isom of the former company denies the rumor.

The rumor originated in the fact that freight for the two big companies has been coming up the river in peculiar order. The Northern Commercial Company has carried freight for the other company and vice versa. The chief stockholders of the North American Trading and Transportation Company are the Cudahys of Chicago. The Gerstles and Slosses of San Francisco are the heaviest Northern Commercial Company stockholders.

The report will be considered at the next meeting of the commission created by the last Legislature and comprising the Governor, Secretary of State Curry and Treasurer Reeves.

ARMENIAN PROPERTY.

CHURCH OFFICIALS INTERESTED

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Bishop Sarajidian of Worcester, Mass., head of the Armenian church in America, arrived here today for the purpose of consulting with the authorities of the Russian embassy concerning a petition to the Czar adopted at a convention recently held by Armenians at Providence, R. I.

The petition asks the revocation of an order recently promulgated by the Russian authorities, directing the seizure of property owned by the Armenian church in the Russian province of Causcaus, where the Holy See of the Armenian church is located. This property is reported to be of great value, and as it is the result of contribution made by Armenians who dwell in all parts of the world, it is contended that the Armenians who dwell in the United States have rights in the matter as among citizens. They feel, however, that the best method of procedure is through the Russian embassy, and will use that channel if feasible.

UNCLE SAM'S BONDS.

CHIEFLY HELD BY AMERICANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The annual report of the Register of the Treasury shows that an aggregation of $15,065,750 of the registered bonds are held by foreigners. Of this amount, $3,211,250 are credited to individuals, and $11,154,500 to foreign insurance companies. The latter amount is all on deposit in this country, under the law which requires all foreign insurance companies to deposit with the insurance commissioner of the particular State in which it does business a certain amount of bonds, apportioned to the business done, to secure its policy holders.

"The amount of United States bonds thus held by foreign individuals," says the Register, "is so insignificant that it may be said that the national credit is entirely upheld by domestic money."

An annual report of the domestic holdings shows that the consols of 1930 is the popular one with national banks. Out of a total of $506,463,350, the banks have on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States as security for circulating notes and for deposits, the sum of $458,448,100, leaving to be accounted for $48,025,250. Of the latter amount, $26,723,850 are held by individuals, the remainder being in the possession of the banks, insurance and trust companies, lodges and societies. The bonds of the various loans of June 30, 1903, were held in this country as follows: Lodges, $1,750,410; societies, $2,439,340; individuals, $205,846,810; with the Treasurer of the United States in trust, $498,877,840; in banks, $63,098,830; insurance and trust companies, $14,294,570; total, $786,262,100.

GENERAL COURT-MARTIAL.

CASES FOR ONE YEAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Judge Advocate-General Davis has reported to the Secretary of War that there were 5275 trials by geenral courts-martial in the army during the fiscal year ended July 30, last, being thirty-six less than in the previous year. Of the twenty-seven officers tried twelve were convicted, and of the 5231 enlisted men tried 4282 were convicted. Five officers and three cadets were dismissed by sentence, and in three cases of officers sentences of dismissal were commuted to loss of files. The number of men sentenced to dishonorable discharge was 2709.

The cases embraced desertion, 1111; absence without leave, 947; larceny, 363, disobeying non-commissioned officers, 360; failure to attend drill, 347; drunkenness on duty, 297; sleeping on post, 187; disobeying superior officers, 248; quitting guard, 102; disobedience of orders, 207; drunk and disorderly, 260; manslaughter, 1; murder, 14; rape, 3.

Military commissions tried 72 persons, 62 of whom were convicted, and gave death sentences in 14 cases, four being subsequently commuted.

COTTON AND MACARONI WHEAT.

STATE DEPARTMENT INQUIRIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In view of the attention that is being given by foreign governments and by foreign cotton-buyers to the encouragement of cotton growing in the colonial dependencies of European governments, at the suggestion of the Agricultural Department, the Secretary of State has instituted consular inquiries to ascertain the extent of the development of competition with American cotton growers.

For this purpose, a circular letter has been sent out to consular officers in all countries and islands where it is probable that cotton can be grown, instructing them to furnish such information as it is practicable for them to obtain concerning the actual and potential production of cotton in the countries or the islands in which they are stationed, and to forward any published matter on the subject that can be obtained.

The State Department has also sent out a circular to consular officers in Europe, Northern Africa and the Argentine republic with a view of aiding American growers of macaroni wheat to find a market for their product. This action is taken at the request of the Department of Commerce and Labor, which calls attention to the large crop of this wheat harvested in this country this season, and to the lack of sufficient milling establishments to work it all up into macaroni and other food products, thus making it necessary to export large quantities for some time to come.

Consuls are instructed to report what opportunities exist in their districts for marketing wheat suitable for the manufacture of macaroni, and are urged to obtain this information as promptly as possible in order to give opportunity to find markets for the crop of the present year, which the Department of Agriculture estimates will amount to ten million bushels.

NO SIGN OF PEACE.

McLaughlin Faction of Brooklyn Democracy Gives no Indication of Making Terms With Tammany Hall.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—All other affairs of the political campaign were overshadowed in interest today by the almost positive assurance that the factional Democratic fight in Brooklyn would be continued and that peace between the McLaughlin faction and the Tammany Hall is as far distant as ever. Mr. McClellan declined an invitation to attend the Brooklyn ratification meeting, unless the full Democratic ticket was indorsed, and Senator McCarren called at Tammany headquarters to express his approval of McClellan's course. A bitter struggle for supremacy is predicted at the approaching meeting of the Brooklyn County Committee called at the instance of McCarren.

Tammany held an enthusiastic ratification meeting tonight, at which the Brooklyn delegates were not present.

Appeals for campaign funds were sent out today by the Citizens' Union and Republican organizations.

HOT BEVERAGES.

What to Use in Place of Tea and Coffee.

Many drink tea and coffee against their better judgment because they require a hot drink at meal time.

They know that by the use of tea and coffee they are only drugging themselves but they struggle along and continue to use one or the other. To these people Postum Cereal Coffee is a great help for many people find well boiled Postum superior in flavor to coffee to say nothing of its great health restoring qualities.

The effect upon those who leave off tea and coffee and take on Postum is very marked for the old time coffee ails, such as heart trouble, kidney disease, nervousness and other ills soon disappear as if by magic. The Postum makes new red blood and this is shown in the rosy cheeks and clear complexion that replace the blotched sallow skin of the coffee drinker. A young school miss of Alva, Okla., says of Postum: "I have used it now for over a year and my complexion and general health show the change. Before that time I drank tea and coffee and my complexion was sallow and muddy. I also had almost constant dull headaches. I realized that I must give up tea and coffee, but hung onto them because I felt the need of a hot drink at meal times.

"One day I heard Postum so well spoken of I decided to try it and I bless the day I did so. I dropped coffee and took up Postum and now my dull headaches have disappeared, my complexion is fresh and rosy, eyes bright and mind clear. I sleep well now and I owe it all to using Postum in place of coffee.

"The matron of the Young Ladies' Boarding House at the Alva Normal School has adopted Postum as a standard drink as she is positive the students study and get along better on Postum than on any other drink.

"A lady friend of mine had a son who was a nervous wreck due, so his doctor said, to coffee. The lady tried Postum and the young man relished it so he drank it in preference to coffee and in a few weeks he was like an entirely new person. I know of lots more cases, too." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Roof of the Great Field Museum, Chicago, Covering Seven Acres of Ground, Is Painted with Carrara Paint—This was Done After the Most Rigid Two Years' Test in Which it was Found Carrara Paint was More Than Twice as Good in Lasting Quality as Any Other Paint Produced.

The cost of painting the house and barn, outbuildings and fences is a heavy burden. Cheap paints soon fade, peel or scale off and white lead and oil costs so much and has to be replaced so often that it is a constant expense to keep the bright, clean appearance so desirable in the cosy cottage home or the elegant mansion. The following are a few of the large users of Carrara paint.

The Waldorf Astoria, New York City, one of the most magnificent hotels in the world has used tons and tons of the world-famous Carrara paint. Pennsylvania R. R. Co.; Pullman Palace Car Co.; Chicago Telephone Co.; Central Union Telephone Co.; Field Museum, Chicago, covering over seven acres of ground, is painted with Carrara paint; Kenwood Club, Chicago; Cincinnati Southern; C. & E. I. R. R. Co.; Denver & Rio Grande R. R.; Wellington Hotel, Chicago.

From railroad box car to elegantly furnished general offices of the great railways; from race track fences and stables to fancy club house; from plain brick walls and stone fences to tin roofs and interior finish of stately hotels; from country barn or hay shed or cheap outbuilding to farm residence, suburban home or luxurious city residence. Carrara is used because it lasts longer, never fades, never cracks, never blisters, never peels, covers more surface than the highest priced paints and costs less than the cheap mixed paints that injure instead of protect. There is but one Carrara. It is made by the Carrara Paint Agency, Cincinnati, Ohio, and anyone having a house to paint should send to our Pacific Coast distributors, Johnson-Locke Mercantile Co., 123 California St., San Francisco, or the O. C. Zahn Paint Co., 231 W. First St., Los Angeles, Cal., for 50 sample colors and illustrated booklet free of this great paint that has stood the most rigid tests and bear in mind that it is the only paint ever manufactured that gives perfect satisfaction in every case. MAY BREAK COMPACT WITH CANAL COMPANY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOGOTA, Oct. 14.—[By South American Cable.] The Senate committee charged with drawing up a bill authorizing the President of the republic to negotiate a new canal treaty with the United States today presented the project to the Senate. It provides that the latter must approve or disapprove the extension of the concession for six years granted to the new Panama Canal Company in 1900. If this is disapproved, Colombia will repay $1,000,000 to the company with interest, and will take possession of the canal works next year, in which case this republic will then be able to negotiate a new treaty with the United States. If the extension of the concession is approved by the Senate the New Panama Canal Company will have until the year 1910 to fulfill its obligations.

The Senate will take up the bill on Monday.

It is pointed out that authorizations given to the executive by the Senate to negotiate treaties are valueless as the executive, according to the Constitution, can negotiate treaties without authorization from the Senate, and present them to Congress for approval, and any law amending the Constitution to this or any other effect, must be sanctioned by two consecutive Congresses.

SPECIMEN COLOMBIAN FOLLY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Under the heading, "The Lion Not as Fierce as Painted," local newspapers have published an article referring to President Roosevelt's policy regarding canal matters, cables the Herald's Panama correspondent.

"Evidently Nicaragua is merely a scare crow," says one paper. "Colombia must continue to maintain herself with dignity. The foregoing is but a sample of many similar articles.

The approaching elections, which should take place within six week, will be a test of the peace of the republic. An outbreak is feared, however, before the end of the month, as the situation is rapidly approaching a critical stage.

According to late mail advices from Bogota, canal matters are now completely ignored in the capital, and Presidential aspirations and the various phases of the political struggle are the all-absorbing topics.

SULTAN PROMISES AMNESTY AND COIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Oct. 14.—[By Atlantic Cable.] After correspondence with the Macedonian refugees, through the Bulgarian government, the Sultan has promised a general amnesty and funds to aid in rebuilding their homesteads if the fugitives return to Macedonia. The refugees have consented, on condition of their repatriation being under foreign control.

The authorities in Roumelia are now estimating the amount necessary to carry out the arrangement. This news has made a favorable impression here. The government has decided to dismiss several classes of reserves as soon as the Porte begins to fulfill its promises.

"JIM" NEIL'S HOT TIME.

Daddy of Champion Frankie Creates Sensational Rough House and is Taken to Jail.

"Jim" Neil, the San Francisco politician and father of Frankie Neil, the champion bantam prize fighter, created a sensational rough house in the Del Monte restaurant at 1 o'clock this morning and was arrested for disturbing the peace.

"Disturbing" the peace is a very mild way to put the elder Neil's tumultuous conduct. After imbibing many warming bowls, Neil was in the pink of condition for a brawl.

Over the glasses two wicked eyes of a fairy urged him on to do deeds of violence.

The climax came when Neil wanted a room and wouldn't pay for it; that is, he gave the waiter $3 and then Neil kicked on the price. He wanted to occupy the room and have his money returned.

The proprietor was so desirous of having Neil settle the little "William" that he formed his employés into a human catapult and they fell against the gentleman's middle. Neil went down and the waiters tore off his coat and vest, holding them for payment of the score.

Then Neil got into the hall and swore, howled and fought. By this time the whole three stories of the restaurant were aroused, and sought out the noise with much curiosity.

A policeman gathered Neil in, though, and supervised the transfer of the $3 in exchange for the coat and vest.

Neil boasted at the Police station that he was the father of Frankie Neil. No one was overcome at this.

However, he got very important with a small memorandum containing many names. He ran through this from cover to cover about a dozen times.

"It's funny," he muttered, "that I can't find his name."

It developed that he was looking for the potent name of Tom Savage, hoping to find his telephone number.

Neil wanted to telephone for bail money, the sum being $25. He couldn't find Tom's number and the officers got tired of watching his maneuvers with the memorandum, so they started to search him.

"Huh," exclaimed Neil, "I've been a member of the Legislature; I ain't no ham, either."

Neil finally got bail by calling up his friends at the Hotel Rosslyn.

WANTS SMOOT PUT OUT.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—John Willis Baer, former general secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society, addressing the Indiana Presbytrian synod tonight, said: "I appeal to the women all over this broad land to rise in earnest protest and opposition to the admission of Reed Smoot to the United States Senate as they did to the Mormon Roberts. I object to Smoot because, among other things, should he take the oath in the Senate he could not be true to that body or the nation, if he remained a true follower of his church."

William Dobbin, 58 years of age, was asphyxiated and his wife is barely alive from the effects of escaping gas in the Quincy Hotel.

HEINOUS CRIME.

Webster Flanagan Accuses Whites of Rusk County of Whipping to Death Peaceable and Inoffensive Negroes.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Oct. 14.—Webster Flanagan, United States Collector of Internal Revenue for this district, today appealed to Gov. Lanham, asking that the State render protection to the negroes of Rusk county, and aid in bringing justice the white men guilty of torturing to death two inoffensive blacks.

Flanagan, who returned today from Rusk county, says all publication of the news of the horrible treatment of the negroes has been suppressed. He said:

"No one can portray the cruelties to which the negroes of Rusk county have been subjected. If the State does not take prompt action, I shall appeal to the Federal authorities. A few nights before my arrival two of the most peaceable and inoffensive negroes were stripped and tied to trees and then whipped.

"One of the negroes died Saturday night and the other cannot recover. They want to make it a white man's country."

HONEST LABOR LEADER MURDEROUSLY ASSAULTED.

RESULT OF EFFORTS TO PURIFY CHICAGO FEDERATION.

Attacked by Thugs and Dangerously Wounded Because He Preferred Charges Against Other Union Leaders for Levying Blackmail on Employers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Michael Donnelly, international president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, lies at home recovering from a vicious assault that is alleged to have been instigated by the labor leaders who are opposing his attempts to purify the Chicago Federation of Labor, says the Tribune.

Donnelly was attacked on the night of September 23, while returning from a meeting of the Packing Trades Council, the central trade union body of the stockyards. For ten days the doctors expressed little hope of his recovery, and gave out a report that he was suffering from a physical breakdown caused by overwork.

Private detectives were set at work and they have just announced that the guilty men are known, and will be arrested as soon as the instigators of the assault are discovered.

When Donnelly, on July 5, charged the secretary of a large employers' association with "fixing" labor leaders, he was told by outside parties to "keep his hands off." He continued the fight and as a result charges were made against several of the most prominent officials of trade unions in the city.

Then came threats of personal violence, but these Donnelly ignored, declaring that he would clear up the case at any cost.

The attack on Donnelly came just at the opening of the series of conferences between the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen and the packing interests of the country. Donnelly was to have acted as spokesman for the men, and all knew that his absence from the meetings would mean demoralization. His close advisers and the officials of the union realized this, and gave out the report that he was temporarily ill. Vice-President C. E. Schmidt of the union took his place at the head of the committee which dealt with the packers, and the men were pacified with the information that he was working under Donnelly's orders.

THOUSANDS OF EMPLOYEES THREATENED WITH DISMISSAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The Tribune says that radical changes in the offices of the International Harvester Company, by which the offices of the constituent companies will be connected, are being put into effect by the directing officials of the big combination. It is stated that the plan will be in force by January 1, although thus far it has been kept a closely guarded secret.

By this connection which will extend throughout the country to all cities and towns where the McCormick, Deering, and other companies have offices, it is expected to save the salaries of several thousand employés, the total saving to the combine amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

For the Cincinnati district, W. D. Adams, the present general agent of the Champion branch, will be the general manager under the new system, and C. S. Ritter, the general agent of the Deering Company, will be made the new general agent. The saving there is estimated at $500,000 a year.

ARBITRATION ON WHEELS.

UNITED RAILWAYS MATTER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arbitration on private car was tried today. While the New York delegation to the National Civic Federation was speeding to Chicago on the Erie road, three members of the party had no time to look at the scenery. They were engrossed with the grievances of the San Francisco street railway men.

Since last April the carmen in the Golden Gate City have been on the verge of a strike, but tomorrow is expected to see the entire matter adjusted. Peace is said to hover around the train.

The men who are "arbitrating" at the rate of sixty miles an hour are W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Street Railway Employés of America; Patrick Calhoun, representing the street railway interests of San Francisco, and Oscar L. Straus, president of the New York Board of Trade.

Last April the agreement between the car service men of San Francisco and the capitalists controlling the roads expired. It was effected only after a bitter strike, and neither side desired another experience of the kind. No settlement has yet been reached, and hope of adjustment rests on the meeting of the Arbitration Committee in the private car.

CIVIC FEDERATION MEETING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Tomorrow the conference of the National Civic Federation will open in Steinway Hall. There will be three sessions daily until Saturday, when the conference will be closed by a banquet tendered by the local branch of the federation to visiting delegates. At the opening session addresses will be made by Oscar S. Straus, president of the Board of Trade and Transportation; John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, Henry White, national secretary of the United Garment Workers, and others.

About 100 delegates have so far appeared, and many more are expected in the morning. Among these will be W. D. Mahon, president of the National Organization of Street-car Men, and James O'Connell, president of the International Association of Machinists.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

LIMA (O.) Oct. 14.—A running fight between residents of the town and eight burglars following the robbery of the postoffice, occurred at Columbus Grove early today. So far as learned, no one was injured. For several days past suspicions have been aroused by the presence of strangers in the town, and extra guards were placed around the banks and other places which might be attacked. The postoffice, however, was left unprotected. The amount taken was not learned.

Prof. G. P. Gillette, entomologist at the Colorado Agricultural College, has just received word of his appointment as chief entomologist of the World's Fair.

DEMOCRATS FEEL ALARM IN MARYLAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maryland Democrats, particularly those who hope to nominate Gorman for President next year, are alarmed at the present outlook of the campaign in that State. Williams, Republican candidate for Governor, is making a surprisingly strong race, and appears in a fair way to capture the independent vote of the State. The most significant political development in the State of the past few days is the announcement of Charles B. Bonaparte that he will support Williams. Bonaparte is one of the most powerful leaders of the independents of Maryland, and is president of the Reform League, an organization that contributed so much to the overthrow of the Democrats in 1895. The registered independent vote in Baltimore is, in round numbers, 12,000, and it will be a determining factor in the coming city election.

Monday of this week there was an important conference of Maryland Republicans at the White House, when former Gov. Lowndes, former Postmaster-General Gary and Representatives Wachter and Mudd met the President and talked over the plans of the State campaign. The President believes that the result in Maryland this year will have great moral influence on the Presidential election next year, and he naturally wishes Republicans to make the best possible showing. There are few factional fights among the Republican ranks there, and his present efforts are in the direction of restoring entire harmony.

In connection with the visit of ex-Gov. Lowndes to the White House, it is reported that he has designs on the seat in the Senate now occupied by Mr. Thomas. It is rather significant, also, that the latter was not present at the gathering of Maryland Republicans at the White House.

The Democratic leaders in Maryland confidently expect success next month. Warfield, Democratic candidate for Governor, is working likek a beaver, traveling night and day, and addressing gatherings in every part of the State. The only issue put forth by the Democrats is "negro domination," and this is being steadily worked by Warfield. It is said, however, that his efforts have developed but little enthusiasm.

Bar Silver at High Point.

[From the Los Angeles Times Wednesday, Oct. 14.]

BAR SILVER'S HIGH POINT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Commercial bar silver today touched the highest point established in years, 58d per ounce in London and 60½@60⅝ here. The advance abroad is equal to ¾d, as compared with yesterday's closing. The Treasury Department has purchased 1,000,000 ounces of silver bullion for delivery at the San Francisco mint for the Philippine coinage at 60.125 per ounce, the highest price that has yet been paid. The New York market for silver reflects the price established in London, where the market has been strong for several months, the advance being attributed in great measure to demand from India and to purchases by the United States government for Philippine account.

IT IS OUR business to keep posted, and observing the steady upward movement of Silver Bullion during the past nine months, we felt sure that Sterling Silver Wares must advance in sympathy. Early in September we almost quadrupled our Holiday orders in spoons, forks, knives and all fancy pieces for the table. This is why we are able to offer anything you need in solid silver at the old prices.

...RNIE'S END WAS VERY LUMPY.

...OSS TOOK HIS MEASURE IN EIGHTH INNING.

Corbett Holds Recruits at Arm's Length as He Pleases—Jockey Miller Killed at Brighton—Japs Outshoot Americans—Six Fastest Heats.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, October 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bernie McGinnis made his professional début today, which was a huge success, but his work was lumpy. His pitching was a source of delight for seven innings, and of chagrin the deluge. It hardly seemed possible that the same youth was in the box when the blow-off came. In the eighth, Manager Lucas seemed to get his measure, and Oakland went to pieces with its bunch.

Jim Corbett held the Recruits at arm's length for nine innings, and did with them what he pleased. There was no attempt to make his speed carry clear through, as the curve ball was working sharply. Sam Mertes sat behind the catcher and saw Brother Joe's pitchers, and it was his idea that no pitchers in the world have anything on Corbett in his present form.

Oakland should have broken the ice in the first inning when O'Hara landed on the third from two singles and a base, but Murdock's bunt had too much steam behind it, and Dillon assisted O'Hara out at the plate. In the fourth Kruger singled, and Baxter walked after two were out, but Messerly swung three times at the empty air. The Recruits never appeared like run-makers afterwards.

Oakland gained a stay in the sixth when Hoy threw from right field. Wheeler escaped an apparently safe hit into right, but the shifty Oaklander came in fast and had the ball in Messerly's hands an instant before the runner arrived. As Dillon followed with a single, the throw probably saved a run.

Corbett led on Stought in the eighth, and stole second. Hoy made two attempts to bunt, and then hit over Murdock for a double. Wheeler's bunt netted a single and McKay's wide throw allowed him an extra bag, while Hoy scored. Smith hit, and Wheeler registered on Kruger's poor throw to third. Dillon walked, and the next two men were retired, but Raymond, Spies and Corbett whanged the sphere into unfrequented territory, which made the balance stand 7 to 0 in favor of Los Angeles.

SACRAMENTO-PORTLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 14.—Portland lost to Sacramento today by a combination of hits and errors in the first inning. SEATTLE-SAN FRANCISCO.

SEATTLE, Oct. 14.—San Francisco could do nothing with Hughes's pitching today, and had it not been for his wild throw he would have shut them out. The locals fell on Whalen for four hits in the fifth, which, with an error by Shaw, gave them the game. Score:

Seattle, 5; hits, 10; errors, 1.
San Francisco, 2; hits, 3; errors, 2.

AUTO TRIP.

WOMEN ENJOY ONE.

Seventy-five delegates and visitors to the Woman's Parliament were shown some of the beauties of the city yesterday as the guests of the Los Angeles Automobile Club. Some months ago it was suggested to some of the officers of the auto club that such a courtesy would be the right and proper thing and accordingly it was put on the programme yesterday.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, twenty-five gasoline and electric automobiles assembled at the Temple Baptist Church at Sixth and Hill streets where the parliament is being held and fifty ladies were taken on as passengers. It was the first trip of the kind that many of them had had a chance to enjoy, and it goes without saying that they had a good time. The excursion was under the direction of W. K. Cowan, one of the directors of the club. The route was out Seventh street to Westlake Park and through that breathing spot, thence to Adams street, to Figueroa street, thence over to Lower Main street and thence back into the city.

FITZ AND THE DAGO.

Lanky Bob Fails to Knock Out Plucky Joe Grim.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Bob Fitzsimmons tonight failed to knock out Joe Grim in the scheduled six rounds. The plucky Italian, who has met many good fighters and never been knocked out, was given severe punishment and was knocked down probably a dozen times, but was on his feet at the end of the bout.

When the men faced each other, the disparity in size was marked, Fitzsimmons towering a head above the Italian. Fitz for three rounds contented himself with chasing Grim around the ring with strong feints, and now and then a light blow. In the fourth round he began to warm to his work, and in the fifth and sixth rounds he apparently did the best he could, and yet failed to stop the Philadelphia boy.

BUSINESS.

Business was reported active yesterday. Every day this week the bank clearings of the local clearinghouse have amounted to more than a million dollars.

Owing to a disposition among wheat traders to sell out long lines, the Chicago pit closed with weaker tone, affecting corn and oats also. Advances in stock prices at New York were wiped out yesterday. Amalgamated Copper and American Car led the downward procession.

UNIONISM IN DISREPUTE.

The severe condemnation of organized unionism and its methods, voiced by some of the speakers at the Southern California Women's Parliament, on Tuesday afternoon, furnishes a fairly good indication of the drift of public sentiment on that subject throughout the country—and throughout the world. Militant unionism is fast losing whatever of public sympathy and support it may have had in the past. It is becoming a thing to be detested and opposed by all right-thinking and right-acting men and women, as a menace to social order and an enemy to the public welfare.

The unscrupulous and disreputable leaders of organized unionism are primarily responsible for having brought it into disrepute; secondarily, the members of the unions are responsible, because they have weakly allowed themselves to be led by such leaders into positions and methods which could not fail to forfeit for them the respect, confidence and support of decent men, even if they had enjoyed such respect, confidence and support to the fullest extent. The more intelligent and conservative members of trades-union organizations are aware of the retrogression and its causes; but the conservative and intelligent members of the unions have comparatively little influence in directing the affairs of those organizations, and they appear to be powerless to check the downward movement. The disreputables and the irresponsibles are in the saddle. They have been in the saddle for a long time. They are apparently in the saddle to stay—at least until they have ridden organized unionism to its own destruction. At the present pace the end of the journey will soon be reached.

Mrs. M. E. Dudley of Ventura, in her admirable address before the Women's Parliament, rightly declared that there is great need for the education of federated labor in the virtue of reasonableness. "Is it reasonable," asked the speaker, "for labor unions to demand that this government shall dismiss or employ public servants simply because they demand it? Is it reasonable for men to refuse to work and demand that employers shall not secure service from others unless those others wear the union badge? Is it reasonable that in times of greatest prosperity, when labor is receiving just compensation for work performed, that labor leaders should order strikes, for no sane reason, except to prove ability to stay the wheels of business? Is the boycott reasonable? Is it reasonable for American citizens, born under the beneficent folds of the flag for which their fathers sacrificed, fostered in American homes, educated in American schools, taught in American sanctuaries, that they should submit tamely to the leadership of fanatics of foreign name, until they turn and rend the country which has nourished them? Is it reasonable that the great army of workingmen, who have had for their battle cry in the recent past, 'Away with class legislation,' should demand for themselves so unjust a privilege?"

There is no answering to these questions, save in the negative. All these demands of labor unions, and thousands of other demands of similar import, are unreasonable. They can never be granted so long as the spirit of Americanism remains alive in the breasts of American citizens. There can never be industrial peace in this country so long as demands of this nature are made and insisted upon. As Mrs. Dudley well said, further on in her address:

"No self-respecting man, in any rank of life, wants something for nothing. In the past there were rights that were denied labor. Labor organized to secure these rights. This was just. It asked for fewer hours with the same wage. Labor received this concession. It demanded increased pay. This was given. These were righteous demands, and American sentiment supported labor in them. Today, labor has crossed the line of justice, and demands property which it has not earned, equal wages for skilled and unskilled labor; in short, it asks something for nothing, as the employer did, before labor federated. Labor has become the oppressor instead of the oppressed. Labor leaders are drunken with victory. They command the rank and file to override law, order and justice. They live on unearned money at the expense of labor. They have gotten over into the ranks of the enemy, and, fearing labor will discover them, they become more noisy. They will lead federated labor for what there is in it for themselves in cash and notoriety, until labor awakens and repudiates them."

The Times, over and over again, has pointed out these evils. For doing so it has been subjected to all sorts of unjust imputations and insincere, demagogic criticisms. But the truth will prevail, for it is mighty and indestructible.

A FORWARD STEP.

The arbitration agreement between Great Britain and France, which has been under consideration for some time past, was signed yesterday in London by Lord Lansdowne, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and M. Cambon, French Ambassador to Great Britain. The agreement is for a period of five years from the date of signing. It was drawn up in pursuance of The Hague convention of July 29, 1899, providing for the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

It is provided in the treaty just executed by the representatives of Great Britain and France (Article 1,) that "differences of judicial order, such as relate to the interpretation of treaties existing between the two contracting powers, which may arise between them and which it may not be possible to settle by means of diplomacy, shall be submitted to the permanent court of arbitration established at The Hague by the convention of July 29, 1899; on condition, however, that they do not involve either vital interests on the independence or honor of the two contracting States, and that they do not affect the interests of a third power." It is further provided (Article 2,) that "in each particular case the high contracting parties, before addressing themselves to the permanent court of arbitration, shall sign a special arbitration bond, setting forth clearly the subject under dispute, the extent of the powers of the arbitrators, and the details to be observed as regards the constitution of the arbitration tribunal and the procedure."

Already, the work of The Hague Peace Conference of 1899 has borne good fruit in preserving the peace of nations, to some extent. The convention just concluded between France and Great Britain is a decided step forward, and toward the practical realization of the time "when war shall be no more." That millennial time is no doubt a long way in the future. It may never, in fact, be fully realized. Man is a quarrelsome animal by nature, and still retains a large admixture of the "old Adam" in his composition. Treaties entered into under conditions existing today may be violated under different conditions tomorrow. Every nation possessing in any true sense the attributes of sovereignty is a law unto itself, in the final analysis. But it is at least encouraging when two great nations, like Great Britain and France, enter into a formal agreement to submit to arbitration all differences between them that may properly be arbitrated. Such action at least makes for peace, though it may not act as a positive preventive of war under all circumstances.

A LOGICAL DECISION.

An Associated Press dispatch from Albany tells of a decision just handed down by the Court of Appeals for New York State, declaring, in effect, that dependence upon "faith-healing," in a case of serious illness, is in fact criminal negligence. The case was that of the People vs. Pierson. The latter lived at White Plains, N. Y. In 1901 he was sentenced to pay $500 or to serve 500 days' imprisonment for criminal neglect in that he failed to provide a licensed physician to attend his adopted daughter, aged 16 months, in a case of bronchial pneumonia, from which the child afterward died. The conviction in the trial court was based upon a provision in the penal code, holding that "a person who omits, without lawful excuse, to perform a duty by law imposed upon him to furnish food, clothing, shelter, or medical attendance to a minor, is guilty of criminal neglect."

The Court of Appeals sustained the verdict of the lower court. Judge Haight, of the appellate court, who wrote the opinion, said:

"Sitting as a court of law for the purpose of construing and determining the meaning of statutes, we have nothing to do with variances in religious belief, and have no power to determine which is correct. We place no limitations upon the power of the mind over the body, the power of faith to dispel disease, or the power of the Supreme Being to heal the sick. We merely declare the law as given us by the Legislature. We find no error on the part of the trial court that called for a reversal."

Under the law, as it stands upon the statute books of the State, the court could not logically have reached any other decision than the one rendered. As to the wisdom, justice and expediency of the law, there may be some differences of opinion. Yet the consensus of public opinion undoubtedly supports the law. If it were otherwise, the law would have been repealed.

Laws are framed at the behest of the people, acting through their legislative representatives, in response to demands and needs revealed by experience. There are laws on the statute books which perhaps ought not to be there. But in this particular case the law appears to be both wise and necessary, and the court's decision is obviously in conformity to the dictates of logic and common sense.

NEWSPAPER LIFE IN NICARAGUA

The State of Nicaragua, in Central America, in addition to its awkward shape, unhealthy climate and freckled appearance generally, seems also to be a poor country for a man to try to yank the Archimedean lever to and fro at regular intervals. The government there, according to recent reports, does not support the independent and fearless journalist in a manner that tends to encourage him to strike boldly out into the field of unfettered truth.

An editor from that country has lately arrived at San Francisco with a tale of professional woe that evokes sympathy. According to his story, they have experienced a very hard summer on freedom of the press in Central America, and in his individual case, the crop was a total failure. He says that he was engaged in running a newspaper in Nicaragua, and was quietly proceeding along independent but conservative lines, molding public opinion whenever he thought it needed it, and using as much truth as he deemed consistent with the business, when, one day, he suddenly found himself in dire straits and unable to get his paper out on time.

In the course of a scathing editorial on the political situation, he took occasion to rake the opposition and reveal some of their inglorious shortcomings, referring casually to the Chief Executive, and venturing the opinion that the "present incumbent would have difficulty in securing a renomination."

The next day the government confiscated his newspaper, including subscription list, good will, plant, press, type lice and all, took his editorial "we" away from him, revoked his poetic license, and significantly pointed in the direction of the North Pole. Concluding that they had intended to be personal he acted on the suggestion and emigrated with a good deal of intensity.

He says that he has no desire to return. Molding public opinion in that country is too difficult, besides being very hazardous for the molder. A man cannot attack the administration, he says, without stirring up too much of a tempest and attracting the adverse attention of the authorities.

The solidification of the sewage of Los Angeles and the transformation of sewage water into liquid that is fit to drink is certainly something worthy close consideration and attention. That there is a tremendous waste going on through the sewers and into the Pacific Ocean goes without the saying. How best to conserve the health and wealth of the community should be the earnest study of those in authority. The sewage solidifiers should be given every opportunity to solidify things.

San Francisco is experimenting with automobiles in the collection of the city mails. In Los Angeles we are experimenting with the running over, or scaring half to death, with automobiles, of both males and females. As a mail collector the smelly machine ought to be an overmastering success. Los Angeles should shift the cut.

MY STAR.

Yesterday my star went down in the deep shadows.
It went lightly
Like the rippling of water;
And many tiny dear things went with it, and I watched them:
I knew that my star would never rise again.

Yesterday my star went down in the deep shadows.
It went softly
Like the half lights of evening;
And as it went my frantic thoughts pursued it without hoping:
I knew that my star would never rise again.

Yesterday my star went down in the deep shadows.
It went tenderly
Like my friend who loves me;
But since it's gone the way shows dark—my two eyes are tired watching:
I know that my star will never rise again.

"TWEENTIMES."

BY E. A. BRININSTOOL.

THE GUNNERS ARE OUT!

(The open season on ducks and quail opened this morning, and hundreds of hunters are at the sloughs and in the foothills.)

Now once again the sporting man feels all his pulses thrill,
Now once again he takes his gun and saunters forth to kill;
Now once again the farmer stands another risky chance
Of coming in at nightfall with some shot-holes through his pants;
For the hunting season's open, and the gunners everywhere
Will keep their leaden pellets circulating through the air.

Put on your chain-plate metal shirt and overalls of mail,
There's death and dire destruction in that rain of leaden hail,
Because the frisky gunner often takes a sudden fit
Of shooting first, then asking if it's you he may have hit.
You'd better be protected at the start,
you'll understand,
Or possibly the coroner may have a case on hand.

Oh, the hearty, honest farmer will have murder in his eye,
And be mightily astonished when the shot begin to fly;
And the frisky calf in terror, will go
scooting for the side
Of its bawling, Jersey mother, when the duckshot pricks its hide;
And the horses in the pasture will cavort about in fear,
Since the banging of the shotgun says the hunting season's here.

Now, the feller from the city takes the keenest of delight
Tramping 'round the sloughs and foothills shooting everything in sight.
But we've donned our chilled-steel breeches, iron helmet and the rest,
While a shirt of chain-plate metal will protect our rural breast.
Let lead pellets zip and rattle through the tree-tops now, by gum!
For with bullet-proof protection we ain't fearin' what'll come!

THE OPTIMISTIC PHILOSOPHER.

It ain't so bad, this ol' world ain't,
As folks declares who make complaint
When things looks blue
An' the road is rough,
Why fret an' stew
An' swear it's tough?
It's a fine ol' world—ain't seen one yet
That's half so good as ours, you bet!

It ain't so bad, this ol' mud ball,
As some folks tells us, after all;
Fer there's a smile
Fer ev'ry sigh,
When troubles pile
Up mountain-high.
It's only the grouty, sour-faced cuss
Who swears that the world is a-growin' wuss.

It ain't so bad, this planet here,
As would-be kickers make it 'pear,
If the rain comes down
When you want sunshine,
Don't growl an' frown,
An' sputter an' whine,
But take what comes, an' don't complain
'Cuz you want sunshine an' jest git rain.

So, don't find fault, my friend, 'cuz you Can't have things go as you wish they'd do.
If we'll only take
Jest what is sent,
The Lord will make Us all content.

VENEZUELA VENOMOUS IN RESENTMENT.

DISGRACEFUL TREATMENT BY THE PRESS OF AYALA.

Torrent of Abuse Follows the Decision of Spanish Minister in Favor of Mexico—Trade Stagnant and More Political Complications Are Feared.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WILLEMSTAD (Island of Curacao) Oct. 14.—[By West Indian Cable.] Passengers arriving here from Caracas, Venezuela, confirm the reports of attacks made by the government newspapers on the umpires of the mixed tribunals, who have given decisions adverse to Venezuela. The passengers add that the conduct of President Castro and the official press shows that Venezuela does not understand the respect due to the mixed tribunals' umpires.

After Minister Bowen's Mexican protocol was signed, the King of Spain, as requested, appointed Señor Gaytan de Ayala, the Spanish Minister to Venezuela, as Mexican umpire, and Venezuela was pleased, but the newspapers of Caracas have recently insulted him, owing to his having rendered a verdict in favor of Mexico. Señor Ayala, who is rich and independent, could not be suspected of partiality, but in spite of this the Caracas press, when he rendered his verdict, caricatured him, representing the Minister with bags of silver in his hands, and saying that "The balance of justice went to the side of Mexico in consequence of the weight of money which Mexico gave him."

Another paper represented the Spanish Minister as an ass sitting in an umpire's chair.

El Nacionalista, the organ of Gen. Hernandez, the Venezuelan Minister at Washington, which has been most bitter in its attacks on foreigners, on one occasion said: "The award is the outcome of rancor, due to the conduct of Venezuela toward the Spanish Consul at La Guayra or of bad faith or ignorance."

Incidentally, it is stated on good authority that Gen. Iribarin, the Venezuelan commissioner, recognized the validity of the Mexican claim, which was also approved by the Minister of Foreign Affairs. President Castro alone opposed it.

Another newspaper of Caracas said: "It is strange that Mexico, of the same race, language, continent, religion and history should dare to ask money from her sister republic, Venezuela."

Finally, the Spanish Minister became so incensed that he decided to leave Caracas on October 9. He turned over the Spanish Legation to the secretary, Señor Gilgado, and made his preparations to embark for Spain October 18.

One of the papers from Caracas said that as a result of President Castro's policy, trade in Venezuela is stagnant, the people having no confidnce in his administration. Prices on the stock exchange are daily falling, and complications are feared after the closing of the mixed tribunals.

Third Assistant Secretary of State Says that Salaries Should be Paid to All Consular Officers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Herbert H. D. Peirce, Third Assistant Secretary of State at Washington, who has been visiting a large number of the United States consulates in Europe to see what steps would be necessary for the proposed improvement of the service, is about to sail for home, says a Herald dispatch from London. He has visited thirty of the principal consulates in Holland, Belgium, Germany and France.

"Of course, my investigation was tentative," said he. "It was impossible to cover the entire field in the time allotted. I cannot speak on the report I shall make to the State Department, but there are one or two things that are apparent. I think it very essential that our consuls should be paid by salary alone, and that all notarial fees should go to their government. Compensation to consuls in most cases should be larger. All the vice and deputy consuls should be American citizens, as such important positions should not be intrusted to foreigners."

TORPEDO BOAT STANDS TEST.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.—After successfully undergoing a test for speed and endurance under a trial board of officers of the navy, the torpedo boat Tingey has returned to the builders' yards here. The boat was run over the Barren Island course under severe conditions as to wind and sea, owing to the recent storm. In the speed test she made twenty-five knots, being one knot in excess of contract requirements. In the endurance test she maintained steam pressure at 240 pounds throughout the run.

COLORED SETTLEMENT

From the Southern States continues to come a considerable number of colored people of the better class to Los Angeles and vicinity, and in the past few weeks there has formed the nucleus of a colony of farmers and small ranchers at Vineland. Several families have settled there, and G. H. Gilbert, who has just come out from New Orleans, purchased eighty acres of land at Vineland, paying cash therefor. Five other families are now on their way from Louisiana to settle there, and they purpose giving a practical demonstration of what the colored man can accomplish on good farming lands. The Western Baptist Association is also establishing a home for people's Home at Vineland.

STOLE BONDS OF HIS FRAU.

German Embezzler Captured by Chief Elton.

Forced to Give up All the Money that He Had Not Spent.

Crime Not Extraditable—Dahms Ran Off With Three Thousand Dollars.

Away from Berlin, the Kaiser's town, came Max Dahms, a middle-aged German, with 12,000 marks, or $3000, in bonds embezzled from his wife. But Max made the mistake of having a pistol in his pocket when he entered the precincts of Los Angeles, and thereby gave Chief Elton a good excuse to arrest him.

The Chief induced Dahms to surrender what was left of the original bunch, amounting to $150, and the precious papers are on their way now to Frau Dahms in Berlin.

Dahms cannot be extradited, as his crime is without the pale of the treaty between this government and Germany. The police were going to send for his wife and prosecute the embezzler here, but the gay husband prevented such action by handing over the residue of his stolen wealth to the police.

About six months ago Dahms, who is an unprepossessing man of 48, married in Berlin a wealthy woman considerably above himself in station. He got homesick right away and surprised his wife by telling her that a banking firm had offered him a good position. He said that he would have to give bonds to get the job and his wife fell in with the scheme by handing him the sum required, 12,000 marks, in gilt-edged securities.

Dahms, deserving his name, left that day for Hamburg and took the first steamer for New York. The Berlin police sent out circulars giving a description of the embezzler, and Chief Elton was the lucky police official to receive him. Dahms arrived in Los Angeles several days ago and was almost immediately arrested. He was held up on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon and appeared in the Police Court yesterday. Last evening Chief Elton had the charge dismissed, as Dahms relinquished the bonds.

THE OIL INDUSTRY

SANTA FE WILL BURN OIL TO KANSAS CITY.

TO CONVERT ALL BURNERS ON MAIN SYSTEM.

Hopes to Save a Million a Year. Prominent Bakersfield Oil Man Charged With Grand Larceny—S. P. Acquires Valuable Oil Lands in Alaska.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—The Santa Fé will convert all of its coal-burning engines used on its system as far East as Kansas City into oil burners. The experience of the Southern Pacific in the use of oil has been so satisfactory that the Santa Fé officials have determined to follow suit. The necessary orders have been issued, and the preliminary work has already been started. A number of immense tanks will be constructed along the lines of the Santa Fé and it is expected that the use of oil will save $1,000,000 a year for the company.

The largest of the new tanks will be constructed at Seligman and Flagstaff, Ariz., where two huge receptacles of 50,000 barrels each will be located at each of these points. Two 35,000-barrel tanks are designed for each of the following stations on the line: Williams, Winslow and Ash Fork.

GRAND LARCENY CHARGED.

PROMINENT OIL MAN ACCUSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 14.—A warrant has been issued in Justice Miller's court for the arrest of W. P. Cunningham, a prominent oil man, on a charge of grand larceny. Cunningham left Los Angeles, and Deputy Sheriff Boyle left for that city last night. The complaint is sworn to by J. H. Murray, a well-known oil man, and charges Cunningham with the theft of a quantity of oil-well casing.

Last year a large quantity of oil-well drilling machinery was stolen from Kern River and traced to the property of the company at Sunset of which Cunningham was the general manager, and there found and recovered. Charles S. Vezie, an employé of the company, was arrested, and at his trial a few weeks ago he made the declaration that he was acting under the orders of Cunningham and supposed that his employer had a right to it. The trial resulted in a hung jury. Cunningham was one of the principal witnesses for the State at this trial. Before coming to California Cunningham was a sheriff at Santa Fé, N. M., where he gained a wide reputation in connection with the famous Borrego murder trial, a case which went to the Supreme Court of the United States and was argued before Presidents Cleveland and Harrison.

ALASKA OIL LANDS.

S. P. ACQUIRES PROPERTY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Two friends of President Harriman of the Southern Pacific Railroad that were interested in Alaska not long ago to buy up coal lands, have succeeded in getting, at a cost of $750,000, some choice property on the Controller Bay and Kayak districts. They have returned here with the report that they are to submit to the Alaska Trading and Oil Company, the coal-land-holding company, the Southern Pacific people lately incorporated. The report has it that twenty different companies, including California, Seattle, Chicago, New York and London syndicates have practically taken up all the coal-bearing lands in Alaska.

SHIPPING WATER.

PUGET SOUND REFINERY WANTS IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—The oil steamer Wasmer sailed today for Port Los Angeles with a cargo of 420,000 gallons of Columbia River water. The cargo is destined for the refineries at Oleum, where water is said to be scarce. This is the first time in the history of the port that water has been made a commodity.

TEMBLOR DEVELOPMENT.

OPERATORS' GOOD SHOWING.

Development in the Temblor district is showing many surprises to the oil men who months ago turned that territory down as not being worth the cost of prospecting. There is oil and some of the companies are on the road to good things.

The Climax is one of the successful ones, this company having three wells that show oil, but no efforts are being made to ship the product. There is considerable oil that might be shipped, all of the wells flowing slightly.

The Kern River has twod additional rigs up and the work of drilling will be started in a few days. Another company that is planning early development is the U. S. Oil and Mining Company, on the northwest quarter of sections 6, 30, 22, which has let a contract for building a derrick and rig.

On section 11, 30, 21, Jerome, E. J. Miley superintendent, has just gone into the oil sand and a good well is promised. It is situated on land adjacent to the Clara Feitz and the Canfield wells.

DOCTORS' CONVENTION.

Homeopathic Medical Society of Southern California Elects Officers and Discusses Papers.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Southern California Homeopathic Medical Society met yesterday morning in the parlors of the Westminster Hotel. The session continued during the afternoon, and in the evening a banquet was enjoyed by the medicos at the hotel, followed by demonstrations of the latest in electrical treatment, some of the most improved machines used in this connection being introduced, with patients, to whom the various treatments were applied.

The election of new officers in the morning resulted as follows: President, Dr. E. C. Buell, Los Angeles; first vice-president, Dr. A. K. Johnson, San Bernardino; second vice-president, Dr. N. C. Clark, Los Angeles; secretary and treasurer, Dr. F. S. Barnard, Los Angeles.

The papers read during the day were as follows: Dr. J. S. Hunt, "Pyrogenium;" Dr. W. J. Hawks, "Lycopodium;" Dr. N. C. Clark, "Treatment of Breasts During Pregnancy and Lactation;" Dr. W. B. Beebe, "Post Partum Hemorrhage;" C. L. Rich, "Asepsis and Antisepsis in Management of Obstetric Cases;" Dr. R. B. Johnson, "What Shall We Do With Our Consumptives?" Dr. R. A. Atwood, "The Sanitary Condition of Our Small Cities;" Dr. A. K. Johnson, "Arsenauro as a Remedy in Diabetes;" Dr. D. Burleigh Parkhurst, "Galvanism and Faradism;" Dr. T. C. Low, "Static and High Frequency Currents and X-Ray; Their Nature, Therapeutic Value and Modes of Application (with demonstrations);" Dr. O. S. Barnum, "Reports of Clinical Cases Treated With Electricity and X-Ray."

A closing session will be held this morning.

THEY HAVE NO RIGHT.

It is the opinion of City Attorney Mathews that the street railway franchises granted to the Traction and Los Angeles-Pacific lines do not convey the right to run baggage or freight cars through the streets. The franchises of both companies inside the city limits as they existed in 1896 make no reference whatever to the carrying of freight, and in the absence of some express provision on the point the City Attorney holds that freight cars cannot legally run.

FOR SALE—
ALVARADO PARK TRACT.
On August 17, 1903, we bought from Joseph Nyans a beautiful 25-acre tract on N.W. corner of Reservoir and Alvarado sts., near 100-foot Sunset boulevard. We subdivided same into 103 lots, of which we have already sold over 70. We are now grading streets, laying water pipes and putting down cement sidewalks. A large force of men and teams is grading the new electric road to Glendale, which passes about 200 feet east of this tract, and will soon be in operation. This tract is only 10 minutes' from business center and will soon have 2 electric lines. The lots are large, have beautiful views, fine soil and best climate. This section is fast forging to the front. It's the place to buy for a home or for profit. Where else can you buy close-in lots, 50x150, with desirable surroundings and building restrictions, for $200? We have elegant lots, overlooking Echo and Elysian parks, ocean, mountain and the whole country side for $350 to $600, ¼ cash, balance on easy terms to suit, at 6 per cent. See

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Highwayman Arrested.

Miguel Duratte, a peon, was arrested yesterday morning by detectives on a robbery charge. It is alleged that Duratte, with two other Mexicans, held up and robbed George Smith, an employé of the Whittier Oil Refining Company, of $20 and a watch, in Sonoratown Tuesday night.

Burglar Frustrated.

While the family of R. D. Richards of No. 1123 West Twenty-first street were at dinner yesterday evening, a burglar was heard tampering with a rear window. Richards tip-toed to the point where the noise came from and saw the fellow slink away in the darkness. Nothing about the place was taken.

Investments.

Dr. Charles M. O'Leary has purchased of William Thorpe, through Edward D. Silent & Co., an irregular lot, 200 feet front by about 100 feet average depth, on the west side of San Pedro street, 100 feet south of First street, with three small frame buildings of nominal value; consideration named, $48,000. George Knickrehm buys of H. Simmons, through Althouse Bros., a seven-room frame dwelling on the north side of Ninth street, 200 feet west of Figueroa street, with lot 50x150 feet; consideration named, $5000.

Bishop Conaty's Eastern Visit.

Bishop Conaty and Very Rev. J. S. Glass, president of St. Vincent's College, started last night for Philadelphia to attend the sessions of the fifth annual conference of Catholic colleges of the United States. This conference was instituted by Bishop Conaty while he was at the head of the Catholic University at Washington, and he is its president. The sessions will be held on the 28th and 29th of October. Bishop Conaty and Dr. Glass will visit Chicago educational institutions en route, and will spend about five weeks in the East.

Men's League Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Men's League of Immanuel Presbyterian Church was held on Tuesday night. It was the largest and most successful affair of the kind ever held in the church, having been attended by 200 men. W. W. C. White presided, and acted as toastmaster. Speeches were made by W. C. Patterson, Carl A. Johnson, William Cleaver, J. M. McPherron, Giles Kellogg, W. E. McVay and Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of Immanuel Church.

Attorneys' Fight Continues.

Technical argument among the attorneys continued almost all day yesterday before Judge Wellborn in the postoffice condemnation suit. In the morning the jury and attorneys visited the disputed premises, that the jurors might become familiar with the property at issue. Judge Wellborn decided that the defendants might introduce evidence as to the value of the property in question first, the government to follow. This was one of the first points over which dispute arose. Defendants called real estate experts as witnesses in the afternoon.

Brothels Must Move.

Captain of Police Auble is waging a crusade against the disorderly houses of assignation and other similar institutions in the territory south of First street, and the first on the list is the Casa Loma Hotel at No. 104 South Los Angeles street, conducted by Mrs. Josephine Workman. All of the women roomers have been expelled from the house by order of the police, and officers are watching the place to see that Mrs. Workman does not fill up with female lodgers. The object is to concentrate this undesirable element into as small a district as possible. By this regulation such houses may be watched more effectually.

Separate Schools Not Wanted.

The colored people of Los Angeles are worked up over the suggestion made by the Assistant Superintendene of Schools that the colored children be placed in separate schools. An informal meeting of representative Afro-Americans was held on Tuesday evening and it was decided to have interviews with the various members of the Board of Education, so that the colored people might know just where they stand on the proposition. In case there seems to be a prospect of the separate schools being set up, the Afro-Americans plan to hold public indignation meetings to give voice to their protests against what they fear will be the curtailing of some of their rights.

Delegate's Return.

Rev. C. H. Anderson, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of this city, has returned from Philadelphia, where he went as a delegate from Southern California to the National Convention of the Colored Baptist Churches. Rev. J. W. Wright, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion Church, corner of Fourth street and Ruth avenue, Rev. William Bynum, presiding elder of the Los Angeles district, and Rev. R. H. Hunter, pastor at Monrovia, have gone to Portland, Or., to attend the annual conference of the Zion Church for the Pacific Coast. It is expected that Mr. Wright will be returned to the pastorate of the Zion Church in this city for another year. Bishop Clinton, who recently spent several weeks here, is presiding over the sessions of the annual conference.

"God Bless County Hospital."

And now cometh Mrs. Dora Benjamin, a Hebrew lady, of No. 319 East First street, who deposes and says the County Hospital is one of the nicest places in the world, and that she has spent five happy months there, and has just emerged from this retreat, cured of disease. She declares that she has undergone five severe surgical operations in the hospitals of Vienna, and like the woman in the Good Book was no better, but rather the worse. She was sent out here from Massachusetts by some society because of her ill health, and when she arrived here she was helpless, and was carted out to the County Hospital to die. After years of illness she is now discharged from the hospital a well woman, and she is so filled with gratitude that she goes about saying "God bless the County Hospital."

BREVITIES.

I have a concession from the government of Mexico, a bay, 46 miles long (18 leagues) situated in the State of Sinaloa, 50 miles from Mazatlan. Two of the largest rivers in the country flow into this bay, one at the north, and one at the south end. A grant was given to the President of Mexico by the Legislature for the term of 5 years, by which he was given the power of granting concessions. This one is among the last granted, and is the only one on the western coast. This concession is also free from State and Federal taxation, including import duties, for the period of ten years. One great advantage of this bay is its nearness to Mazatlan, a distance of about 50 miles. Here all the Pacific Coast line steamers make regular stoppages; steamers from the Orient; Gulf trade, Hamburg and China, using this as their principal port of entry. I also have a verified copy of the imports and exports of all products pertaining to this business, for the past three years, taken from the records of the customshouse at Mazatlan. Included in this grant are fish and meat packing-house concessions. Every fish known to southern waters may be found here, such as oysters, lobsters, shrimps, mackerel, including a species of cod-fish. The importation of the food products are already attracting the attention of the government authorities for the development of their resources, so that an enterprise like this one would be sure of a guarantee of success. I present this to capital as an investment. Respectfully, E. L. Baker, 713 West First St., Los Angeles. Phone Red 7881.

FIENDISH ROBBER TORTURES WOMAN.

Mrs. Max Basch is Bound, Gagged, Kicked and Chloroformed.

Two Desperate Tramps Find Her Alone in Vernon Home and One Merciless Ruffian Commits Assault and Robbery While Other Stands Guard—Victim Lies Unconscious for Three Hours.

MAULED, bound, gagged, kicked, chloroformed and then robbed was the treatment suffered by Mrs. Max Busch, a handsome young woman, at the hands of a fiend in the form of a daylight desperado yesterday afternoon.

The outrage occurred in a sparsely-settled portion of Vernon, just east of San Pedro street, in the new home the Basches were just moving into at No. 734 Vernon avenue. Max Basch, the husband, who runs an employment agency at No. 124 East Second street, first discovered the crime when he came home and found his wife lying, strapped, wounded and unconscious. The robber and an accomplice who stood guard during the operations, escaped, but the police have fair descriptions and they may yet be rounded up. The robbers secured but $8, and were apparently after cash alone, for they ignored jewelry worth several hundred dollars.

From 2:30 until nearly 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon the young woman lay unconscious on a heap of matting from the effects of chloroform administered to her when the fellow left the house. She lay face downward, her hands bound behind her back with a handkerchief drawn so taut that it almost stopped the circulation. Her mouth was so crammed with wads of dirty newspaper that her throat was scratched and her cheeks distended, the burly fellow forcing as big a gag in as he could by main strength. Her left breast was black and blue from a terrific punch, and her side bruised where he had kicked her as she lay helpless. She was almost suffocated when her husband came home and found her, just before 6 o'clock. After a physician had restored her to consciousness she was hysterical for several hours, and extreme nervousness caused her to stutter pitifully as she told the story of the assault last night.

SPIED ABOUT FIRST.

As Mrs. Basch stepped off the car on returning from a shopping trip at noon yesterday she saw the two men who were to be her assailants standing under the large pepper trees that border the orange groves at the corner of San Pedro street and Vernon avenue. They looked like typical tramps, both being unkempt and attired in the shabbiest of faded black clothes. The one who afterward attacked her had a long, scraggly moustache, reddish-like hair, and there was a very noticeable black skin blotch on his upper lip right where his moustache parted. She estimated him to be 5 feet 8 inches tall, very broad shouldered and robust, with big strong hands. He wore a black stiff hat, and on one finger wore a cheap silver horseshoe ring. The man who stood guard was of dark complexion, with smooth face, but the woman took no notice of him, as the other man did all the talking.

Shortly after 2 o'clock these two men rang the front door bell and asked about apples advertised for sale by a sign on a tree. Mrs. Basch offered to show the goods, and led them around the house to a little shed, where the men, after looking over the fruit, said the price was too high, and departed. Mrs. Basch then went into the front bedroom and began changing her street clothes for a house gown. While thus employed the head thug returned to the front door and rang the bell, while his pal stood in the path leading to the street. The man said he and his friend had decided to take one box of the apples, and Mrs. Basch pleasantly asked him to wait just a moment on the porch until she could lace her shoes. The woman closed the door and returned to her bedroom.

DRAMATIC SCENE.

When she came out the robber was standing in the front room amid the piles of furnishings just moved in and not placed. She was surprised at the fellow's impertinence, but thought it merely a tramp's audacity. She held the front door open to let him pass out first, and said she was ready to give him the apples. The fellow stood glowering at her and made no move to go.

MRS. MAX BASCH, THE VERNON BEAUTY WHO WAS ASSAULTED BY A ROBBER.

"You have a nice house here," he said.

"Oh, no, we have not settled yet; you will excuse me, but I don't want anybody to see the place in this shape," responded the woman, and nodded an invitation for him to pass out.

The two stood staring at each other for several seconds, the man commanded roughly:

"I want to sit down; come over here and sit down."

"Sir!"

Then the fellow stalked over to the door with a fiendish look of determination on his face. When he came close to her, Mrs. Basch smelled alcohol, and saw that he was ugly with liquor.

He roughly shoved the startled woman to one side, shut the door and locked it. Then confronting her, he snarled out sentences with obscene oaths:

"How much money have you got? I want money! Where is your purse?"

Mrs. Basch confesses that she was entirely overcome with terror.

"Oh, don't hurt me," she pleaded. "I'll give you anything we've got. I haven't much money (she had just been shopping,) but you can take my rings."

She extended her hands to him, bearing a magnificent three-opal circlet and three other bands set with valuable stones. The robber threw her hands down roughly, exclaiming:

"I don't want your G— d—d rings! I couldn't get five cents on 'em! I want money!"

MERCILESS TREATMENT.

She told him that she had but $8, which was in her purse in the top drawer of her dresser. He said she was lying and cursed her. Then he seized her by both wrists and profanely demanded that she tell where more money was. She protested that she could not.

Then with an oath the fellow poised himself and swung a terrific blow to the side of her head. She fell in a heap, and shouted "Murder" at the top of her voice. The robber leaned down and struck her another blow and kicked her in the side. The woman continued to scream, so he leaped upon her with his knees on her abdomen. Snatching up a newspaper that lay on the floor he silenced her cries by cramming wad after wad of it into her mouth, forcing it down into her throat with all his weight. Some ribbons were lying near, and these he wound over the gag, finally tying it with his own handkerchief. Then he turned her over on her back, and bound her wrists very tight, with a sailor's knot, and her ankles likewise. The woman was absolutely helpless and almost suffocated by the cords and gag, but perfectly conscious.

While he was binding his victim, the fellow kept up a continuous stream of profane abuse, one of his oft-repeated remarks being:

"I'll teach you to show a man where the money is."

The robber then ransacked the two bedrooms at his leisure. He took the woman's purse from the bureau, but left lying right next to it a brooch set with eight large opals and a gold watch and chain of much value. There was little else of value at hand, as the effects of the family were still in unpacked boxes and trunks.

CHLOROFORM IN HER EYES.

It was after the robber had ransacked the house and secured all the booty he desired that he committed his final outrage, sending his victim into unconsciousness that lasted for nearly three hours.

When the fiend was ready to leave he came over to his helpless victim, turned her over on her back and chloroformed her. The poor woman lay there helpless and saw the fellow take the bottle out of his pocket, but knew not what it contained until the physician that brought her back to consciousness informed her three hours later. The robber ruthlessly poured the chloroform over her face in saturating the bandage that held the gag into her mouth. Some of the stuff went into her left eye, causing excruciating pain and injury from which it will take many days to recover. Mrs. Basch was in a hysterical condition for several hours after being restored, her nervous excitement being so great that she was unable to speak without stuttering and breaking down.

Mrs. Basch is a statuesque brunette of striking beauty, and is widely known in social circles of this city. As Miss May Spellman, daughter of Mrs. E. A. Spellman of No. 1154 East Adams street, she married Max Basch about a year ago. The couple had just purchased the new cottage and one acre, where the attack occurred.

The police department was notified of the outrage promptly after its discovery by Mr. Basch at 6 o'clock last evening, and several detectives immediately began work on the case. With the descriptions furnished by Mrs. Basch it is likely that the brutal fellows will yet be brought to justice.

OLD TITLE FOUND AND OLD PAIR HAPPY.

DISCOVERY OF BILL OF SALE TO ESTATE IN HOLLAND.

Luders and His Wife Thought They Never Were to Come Into Possession of Their Own Again—Fateful Loss of Little Slip of Paper.

The accidental discovery in Los Angeles of an old bill of sale, made out more than thirty years ago, on the other side of the Atlantic Ocean, and for a decade and a half deemed lost, has just shed an ineffable happiness over two lives, and has brought back into the full control of its rightful owner more than 300 acres of choice German farming land.

The parties affected are Jacob Luders and his wife, Minna, who have been staying at the Hazendorf lodging-house here. Both are simple and unsuspecting Teutons, and, a very long time since, allowed themselves to be nearly swindled out of a lot of valuable property—all they had, in fact—by sheer lack of business knowledge and caution.

The father of Jacob Luders bought and paid for an estate in the province of Schleswig-Holstein, and this transaction, witnessed according to all the formalities of the law, was embodied in a written transfer from the original owners, a family named Vandevort, who owned besides large agricultural tracts in their home country, the Netherlands.

In the course of time Luders and his good frau emigrated to the United States, both of their children having preceded them, and left their German possessions in the charge of a distant relative. Then, according to their story, the Vandevorts, having seen them safely off the land, began to lay plans to regain it. The Vandevorts' first move was to disaffect the caretakers, and then they raised an outcry in the courts about the original transfer, making a contention that the original transaction was fraudulent, undue influence having been brought to bear on the Vandevort who made the sale, and that on this account the whole deal should be declared off. Little attention was paid to them until, to satisfy certain legal formalities and bind Luders' title tightly up in court red tape for him, an order was given by the German magistrate for the production of this original bill of sale, supposedly in Luders's possession in America.

Now, the wary Luders had never trusted banks. All his papers he carried about with him, and this proved his undoing. When he went to bring forth this precious document he could find it neither high nor low. For all purposes, it was utterly and irretrievably lost. In his voluminous mass of material it had been swallowed up, and for the inspection of the judge in the old country he could return absolutely nothing.

Just here the whole estate almost went by the board—as far as Luders or his heirs and assignees could be concerned. It was paying a handsome income at the time, and on its broad acres two of Luders's nephews had just started a dairy farm. The owner contemplated large improvements, which would doubtless have increased his returns, and he was just about to carry his designs into effect when the Vandevorts brought their untimely suit.

After his failure to produce, things looked dark indeed for Luders. Notwithstanding the age of the transaction, two witnesses were to be found who were willing to swear that all was as he said. This helped some, as did a sworn and entered copy of the title, but the mind of the court was still not quite convinced, and he gave restraining orders tying up the whole property until additional facts should be discovered. Luders still retained the income, but he was forbidden by order of the judiciary to make any changes, improvements or sales, and, as a consequence, the place ran down, and Luders's once fine income kept easily abreast of its disastrous flight.

That happened fifteen years ago. Returns from the butter and cheese plant fell off so that the owner had to open a shoe store near Chicago and battle commercially to eke out a living. Hope began to dwindle as the months lengthened into years and still no sign of the missing paper could be discovered. It seemed indeed as if the Vandevorts were to retain final undisputed possession of the land which Luders knew so well was his, not theirs.

Last spring Mrs. Luders had a hard attack of pneumonia, and as soon as she was able to travel her husband placed her on the California Limited, and started for this Coast. Arriving in Los Angeles they made themselves as comfortable as possible on their limited means, and have been spending the summer here. Mrs. Luders has not regained her wonted health, and last week they decided to return to Chicago. As usual, the head of the family had brought his most valuable documentary possessions with him, and these, just before he packed his trunks for the return trip, he carefully sorted over and checked off, to make sure that all were there.

In a bunch of letters, tied with a piece of cotton twine, was a deed to a house and lot in Morgan Park, one of Chicago's suburbs. This deed was in an envelope, and as its owner removed it to make sure of its identity, a little yellow slip of parchment fell out and dropped almost unnoticed to the floor. Casually catching it up, Luders unfolded it with a jerk of his hand—and nearly fainted. It was the original bill of sale of the Schleswig-Holstein dairy farm.

How it got there he does not know. He was too wild with delight to know very much of anything, but in much haste he finished his packing and telegraphed the good news to his sons in the East. He and his wife are now on their way to Chicago, and when they arrive one of their children will meet them, and will take the paper back to Germany to exhibit to the proper authorities.

GRAFTER FORSAKEN BY WOMAN'S ALLIANCE.

UNITY CHURCH WILL HAVE NAUGHT TO DO WITH HER.

She Says She Will Stick it Out. Claims She Made Deal With Miss M. M. Fette—Good Job Done by M. and M. Association.

Support has fallen from under the "charity benefit" scheme promoted by a "Mrs. Jones" on the indorsement of certain members of the Woman's Alliance of Unity Church, details of which were given in The Times yesterday. After a meeting of the Woman's Alliance yesterday, called for the purpose of consulting over the affair, Miss A. R. Griffith, president of the organization, gave out the following statement:

"In view of recent developments, the Woman's Alliance of Unity Church withdraws all support from the entertainment advertised to take place under its auspices at the Woman's Club House, November 10, to benefit local charities."

The promoter of the proposed "benefit" called upon Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association during the day and stated that she would go ahead with the entertainment as advertised, despite opposition. She said that she had simply made a legitimate contract with the officers of the church organization—principally with Miss Margaret M. Fette, the second vice-president, it seems—and that they had gone into the business proposition with eyes open. It develops that the church was not promised $150 as its proportion of the proceeds, but only $75 and 100 tickets to sell as it might. The promoter claims to have deposited $25 cash on the amount promised the church; also to have deposited $50 as a guarantee for a lecturer to give the entertainment, and a sum on the rental of the Woman's Club House. Thus she finds herself "up against it," and blames Los Angeles for being the only city on her list in which she has ever been interfered with in her business of promoting "benefits."

The persuasive feminine ticket sellers who have been working among the merchants on behalf of the "benefit" in question, were employed on the basis of 20 per cent. profit on the tickets they sold at $1 per.

But for the exposure by Secretary Zeehandelaar the boss woman grafter would have made $500 to $1000, and given Unity Church $75 for the chance.

ANGELENO WALLOPS BURGLAR.

Joe D. Gleason Lays Out New York Robber and His Pals, After Desperate Fight.

Here's a case of where Los Angeles muscle proved too much for even a tough New York burglar. A short time ago E. W. Travir, a Los Angeles product at present sojourning in the biggest city of the Empire State, made the acquaintance of a stranger, and, thinking him a good fellow, invited him to his room. No sooner had they gotten there than the intruder, locking the door suddenly, made a quick grab at his host and clutched him by the throat, relieving him of watch, pocketbook and cuff-buttons. He made good his escape.

A few mornings after Travir and Joe D. Gleason, another Angeleño, were walking down Fifth avenue, when Travir espied his "friend." Gleason was "put next," and immediately proposed to grapple with the robber. He did so, and had just landed him on his back, with Travir's enthusiastic assistance, when he suddenly pulled loose and showed fight. He was downed again, and when apparently peaceable, Travir started off to find a policeman. Two pals of the robber then suddenly came up and mixed it with their man's captor, Gleason of course being pulled off in the mix-up. Gleason chased the outfit for a block and a half, caught them and was again beaten off, ran again, finally hailed a hack to help the pursuit, and at last landed the right one. This desperado is nowing languishing in the Tombs.

Gleason is an artist, and also somewhat of an athlete. He and Walter Shackler were a favorite "team" in Southern California prior to Gleason's departure for the East.

In the Near Future.

Domestic: Don't you want to go out this afternoon, Mrs. Manning?

Mistress: Yes, Mary, I should like to go out, but I'm afraid it will incommode you.

Domestic: Oh, never mind me, ma'am; it's so long since you've had an afternoon off I must insist that you take one today. But be sure and come home early, I may have callers, you know, and I shall want somebody to tend the door.—[Boston Transcript.

FIRES DROVE GOPHERS OUT.

More Good than Harm Done by Foothill Blazes.

Last Night's Fog Put an End to Danger of Conflagration.

Rancher Mounts House and Flees from the Advancing Flames.

Not nearly so much damage as was anticipated has been done by the fires which have raged in the Santa Monica hills. In some instances the work of the flames has been an actual benefit, by clearing the land of vegetable and animal pests. They have left a burned-over district which is in a number of localities highly spectacular. Thousands of gophers have been expatriated.

Two fires may be said to have done the work. One of them on Monday afternoon swept from the westward into Burke's Cañon northeast of the Soldiers' Home and raced down into the lower grounds. W. D. Wheeler, who lives not far from the mouth of the cañon, made a stubborn fight to protect his ranch buildings, and kept the flames from them. He was assisted by N. Wolfskill and son. With gunny-sacks soaked with water, they beat the fire out as it approached the barns and house.

Moving eastward the fire line descended into the outer end of De Camp's Cañon and out into the barley fields lying southward from the mouth. Several hundred acres there were devastated, but the loss was mainly of straw and other things of less value. There was a bit of back firing attempted, but it did not seem to be effective. The fire swept across the plowed stripe but did not go far up the cañon.

Much the bigger fire was the one which swept over the upper part of Santa Monica Cañon Tuesday afternoon and into some of the smaller cañons opening from it. Its origin is undetermined. An area two miles in length and ranging from a quarter to a half mile in width was quickly transformed from a field densely covered with sage brush and other wild growths to a picture of desolation painted in black and white. The bushes, stripped of their leaves and smaller branches, stand stark and black, free to defile the hand or the garment that touches them. The ground is a great piece of charred surface, sharply relieved by patches of white ash. Here and there a part of a tree is still smoking and there is an occasional flicker of a blaze. Generally the burned area seems like a view of death.

One of the most exciting incidents of the fire was the experience of Joseph Lamotte of Sullivan's Cañon. He had his horse hitched in the Santa Monica Cañon and was fighting the fire. Near the center of Santa Monica Cañon is a deep well. To that he went with the intention of drawing water to soak a gunny sack for fire-fighting purposes. With all the rope that he could find he was unable to reach down to the water. Meantime, the flames, fed by the resinous sage brush, were leaping that way rapidly, and it became so hot that Lamotte had to flee. Quickly running to his horse he unhitched the animal and made for a place of safety.

By a singular condition of the wild growths which fed the flames the apiary of George W. Broadbeck, near the head of Santa Monica Cañon escaped destruction. The fire swept all around it, but did not approach close to the hives. The ground was burned over several months ago, which fact seems to account for its protection from the flames.

Carl Burke of the cañon bearing his name was nearly burned out, but a vigorous use of gunny sacks saved his home.

A shift of the wind so that it blew from the southward saved the John P. Jones ranch buildings, in Sepulveda Cañon. Up the westerly slope of the cañon next westward the flames came rapidly. Rabbits and gophers, frightened by the heat and smoke, came scurrying ahead of the fire line. The accumulations of brush which increased the menace are being removed so the ranch buildings will be safe from fires, should there be any more sweeping in that vicinity.

Charged with an unusual weight of moisture a fog drifted in over the burned district yesterday afternoon. The fog has undoubtedly eliminated nearly all danger of further extensions of the fires. Generally the brush in the cañons is not as dry as was supposed, and the greater part of it will not readily catch the flames.

METHODISM'S NEW BRANCH.

West Adams Street Church Begins Its Services in Bishop Hamilton's Newly Built House—Class Will Organize.

Los Angeles Methodism has established another station in the chain of its working forces, and last Sunday witnessed the opening of the new work in the Adams-street district. The new church will be known as the West Adams-street Church, and is established in a territory thickly settled and not reached by any other denomination.

As a temporary headquarters for the work Bishop J. M. Hamilton has erected a handsome two-story residence at No. 1901 West Adams street, and the first floor of this building is to be used for the Sunday-school and the public services. The pastor, Rev. P. H. Bodkin, will also reside there.

The Sunday-school was organized last Sunday morning with over forty pupils, and the first sermon was preached by the new presiding elder, Dr. Adkinson. Effective work has been done in a canvass of the district by the deaconess, Miss Anderson. The lower floor will seat about 100 people, and the first services attracted a company sufficient to well fill the house.

Next Sunday morning Rev. P. H. Bodkin will deliver his first sermon in the new work, and there will be regular public service and Sunday-school each Sunday morning hereafter. It is the intention to organize a regular Methodist class the first Sunday in November.

Real Thing.

"Do you know anything about the rule of three?" asked the drummer.

"Well, I guess yes," replied the grocer with the weary facial expression. "I've got a wife, a two-year-old daughter and a mother-in-law."—[Chicago Daily News.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Committee on Legislation expects to draft an ordinance regulating the use of automobiles and has under consideration some suggestions from European cities published by the Municipal Journal and Engineer.

The Park Commission made a partial inspection of the park system yesterday. They scored the Street Superintendent for failure to sprinkle the park roadways.

Archie Hill's defense began yesterday; he claims that he shot only in self-defense.

The Garland case will go to the jury this morning.

AT THE CITY HALL.

SOME REGULATIONS FOR THE AUTOMOBILISTS.

MUNICIPAL JOURNAL GIVES A FEW SAMPLES FROM EUROPE.

Local City Council Expects to Again Formulate an Ordinance Providing Suitable Rules Regarding Use of Horseless Vehicles on Streets.

Filed away but not forgotten is the ordinance passed by the Council some time ago to regulate the use of automobiles in the city. In the near future the Committee on Legislation expects to attempt the formulation of another ordinance broader in its scope than the one which was recalled from the Mayor at the last minute two weeks ago.

This measure provided among other things that each automobile must take out a license number and that the number must be attached to the rear of the machine in figures six inches high and correspondingly wide. It was also provided that the machine must be equipped with a lamp so placed as to illuminate the number at night.

Great sport was made of this ordinance by the local automobile fraternity, and there were certainly phases of the ordinance which justified the criticism. For instance, the ordinance provided for two lamps on the rear of the machine and for none in front. Other incongruities were discovered by the owners and chauffeurs of the horseless carriages and the Council was laughed out of countenance. A little study of the subject, however, leads to the conclusion that the Councilmen were not far off the track, even if the ordinance was extremely crude.

Eastern cities are now passing ordinances to regulate the use of automobiles and the Municipal Journal and Engineer has published in the current number some of the regulations established in the principal cities of Europe where "autos" are even more generally used.

According to this article the authorities of Havre compel automobilists to paint the number of their machine license with white paint on a dark background and each figure must be 5 9-10 inches in height and 1 8-10 inches wide and readable at a distance of fifty-four yards. A charge of 29 cents is made for the official number. A certificate of capacity issued by the prefect of the district must be shown by all "autos" entering the city, and the fee of 29 cents must be paid, but this is refunded if the "auto" leaves the city within a stated time. A maximum speed of 6¼ miles an hour is permitted within the city and at crossings and along park drives the automobilist must not exceed the pace of a horse walking. Good brakes are demanded.

France has enacted general laws dealing with the question. These require that every machine must have two brakes, each separate from the other; must display the name and residence of the owner conspicuously; must carry one white and one green lamp in front, and must not travel at a greater speed than eighteen miles an hour in any portion of the country without special permit.

The Berlin authorities demand a brake that will stop a machine traveling at the maximum lawful speed in twenty-six feet. A bell, and a lamp that will cast its rays sixty-three feet are required. The machine must prominently display the name of the owner and the driver must be registered.

In Frankfort the name of the owner must be painted on the left side of the machine, so that it can be clearly read.

Dresden charges a license fee ranging from $1.19 to $4.76. Nine miles is the maximum speed allowed, and no machine is allowed to turn in front of ridden or driven animals.

In the Netherlands all machines to travel on the State roads must display a number in figures 4 7-10 inches high and 2 4-10 inches wide, painted in black and white on the opposite background. A bell or horn that can be heard 327 feet must be used. In the country the maximum speed is fixed at 12 4-10 miles an hour and in cities at 4 9-10 miles.

Amsterdam requires each machine to have attached a certificate signed by the Chief of Police with number plates in front and rear with lamps so placed that the numbers are illuminated at night.

Vienna, Austria, requires that all machines shall be inspected and approved and shall carry certificates of approbation. Independent brakes are demanded and lamps that will throw the light rays twenty-two yards. The rate of speed at corners cannot be greater than that of the ordinary pedestrian If an accident occur and a violation of the rules can be shown the guilty party can be imprisoned from one month to three years. If violation be shown and no accident occurs a fine of from $2 to $22 may be levied.

Antwerp, Belgium, enforces a regulation which might be acceptable to the local automobile fraternity. In this city each machine must be equipped in front and rear with lamps fitted with transparent glass on three sides and the number of the machine is shown on the glass in red or black letters.

In Brussels metal plates bearing the number of the machine are attached to the front and rear of the machine.

INSPECT PARKS.

COMMISSIONERS TAKE A DRIVE.

Under the expert guidance of Harry L. Hopkins, secretary of the Park Commission, the members of that body with the exception of Mayor Snyder, inspected several of the parks yesterday. The trip was primarily for the benefit of Col. J. B. Lankershim, the new member of the commission, who had never before made an official visit to the parks. Whether the commissioner was able, with the aid of the inspiration received from the sanctum curtain talks for which Mayor Snyder is justly famous, to observe more shrewdly and plan more wisely than before he did not reveal.

Strange to say, the party of officials started within an hour of the time fixed, and only one was left behind. He was Commissioner Stewart, a doctor by profession, who reported that he became so deeply interested in the treatment of a case that he forgot the appointment. Dr. Stewart joined the party at Westlake Park. Besides the commissioners the party included Superintendent Legrand, Assistant Superintendent Morley, Louis Schwaebe and representatives of the daily papers.

Central Park was visited and various plans for bettering its appearance discussed. Commissioner Lankershim took several pictures with a kodak. At Westlake Park, which was next in order, "Col." Lankershim snap-shotted the alligator, the swans and other features, and the party took a sail about the lake, which was voted the easiest way to view the park on a hot day.

At St. James Park, Col. Lankershim took a picture of the big cluster of "elephant's ear" and included a group of children.

From St. James Park the commissioners took the "straight-away" route for South Park, but, of course, they couldn't help driving along the fences at Agricultural Park, just to catch a glimpse of the fleet runners on the track. The great advantage of annexing Agricultural Park to the city system, establishing a speedway and beautifying the large acreage with trees and shrubs never appealed more strongly to the commissioners than yesterday. However, the title to the property is so hopelessly involved that it is doubtful if the hope will soon be realized.

At South Park a remarkable transformation was noted in the appearance of the park. The last time the commissioners visited it there was little greenesward and no flowers worth picking. A vast improvement has been made by Foreman Edward R. Reese and his assistants. There is now a fine expanse of lawn and many beds of flowers. Bouquets were presented to the members of the party. The commissioners discussed the advisability of planting sarubs over the greater portion of the park area, and it is probable that this course will be pursued, as the sandy soil demands so much water that large expanses of lawn cannot well be maintained. There are quite a number of bearing fruit trees in this park.

After a few more "snap shots" by Col. Lankershim, the party returned to the City Hall. Next Wednesday afternoon Hollenbeck, Eastlake and Elysian parks will be visited, and at some later date the commissioners will visit Griffith Park.

ROADWAYS NOT SPRINKLED.

The Park Commissioners believe they have good reason to protest at the failure of the street department to properly sprinkle the park drives. When the city paid but $59,000 a year for street sprinkling, Contractor Cross regularly sprinkled the park roadways. It was stated yesterday that there has not been a sprinkling wagon inside of any of the parks for three months, although the city now pays over $100,000 a year for the service. As a result the dust is quite noticeable on some of the drives. The particles settle on the plants and sarubbery, on the lawns and on the people who visit the parks much to the discomfort and detriment of all concerned.

The park officials reason very sententiously that the park drives in which all the people of the city are presumed to be equally interested should certainly receive some attention from the street department; at least as much attention as is given to many of the little traveled and seldom visited improved streets in the suburbs of the city. Street Superintendent Werdin is said to have promised to sprinkle the park drives, at least on Saturdays, but thus far the parks have not benefited from the decision expressed by the superintendent.

It is certain that the city must arrange in some way to sprinkle the park drives, as the street railway companies cannot reasonably be expected to include this duty under their franchise requirements. Either the Street Superintendent must devote some attention to the parks or the city must buy special sprinkling wagons for this service.

To Inspect City Hall.

President Bowen of the Council appointed two architects yesterday to serve with Building Superintendent Krause on the commission that will inspect the floors of the City Hall building. John C. Austin and John Parkinson were the architects named. The special commission will particularly investigate the flooring in the library, where heavy loads of books have been placed upon floors not originally intended to sustatin any great amount of weight.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

ALLEGED PERIL WAS CONDUCTOR'S PUNCH.

THIS IS WHAT ARCHIE HILL HANGS HIS DEFENSE ON.

Hopes to Escape the Gallows by Making Self-Defense Out of a Little Ticket Punch—Testimony of Two Boys Who Saw Struggle.

Archie Hill's lawyers are trying to show that he had to shoot Conductor Carlton to save his own life.

Witnesses were put on in his defense yesterday.

Cross-examination of one of them showed, however, that Hill's deadly peril was from a conductor's punch fastened to the coat of the murdered conductor by a rubber about four inches long.

One of the first witnesses for the defense was a little boy named Sylvester Kohler. He happened to be walking along the street just as Hill shot the conductor on the Pasadena car, it was on one of the main streets in Pasadena.

Young Kohler said that he saw two men struggling on the car, and saw Hill fall off as though he had been thrown. During the struggle the conductor raised his hand above his head and struck Hill four or five times. As the blows were struck, he saw something flash in the conductor's hand. On cross-examination he said he thought it was his punch. He did not explain how it was that he raised the punch over his head to strike when it was fastened to his coat by an ordinary short rubber.

Another little boy testified that he was riding alongside the car on a bicycle at the time of the shooting. He also saw the struggle; he said nothing about the flash.

Hill's defense will be continued today.

POLICE COURT.

MINOR CASES.

A drunken row in which he stabbed Sandoval Ramirez three times in the back cost Vicente Apresa $90 or ninety days, in the Police Court yesterday, and he will think three times before each stab instead of stabbing three times before each think hereafter.

Ed. D. Chepples, who stole a bicycle, suffered severely in being held to answer on the special grand larceny charge provided for cases of the sort yesterday. He was held to answer in the sum of $1000.

MIXED IDENTITY.

YOUNG ARTIST'S NAMES.

A queer case of a young artist, who went to Paris, under an assumed name and died there, came to light yesterday.

His real name seems to have been Henry Lewis Sweinhart, but he lived here under the name of Harry Lewis, and did his banking under that name.

These facts have been discovered by letters written to the Public Administrator laying claim to the money he left.

The letters and documents show that Sweinhart lived here for five or six months, presumably as Harry Lewis. Under that name he deposited $2300 with the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, and took two certificates of deposit. This was last April.

His Paris art career was short-lived. He died there August 8.

There seems to be something queeer under and beyond all these facts. It is expected that the publication of these facts will bring to light additional details in regard to the case.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

REFLECTIONS ON THE DOCTOR. Clyde M. Young cast aspersions on the doctor of the Los Angeles & Redondo Railway Company in a damage suit filed yesterday. He alleged that his left arm was broken, while coupling cars, and the company's doctor set it so that it couldn't join. Young declares. He asks $10,000 damages.

GARLAND CASE DONE. The Garland case will go to the jury this morning, the last argument having been presented yesterday. The arguments were all unusually good. The first yesterday was delivered by George J. Denis, followed by Clarence Miller, Esq. Attorney Hunsaker closed the case. The instructions will be read to the jury this morning.

HAD A MIX-UP. Frank J. Goodwin brought suit against the Home Telephone Company yesterday for $10,000 damages. He claims that employés of the company came into his grocery store and beat him. The company claimed the right to go into the store.

HEAVED ROCKS. Sunday night two boys revenged themselves against a Southern Pacific conductor who wouldn't let them ride free on the train to Los Angeles. They were put off at Wilmington. Picking up rocks they heaved them through the windows, missing the conductor whose skin they sought to puncture, but hitting a passenger, who is a guest at the Angelus. Complaints issued for the boys yesterday from the District Attorney's office, charging them as Joseph Francis and Robert Bird.

DIVORCES. The following divorces were granted yesterday in the Superior Court: Laura Bohanan from Hezekiah Bohanan, desertion and now-support; Laura V. Stiles from Rerich Stiles, cruelty; Josephine Bresnahan from Timothy Bresnahan, intemperance and desertion.

ARCHITECT'S FIRE TEST.

His Little Building Uninjured After Being Subjected to Intense Heat for Over an Hour.

The fire test made yesterday at the northeast corner of Broadway and Franklin streets seemed to show that a cement and plaster covering on herring bone expanded metal lath was at least semi-fireproof.

A little house, 8x8x8 feet, made of that material, was subjected for over an hour to a heat of over 2000 degs. Fahrenheit, and after the fires cooled down the building was taken apart and was found to be uninjured, even the studding being uncharred and without signs of having been near the point of ignition. The experiment was conducted by Architect A. L. Haley. Among those present were Mayor Snyder, Councilmen Skilling, Farish, Davenport, Kerr, Nofsiger, Building Superintendent Krause, several of the city Fire Commissioners, Architects Krempel, Austin, Cosserisan, Parmentier and other architects and citizens.

Voice Culture.

"I like the looks of this bird. What is it worth?"

"Only $8, ma'am, and it's cheap for that parrot. He learned to talk by the new method."

"What's that?"

"By making him listen to a phonograph."

"Does he talk like a phonograph?"

"Exactly, ma'am."

"I am glad you told me. Show me some other bird."—Chicago Tribune.

JUST IN TIME.

A motorman in Chicago ran his car onto the approach of an open bridge but stopped it with the fender actually overhanging the gulf below. He wouldn't want to repeat the experiment because the chances are that he'd never again have the same good fortune.

Once in a while some one who has traveled to the very edge of the danger line of stomach disease stops just in time to save his health. But the majority of people go across the line, and slight symptoms of indigestion grow to disease of the stomach, involving the other organs of digestion and nutrition.

Indigestion and other forms of stomach "trouble" are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the whole body by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"I have been suffering for about eight years," writes Mrs. H. Pierce, of Millspringe, Ky. "Have had several doctors to treat me—some for female weakness and others for stomach trouble, but received no relief. When I wrote you for advice I was hardly able to work, and you advised me what to do. I took nine bottles, five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' four of 'Favorite Prescription,' also two vials of the 'Pellets.' Dr. Pierce's medicines will do all that you claim for them. Believe I would have been in my grave if I had not taken them."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TO OUR CLIENTS:

Personally, I desire to impress on every customer and correspondent, of the Southwestern Securities Company, that the stock placed in our hands, as the Fiscal Agents by the Pacific Pure Food Company, is a security which combines safety, with large promise of returns, the equal of which I do not expect to be able to offer you again in the near future. Because:

1st,--This offering of stock is made for publicity purposes and is generous to the extent of practically giving you an interest in this business in return for evidence of your faith in its future.

2nd.--There is no more profitable manufacturing business in existence than prepared foods and bakery products. The output of such a concern is turned rapidly and the stock on hand at the beginning of one month will all be exhausted and duplicated many times during the month, so that the profits are not delayed and the working capital is ever in use. It is alive and active and does not depend upon, nor is it influenced by, styles or fashions, whims or caprices, which jeopardise the capital invested in so many other institutions.

3rd.--This stock may not be had longer than SIX more days at this special price of 15 cents per share of $1 par value, as that is the limit allowed us in which to make this exceptional offer and while they have instructed us simply to make this offering to the public in the nature of a general advertising campaign, bringing before the public the merits of Sunshine Cereal Food, Sunshine Bread, Sunshine Crackers, Cookies, etc., (on sale at all grocers,) nevertheless, I feel this is worthy of the strongest recommendation and indorsement to the investing public, therefore this statement.

Govern yourself accordingly. Six days more,--15 cents per share, par value, $1.

Yours very truly,

The two main points to be considered in buying life insurance are its cost price and the stability of the company. These two points are most satisfactorily covered by the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co.

Of Newark, New Jersey.

It is 58 years old and its present financial showing proves its solidity. It is purely a mutual company, economically managed, and is able to and does sell insurance at less than others. Let me explain the many other advantages of Mutual Benefit Insurance.

BIG SALARIES AN EXCEPTION.

Hard Work and Poor Pay the Preacher's Lot.

Many Miles of Churches Built in Past Fifty Years.

Congregational Convention Closes Its Annual Session in This City.

Persons who imagine that the ministry is a sinecure—that the preacher has no work to do, and good pay—would have been enlightened had they heard some of the talk at the Congregational convention yesterday.

The question before the association was the report of the Committee on Ministerial Relief. It is not necessary to refer to the meager stipend received by the several beneficiaries or to find fault with the able-bodied ministers who gave so little to the support of their infirm brothers and to the families of those who have died.

That many ministers have struggles for existence unknown to the man in any ordinary business calling, was made manifest when a proposition was made in the meeting of the Ministerial Relief Association that each minister be requested to contribute $5 per year to the relief fund. Many were the expressions that it would be a hardship upon ministers to pay that so trifling a sum.

To the average worker on a salary, the appeal of "Father" Bristol, as he is affectionately called by all the ministers, was pathetic, though delivered with cheerfulness and confidence in his ability to fulfill his obligation. Well dressed and devout in manner, Father Bristol went to the platform to say his word on the $5 proposition. He began by urging every minister to comply with the request, as he said he felt confident the way would be opened for them to pay their obligation, and then he said with deep feeling:

"My income is not over $300 a year, to keep myself and family, but I am ready to pledge $5 a year to support those dear brethren who have spent their lives in preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ."

There were a number of brief talks on the subject by ministers who probably receive salaries that would cause people to wonder how they exist, for they nearly all spoke of the hardship that such action would inflict upon many of their number. The motion was finally adopted as a recommendation to the members of the association.

The attendance was large at all the sessions of the association yesterday. The new First Congregational Church is admirably adapted to convention purposes and the large crowds about the different parts of the structure did not in the least interfere with each other.

At noon a delightful luncheon was served by the ladies of the church to all ministers and delegates, and all other persons from outside the city. The large dining-room is in the basement under the parish house, and is fitted up with everything necessary to serve a great number of people.

The convention proper closed yesterday, but a "pastors' retreat" will be held this morning at 9 o'clock, and the ladies will also hold a devotional meeting at the same hour.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

The Committee on Nominations reported the following standing committees which were confirmed by the association:

Committee on Arrangements for next meeting—Pastor of the entertaining church, Rev. H. Kingman of Claremont and E. K. Holden of San Bernardino.

Foreign Missions—Rev. R. B. Larkin, Rev. Henry Kingman, Mrs. George G. Harrison, Mrs. J. H. Williams, G. Stanley.

Education—Rev. W. H. Day, C. E. Maynard, Rev. J. H. Mallows.

Temperance—Edward F. Hahn, N. T. Edwards.

Publication—Rev. F. J. Culver, A. I. Bushnell, Rev. J. L. Malle.

Intercongregational Comity—Rev. N. T. Rowell, S. H. Herrick, E. C. Mortimer.

Sabbath Observance—Rev. Frank Foster, Rev. W. H. Wolcott, B. F. Coates.

Delegates to General Association—Rev. N. T. Edwards and W. C. Merrill, Rev. T. Edwards and Albert Wilkes.

Committee on Pacific Coast Congress—President George A. Gates of Pomona College, Rev. J. L. Maile, Rev. Dr. W. F. Day.

Committee through which the churches enter into management of the Congregational Home Missionary Society—Dr. W. F. Day, G. A. Gates, George W. Marston and S. H. Herrick.

BRIGHT POMONA GIRL.

Miss Jean Loomis, a bright graduate of Pomona, but whose home is Pasadena, was put up yesterday to say a good word for the denominational college, and she said it well.

"When you ask a child of Pomona College about his alma mater," said Miss Loomis, "what he will most likely say is: 'Oh, she's all right.' What he really means, is that, somehow or other, she has touched the right spot in his life.

"When she was established in a five-room cottage in Pomona fifteen years ago she was not as beautiful as she is now, but she always just as fondly fostered the family placed under her care.

"In baseball, football and other field sports Pomona has often held the championship, and of their record they have no reason to be ashamed. But they have brain as well as brawn, and in oratorical contests they sometimes push their antagonists clear off the field.

"A small college, let us hope, Pomona will always be, in order to permit of that close fellowship between student and teacher that, in the case of the teachers at Pomona, has always meant so much in the life of the student."

Miss Loomis's paper was lengthy, but it was all good, and she was frequently interrupted by applause.

SIZE OF A PREACHER.

Prof. W. F. Bade of the faculty of Pacific Seminary at Berkeley, was given the opportunity to represent his institution to the association, and he delivered a masterly discourse upon the theological training of the ages. In speaking for the thoroughness and orthodoxy of the institution he represents, Mr. Bade used the following apt figure of speech:

"As a cannon must be at least one hundred times heavier than the shot it shoots, so a preacher must be proportionately greater than the thought he preaches."

Pacific Seminary was formerly located at Oakland, but two years ago was moved up to the gates of knowledge at Berkeley. The change has been most beneficial to the seminary, and Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the State University, says it has been beneficial to that institution.

FIFTY YEARS OF IT.

An interesting paper was read by Rev. George Robertson of Mentone, upon "Fifty Years of Church Building."

"When there were no churches in London," said the speaker, "a man could get drunk in a gin shop for a penny; in the mining camps of Western America, before the days of church building, a man could be shot for a pair of shoes.

"The Congregational Society, now known as the Church-Building Association, was organized in Massachusetts, May 11, 1853. In the fifty years that have intervened there have been built between 4000 and 5000 Congregational churches, which if set side by side with their parsonages would reach for a distance of 231 miles. In Southern California the association has aided fifty-three churches, among them the First Church of this city. In 1868 this church was given a loan to start its work, and in a few years following the amount was increased to $4590, and the church has returned to the association $5000. In all twelve churches have thus been aided in this city."

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

A service was held during the forenoon session to listen to eulogies upon the late Rev. Samuel G. Arnett, by Rev. N. T. Edwards of Whittier; and upon the late Rev. L. H. Frary, by Rev. E. E. P. Abbott of Chula Vista.

A talk by George W. Marston of San Diego upon "Development of Benevolent Resources," was of a practical nature, going into the details of systems for the collection of benevolent funds upon a systematic plan. He also took the stand that the men to fill places in the foreign mission field are harder to get than the money necessary to send them.

ALL TAKE MURPHY IN.

Francis Murphy, the gospel temperance advocate, was seen in the auditorium and by unanimous vote was admitted to honorary membership in the association. He was called to the platform, and in his characteristic way expressed his thanks for the honor. As he has been admitted to honorary membership in the religious bodies of every denomination where he has appeared, he said, among other things:

"Glory be to God, I belong to all the Christian people, and I labor to get men into all the churches. If you want to lift humanity you must begin at the bottom, and in my humble way that's what I've been trying to do."

COMPLIMENT TO YOUNG MAN.

Rev. William Horace Day, pastor of the First Congregational Church, this city, was chosen by the committee having the matter in charge, to preach the annual sermon at the meeting of the association next year.

MISSIONARY MEETING.

A missionary anniversary was held last night at which the principal address was made by Rev. Dr. R. R. Meredith of Pasadena. Other addresses were made by Miss Belle Angier of San Diego, her subject being "The American Board," and by Paul Brown upon the subject of "The Young People."

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

Today marks a reawakening in the social world, with Mrs. Gwynne's notable function at the Woman's Club House this afternoon, Miss de Rudio's home wedding at 1 o'clock, a dance at the Country Club this evening, Miss Cooper's marriage to Frank Little this evening, and also for this evening the concert given by the Treble Clef Club under the patronship of Mrs. W. J. Scholl at the Woman's Club House, this concert being for a worthy philanthropic cause.

Coming Events.

One of the coming events which is casting its bright shadows before is the wedding of Miss Ethel McMullen of No. 2631 Brighton avenue, and G. Edwin Alderson, of the firm of Alderson & Son, which is to take place next Tuesday. Miss McMullen was delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Zobieski Gilhousen, and the health of the bride-to-be was drunk with original toasts and many quaint conceits:

"Here's to the bride,
To her very good health;
Good fortune betide
With love and with wealth;
At home or abroad,
In sunshine or rain
God bless you, dear girl,
Again and again."

Those who shared in the pretty ceremonies were Mrs. Bean, Mrs. Hillman, Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Warren, Miss Gilhousen, Miss Grace Gilhousen and Miss Heap. The only gentleman present was Mr. Gilhousen, who sang the "Flower Song" from "Faust," to match the floral game that was played.

Quaint Custom.

Reminding one of Bigelow's Papers, where Zekiel and Huldy were cried "in meetin', come next Sunday," is the quaint custom of announcing marriages for three Sabbaths before the wedding really takes place. This is still followed in this modern Los Angeles in the German Lutheran Church on Eighth and Flower, and next Sunday will witness the second announcement of a wedding which promises to be the most elaborate seen in this church for many a day. This is the wedding of Miss Clara Dorothy Duehring, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Duehring, of No. 1408 West Twelfth street, and William H. Eley, of the Home Telephone Company, which will take place next Wednesday evening, Rev. George Runkel officiating. Four young ladies, dressed in white, will act as ushers, Miss Margaret Ziegelmeyer, Miss Mabel Clawson, Miss Inez Kirkwood and Miss Margaret Luchsinger. Fred Mitchell will serve as best man, and Allison Eley and George Fisher, as groomsmen. Miss Rosalind Eley will be maid of honor, and Miss Maud Lingo and Annie Gaffke will be the bridesmaids. Little Hildegarde Schreiber will scatter chrysanthemum petals for the bride, as this is to be a chrysanthemum wedding, and little Arthur Schreiber will carry the ring in the heart of a chrysanthemum. There will be a reception to friends, at the church after the ceremony, and a wedding supper served to the family at the residence of the bride. The young couple will go into their own home, which is completely furnished and awaits them at No. 1407 Girard street. They will receive their friends here after November 1.

Fish-Pearson.

Miss Selma Pearson and E. Willis Fish were married yesterday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Yerington, of No. 409 South Alvarado street, only relatives and intimate friends being present at the ceremony. The bride was handsomely gowned in white cashmere with all-over lace yoke and applique trimmings. The house was artistically decorated in ferns, red carnations and geraniums. Mr. and Mrs. Fish, after a brief honeymoon spent at one of the beaches, expect to go to Needles, where Mr. Fish represents the Home Supply Company of Los Angeles.

At Luncheon.

Mrs. John H. Buchanan charmingly entertained a coterie of friends at her home, No. 1029 West Seventeenth street, Friday afternoon with a well-appointed luncheon, complimentary to her guest, Mrs. Frank Smoit, who will depart shortly for Guadalajara, Mex. The drawing-room was artistically decorated in masses of fragrant roses, the dainty colorings blending with the handsome toilettes of the guests. The dining-room was decorated in smilax and roses. In the center of the table was a handsome candelabra supporting crimson candles with dainty shades of the same hue. Ropes of smilax and dainty crimson blooms were arranged on the damask. Covers were placed for the following-named guests: Mmes. J. R. Jasper, J. D. Baker and Ella M. Sheldon, L. Fleming, Chicago; W. L. Graham and C. D. Paul of Pueblo, Colo.; D. H. Imler and Miss Cora Hickman of Tropico.

D.O.A.R.

Eschscholtzia Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held their annual meeting for the election of officers at the home of Miss Abbie Adair No. 1039 West Twenty-first street, Tuesday afternoon. As testimony of their appreciation of the excellent management which has made their last year so successful, Mrs. H. Clay Gooding was reelected Regent of the chapter. The other officers are: Mrs. Mary Banning, vice-regent; Mrs. Mary Stillson, recording secretary; Miss Abbie Adair, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. W. McLeod, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Compton, registrar, and Mrs. McCoy, historian. Light refreshments were served and a delightful social time followed.

Wedding of Yesterday.

A. W. Remnitz and Miss Mabel Martin were married yesterday morning by Rev. C. J. K. Jones at the Church of the Unity, in the presence of the relatives of the bride. After the ceremony the couple left for Catalina Island, where they will sojourn for a short time, being at home to their friends after November 15, at No. 2400 West Ninth street, this city.

William T. Elkins, the millionaire, is seriously ill at his country home a few miles from Philadelphia. Elkins, it is said, is suffering from organic troubles and worry has added to his unsatisfactory physical condition.

ILLUSTRATIONS SHOWING THE FEW SIMPLE PROCESSES NECESSARY TO MAKE THE TENERIFFE WHEELS IN ZEPHYR WOOL AND VARIOUS STITCHES

A VERY interesting little experiment lately tried in lacemaking has proved an immense success.

A short time ago, as soon as the vogue of zephyr lace for trimming winter materials became established, a person had an inspiration on this subject.

Why not carry out the new idea of the wool in the popular teneriffe pattern, using the same instrument employed in making teneriffe thread?

The plan was put into execution at once. Result, a particularly smart trimming for a cloth gown, and one that a child could fashion after a few short instructions.

The instrument used (constructor is the technical name) is itself a recent invention. Before its introduction a few months ago all who made teneriffe lace were obliged to go about it in the old, laborious way, with needle and lace pillow.

The new device brings the dainty wheeled patterns within the reach of all. It turns off the lace so rapidly that you complete the trimming for your gown in the beginning of the season instead of at the end, as was usually the case with the old way.

Any woman who does not object to a little interesting handwork in the good cause of style may profitably invest in a "constructor."

First, see that the ring encircling the collar is pushed down from the teeth.

Turn the metal pinion on the side to a horizontal position.

Wind the loose end of the thread around the two prongs, so as to secure it, then turn the pinion to a vertical position.

Lay the foundation thread as follows, and in doing so be careful in starting not to overlap a thread already laid with one following. If jumbled up it greatly impedes the work, but if care is taken to carry each thread in its own space the working of the pattern is very easily accomplished.

The foundation being ready for weaving and knotting the pattern, an unlimited variety of lace wheels may be made and designed by the worker, originating of which is an interesting feature of the art. Instruction is given below for working an easy design:

Darn three times around, drawing the first row rather firmly, taking up two threads at a time. In order to alternate the rows of darning, take up four threads instead of two at the beginning of each new row, then continue by taking up two at a time. Having finished the third row of darning, fasten the beginning thread in the centre and then pass the needle through centre to opposite side, to make the darning firm before commencing to knot.

For the first circle of knotting bring the thread to second row of corrugation from the centre, take four threads, two from each tooth, and finish as shown in illustrations; draw thread through first knot, pass thread to third corrugation and take second row; take four threads, two from the last and two from the next lot, to form a cross; for third row take two threads, one from each tooth, the knots to be as close as possible to the outer edge of metal top.

The above instructions are for the 1½-inch size; for the 3-inch size use the second, fourth and outside ridges. Patterns may also be worked by knotting between the ridges, the lines serving as guides to keep the circle true.

Pretty as it is in white, a woman cannot repress a little "Oh" of appreciation when she first sees the teneriffe.

For they are dyeing it now—dyeing it to match color or tint in a gown. It is one of the most recent developments of the vogue.

Since the fairy-like wheels appeared and leaped into sudden popularity in the spring the wits of those to whom beautiful things come have been at work on it. The dyed trimming is one of several variations on the popular theme. It makes a lovely garniture for a hat of any sort.

A SYMPOSIUM ON HOUSEHOLD MANAGEMENT

CONDUCTED BY MARION HARLAND

I HAVE a noble husband and three lovely boys. My health is not good, and he does all he can to make things pleasant for me. When our servant is away he dresses and undresses the children, never spends his evenings away unless on necessary business, and then he says it is "so nice to be at home he wishes he didn't have to go."

I think mothers should teach their boys, until it becomes a part of their nature, to respect and look after their sisters and mothers. The world would not be so many neglected wives. For if a boy loves his mother and sisters and respects them from his boyhood, then gets a wife that tries her best to make his home happy, making the best of everything if they have to begin life in a humble manner, there would not be so many wretched homes and marriage would not be such a failure.

After this pertinent preamble, a new correspondent from far-off Utah proceeds to offer, as her initiation fee in the Great Circle, this recipe:

If ribbons are washed in the following manner they will look like new for a long time:

Make a good suds of wool or ivory soap (wool is best); when cold, wash the ribbon until perfectly clean; rinse in two or three waters. If the color is red, a little salt should be added to one of the rinse waters. Roll in a dry cloth or wrap around a smooth beer bottle until nearly dry. Then iron with a moderately warm iron. Trim the ends, and no one will know that your ribbon has been washed.

I have had some choice photographs in the parlor on the organ. A saucy fly has left his mark. Can you please tell me how to remove it without spoiling the picture? Flies are no respecters of articles or furniture, and where there are small children in the house flies will get in, do what you will to keep them out.

Can any of the members tell me of any disinfectant or any thing to burn that will keep flies out of a room? S. C.

1. CLEAN PHOTOGRAPHS WITH A BIT of old linen wrung out almost dry in lukewarm water to which a little ammonia has been added. Wipe immediately, before the water can dampen the picture.

For flies, dip small bits of sponge in oil of lavender and lay in saucers about the room. Flies dislike the odor of lavender.

Chivalrous Men Lacking in California

A LETTER from California reveals a nuisance that may be but imperfectly comprehended by dwellers at the North and East. Taking her word for the authenticity of her tale, we give it:

I thank you for your proffered kindness in giving information where southern ground meal can be obtained, for I am a homesick Southerner—homesick for articles and conditions of my own sunny Southland.

I am inexpressibly appreciative of the good and the beautiful in this land of "sunshine, fruits, flowers and old Spanish lore," but one condition, dear to a Southern woman's heart, is sadly lacking, viz.: thoughtful, chivalrous men in public places. Granting them the right and justice of seats in a crowded car, while women stand—seats for which women have paid—my plea is for consideration of delicate women who complain of nausea caused from cigar smoke being puffed into their faces by thoughtless men.

I am shocked to see in this city of refinement and culture a man in his office nonchalantly puffing tobacco smoke into his lady stenographer's face, or on the cars depriving ladies of the pure, free air by thoughtlessly lighting a cigar.

Did You Ever Meet a Burden-Bearer?

I HAVE been hoping that in your charming Omnium Gatherum some one would "enthuse" over the "home-made cooker." I had no "candy pail," but used what came to hand. This was a nail keg sawed off just above the first set of hoops. I lined it with papers to make my excelsior hold out; then stuffed that in around a lard pail (five pounds), making a nice cavity. Into the pail I pour the rolled wheat, rice or macaroni after it has boiled twenty minutes, and cover snugly with cushions. Such things come out at noon, or night, hot, and very nice. But meat and beans fail me.

I like to see old directions repeated. I am like the lawyer who said to his ambitious graduate: "Young man, I have forgotten more law than you ever read."

Did you ever, when the iron is cool and the fire low, lay a fold of paper on the stove and press a seam to perfection, or iron a handkerchief? Lacking pennyroyal, did you ever put tarweed under your bed to rout the fleas, or lay fly-paper under the same and catch 107 in two weeks? Did you ever slip a pan of cold water under the bed and prevent night sweats? I know two cases—bad cases—that were helped. Ever bathe the face in alum water and defy the mosquitoes? Ever put on your underclothing with the sunshine and outdoor air all in? No stove heat required. Ever use a metal conductor, spoon or stick in your fruit jars or jelly glasses to keep them from cracking? Ever boil the outside stalks of celery with macaroni and find it very good? Parsnips and salsify mixed are nice also. Ever add a little soda to too acid fruit so as not to have to make your every-day sauce too rich with sugar?

Ever study brevity! C. M. P.

BRAVA! DID YOU, FELLOW MEMBERS OF OUR FAMILY, "ever" meet a helpful, breezy, ready-witted and ready-handed woman like the writer of the foregoing letter without being the better for knowing her and knowing of her? Such an one should have the honorable degree of "B. B." (Burden-Bearer) conferred upon her by a vote of the constituency.

Removing Stains. Making Ice Cream Hard.

WILL you kindly tell me how to remove stains from a blue broadcloth skirt? They are of a brownish color. I have tried to take them out with benzine, but in vain.

Also, please give a recipe for making ice cream hard. We follow closely the directions given with the freezer, still the cream is soft in the bottom of the can. M. M.

1. TRY A MIXTURE OF TWO-THIRDS ETHER, one-third gasoline. Sponge well and wipe dry at once.

2. All ices are firmer for packing them down for several hours after they are frozen. Fill the space about the inner freezer with finely pounded ice and rock salt; throw a folded blanket or sack over the top and leave it thus for three hours. It will be a solid column.

Paste Clipped Recipes In Your Own Cookbook.

PERHAPS this may be of use to some of the housewives. Every week I find some useful suggestions on the Housewives' Page. I cut out what I wish to keep and paste it in one of two books—one a medical book, the other a book entitled "Priceless Recipes." Each of these books has pages reserved for this purpose.

As I paste my clippings I index them by placing the numbers of the pages in the regular index. In this way it is no trouble at all for me to find just what I want.

One is so apt to put away these little clippings "carefully" and then not be able to find them when are are needed most. E. S. T.

How to Clean Highly Polished Furniture.

NOTICING Mrs. C. McM.'s query as to how she should clean a highly polished oak dining room suite, also rosewood piano, I will give my experience with cleaning this spring. I found that a very strong solution of borax (just as much as the water will take up), used by wringing the rag out of it and wiping off the furniture a little at a time, and quickly wiping with a dry rag, will leave the furniture polished like new. The water must be kept as hot as possible, and if there are any obstinate places, just wring the rag out and put a little borax on and rub, and it will soon disappear. I will state that I used it on highly polished oak, curly birch, mahogany and cherry, and it made them beautifully clean and shining. You must, of course, do only a little at a time, or the water will dry on the furniture and it will not look polished. This takes off all that greasy and smeary look which comes from using an oily rag to polish with and the dark look which comes from the dust settling in light wood furniture. C. N. M.

Exercise Great Care In the Use of Gasoline.

IN YOUR COLUMN lately was an article on the use of gasoline for moths. Very good! I have used it for years—but leave windows and doors open.

Four or five years ago I read in a Dakota paper of using gasoline in this way and closing the rooms up. A few days after a man entered with a lamp, lighted. A terrific explosion followed, and several were killed. Hence the warning! Along with my warning I will put in a time-saving pie crust F. E. D.

AFTER GASOLINE IS USED IN A ROOM it should be locked up and the key taken from the door. No one should enter the room for at least twelve hours, and then in broad daylight. The windows should be kept open for the rest of the day and night.

I thank you for warning and for recipe. The latter will appear in the Recipe Column.

DON'T MAKE A LUNCHEON OF THE SCRAPS

HOW often the home luncheon degenerates into a feast of scraps! The "head of the house" is absent. The children eat it as hurriedly as is consistent with digestion in order to return to school; and in other ways the little meal seems to lend itself to economy.

But inexpensiveness and flatness are far from being synonymous terms in a menu, as the following culinary statistics go to show.

Economy here should take the form of wise expenditure and watchfulness in filling the market basket.

MENU

Bouillon
Salmon a la Reine
Ham Croquettes Macaroni
Pan Fried Crackers and Cheese
Iced Rice Pudding Compote of Oranges
Cake

The cost of this lunch is given in detail. One soup bone at 10c., with vegetables 12½c.

One pound of salmon at 10c, with milk sauce and a liberal allowance of bread crumbs 15c.

For the croquettes a ham bone is purchased at 5c., from which all of the meat has been cut, leaving only small pieces. This with the yolks of the eggs and potatoes will come to 15c. With them hot whole-wheat rolls are served.

By purchasing macaroni in large quantities, enough for ten people can be served with a plain milk sauce for 10c. The peas are 12½c. per can, and are mashed in mayonnaise, for which is used one-fourth of a pint of oil, yolk of one egg, 16c. One bunch of lettuce 5c., making a total of 23½c. for the salad.

For the pudding: One pint of cream, 20c.; sugar for cream and compote, 6c.; one pint of milk, 2½c.; yolk of three eggs, 3c.; rice, 2c.; oranges for the compote, at 25c. per dozen, 10c. Total, 43½c.

The whites of the eggs from the croquettes, the mayonnaise and the pudding made the white cake and frosting, the butter, sugar, flour and milk amounting to 15½c.

MENU.

Grilled Sardines on Toast
Breaded Pork Tenderloins Tomato Sauce
Corn Fritters
Rum Omelettes
Salad of Deviled Eggs on Watercress
Bird's Nest Pudding Angel Food Cake

To procure this wholesome lunch for one dollar and a half necessitates very careful calculation. Three small boxes of sardines (they are not genuine, but are very nice little fish) may be had for 12½c. One lemon cut in thin slices and ten slices of toast with the oil of the sardines instead of butter make a total of 15c.

The pork tenderloins dipped in egg and cracker crumbs are 25½c. the tomato sauce, 8c.

One-half can of corn with milk, flour and one egg, baking powder, for the fritters, 11c. The rum omelette is delicious and requires one dozen eggs, 12½c; sugar, ¼c, and rum, 9c.

Recipes

HOW TO MAKE MANY GOOD THINGS

Time-Saving Pie-Crust.

(Contributed.)

One good full cup of lard—cold.
Three cups (round) full of flour.
One even teaspoon salt.

Rub together till thoroughly mixed; set away in a cold place till you wish to make a pie. It will keep any length of time cold and dry.

When you wish to make a pie take one cup of the mixture and as little cold water as you can possibly get it together with, hardly more than a teaspoon of water. I add a few drops of water at a time, roll out, and on the top crust sift or sprinkle a very little of the dry mixture to make it flaky. Very good, and always the same and ready for instant use. F. E. D.

Preserved Melon Rind.

Pare the melon very thin; do not pare away all the ripened melon. Leave about one-quarter inch attached to the rind. Cut in pieces and place in a crock over night with salt sprinkled between the layers. In the morning drain, pour boiling water over, leave for one-half hour, drain again. Now weigh the fruit—to 10 pounds fruit add 5 pounds granulated sugar, one-half gallon white vinegar one ounce stick cinnamon, one ounce white gingerroot and one-half ounce whole cloves. Tie the spice in small muslin bags, place all in a large pan and boil slowly. The longer it boils the nicer will it be. MRS. P. S.

Corn Dodger.

(Contributed.)

One pint corn meal (Southern corn meal).

One teaspoon salt.

Scald with boiling water to make not too stiff dough. Take a spoonful at a time in the hand and put in pones; put on a hot, well-greased griddle, put a clot of butter on each pone; bake in a well-heated oven.

This is very fine with good meal. Make johnny cake the same, only make thin with sweet milk and drop from spoon. L. L. McH.

Egg Bread.

(Contributed.)

Two-thirds pint corn meal, one-third pint flour.

Two eggs, one pint buttermilk.

One level teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt.

One teaspoon sugar, two teaspoons hot butter or lard.

Put in the butter just before pouring in hot skillet. Bake in quick oven.

Stuffed Peppers

(By Request.)

Cut the stem-ends of large sweet peppers and dig out the seeds, taking care not to have them touch the sides, or they will make the dish too hot. Lay the emptied peppers in ice-cold salt-and-water for an hour. Have ready a good mince of ham, of chicken, of veal or lamb, with bread-crumbs or cold boiled rice worked up with it to avoid "sogginess." Season with onion-juice, salt, butter and gravy, also tomato-juice if you have it. Fill the peppers with this and pack, open ends up, in a bake-dish or pan. Fill in between them with a good gravy; strew fine crumbs over the tops and bake, covered, half an hour. Then brown

DEPARTMENT FOR PARENTS AND CHILDREN

CONDUCTED BY MARION HARLAND

YOUR constituency has helped so many that I hope someone will be charitable enough to help me.

It is rather a peculiar question to ask, but perhaps someone may have the solution, as it puzzles me. I have a boy 11 years of age, who is bright and adaptive, but the poor child is so very nearsighted that it makes life a burden for him. He wears glasses, but even then his sight is far from normal. We are in what I suppose is called the "great middle class" and I will be compelled to put him to work as soon as possible. He has been graduated from eighth grade, and what I desire to submit to "Our Circle" is this: What can I do or what shall I try to have him learn that he can make a success of in life? Anything in the line of machinery is too dangerous, and I cannot afford to send him to college, and do not know what to do.

A PERPLEXED MOTHER.

I SHALL SUBMIT YOUR PROBLEM to our sympathising Family Circle, of course. But were the boy mine I should take him to the best oculist I could find, have his eyes examined and glasses fitted to them. Oculists accomplish nowadays what would have been reckoned miracles thirty, or even twenty years ago, accommodating lenses to every visual eccentricity. Do not decide that your bright boy's choice of a profession must be limited by his infirmity until you have made a fair test of what science can do to help him.

"Job's Tears" and Their Power to Help the Sick.

IN REPLY to your question as to what are Job's tears, I will say they are about as large as peas and grow in much the same way, only not in pods. They are of a pearl color, and have a long seed running through them, which, when ripe, can be drawn out, leaving a hole in each end, which makes the bead a bead. There are properties in them, as in an onion, which "gather the disease," as they turn dark very soon after they are taken from the neck will get lighter again. My little sister, when a child, suffered very often with the croup. A lady told me of Job's tears, but I only laughed at the idea. To convince me she gave Ruth a string of the beads. Just previous to this my sister was seized with the whooping cough. She would choke until black in the face and whoop and cough dreadfully, but could never raise anything. After wearing the beads a couple of days the cough loosened and the mucus would be raised in long strings. The beads looked as if they had been smoked by the fire. From that time she wore them until a couple of years ago, when they were laid aside. She is now a healthy girl of 12, and has never had any sickness until last winter, when she had a bad cough. At the same time we had pneumonia in the house. I was alarmed, and had the doctor examine her lungs and throat. He pronounced it nothing but a cold, but the medicine he prescribed did no good. We were kept awake all night with that cough. At last she hunted up her beads and resolved to wear them until hot weather came, as the stocks on her dresses cover them. She never coughed after the second day. I have heard that the seeds, dried, and in case of inflammation steeped and made into a poultice, will be very beneficial. I have never tried it myself.

MRS. T. C. E. (Wisconsin).

I GIVE THIS INTERESTING LETTER at length because it is extraordinary in statements, as well as entertaining in style and matter. After reading it I took out my bracelet of Job's tears and surveyed it with reverence. Does any other correspondent know anything of their properties and achievements?

The Sadness of A Childless Woman.

A PLAIN-SPOKEN woman, with a clear head and a heart where it should be, craves audience of the sisterhood:

"I have read with a great deal of interest the various opinions on the subject of large or small families. Among my friends are many who would contemplate with horror the chance of a second or third child. And when I say I would not mind having three or four children, they look at me askance and say: 'Well, you can talk! You have none!' I have been married eight years, no little ones have come to bless our home. Motherhood was my hope and desire. I prayed that God would make me a good woman, so that, should the blessing of maternity come, I might be fit to train the gifts He would send. The unfulfilled desire often wakens a sad ache in an otherwise happy life. I cannot understand why we should shun motherhood. Surely every good woman longs for the love of children and for baby forms to press to her breast. Oh, the heart-hunger of a childless wife! Surely there are some other wives who feel as I do, although I have not met any myself. Those who have children seem to think only of the care and trouble they are, and those who have none feel they are fortunate. I am still young, and hope to be a mother, and should my prayer ever be answered it will make the happiest woman on earth.

"I hope I have not written too much. I read your page always. Some of the letters amuse me.—J. F. B.'s, for example. My husband does not make over $100 a month. We manage to save some, have bought and paid for our home, and occasionally we take a little outing. Oh, no, our best days are not gone when we are married. But I cannot dress on $100 a month. And I am economical, too. MRS. J. F.

THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF MOTHERS WHO are proud and happy because God has set this crowning honor upon their womanhood. I know scores who agree with me that children are the investment which pays most surely and richly in this life. You have been unfortunate in not knowing more—even in America!

"A Neglected Girl;" "A Heartless Parent."

H. L. R. must be a heartless parent! Let us hope that by the help of people who have human sympathies the little girls will be given a chance in life.

Who can tell how many unsuccessful lives are due to the lack of parental love! Children crave love, and need it positively must have it. Love is the paramount requirement.

A NEGLECTED GIRL (Now grown up).

OUR LORD, OUT OF THE FULLNESS of the tender heart that ever throbbed with love for man, left on record the curse upon those who offend "one of these little ones."

"I say unto you that in heaven these angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven."

Another Plea for Overalls for the Youngsters.

I SEE in your paper that E. R. is desirous of knowing how to clean a child's white Bedford coat. I had made a coat for my first baby, and cleaned it many dozens of times, and when she outgrew it I laid it away, for it was as good as new. Now our second baby is wearing it, and I cleaned it scores of times for her. So if you will look forward my simple method of cleaning it, I am sure E. R. will be delighted.

Wash it in warm (not hot) water and ivory soap or white soap, and rinse it thoroughly through several waters, then hang it out in the sun. When partially dry iron it on the right side, being careful not to scorch it, and then hang it out again until thoroughly dry. My coat has been washed, I am sure, fifty times. R. E. S.

IT IS UNDOUBTEDLY, THEN, OF THE BEST QUALITY. Goods of second-rate quality "do not pay" in the long run. Children will soil frocks and trousers and shirt waists, and the cheaper grades go to pieces in the consequent hard washing.

I take occasion here again to call the attention of mothers to the utility of overalls for boys and "rompers" for little girls under 7 years of age. The blessed 5-year-old, who is the sunshine of our home, never looks so "sonsie" and bewitching in her afternoon muslins and sashes as when, having over, she is indued in a blue romper, trimmed with red, that encases her white skirts and frilled drawers, being gathered into elastic bands just below the knees, and buttoning close to the neck and wrists. She plays out-of-doors from morning until late afternoon thus equipped, except for the hour or so at the luncheon table, for which function she is promptly stripping off the romper and substituting a clean white frock. No fear of torn skirts, no draperies of any kind hamper the freedom of her limbs, and the washing bills are sensibly smaller for the sensible invention.

Bishop's Tomato Catsup.

Why does every housekeeper order "Bishop's" Tomato Catsup?

Why is practically the whole town eating "Bishop's" Tomato Catsup?

Because "Bishop's" is a catsup that suits every taste. "Bishop's" is a catsup with a superior flavor.

All grocers sell "Bishop's" in 15c and 25c bottles.

EGG STICKING. The Cincinnati Price Current of October 8 says there was a fair increase in the marketing of eggs the past week. The total receipts packing amounted to 205,000 cases, compared with 286,000 the previous week and 316,000 two weeks ago. The corresponding time last year the receipts was 315,000, and two years ago from March 1 the total is 11,-290,000 against 10,845,909 a year ago—an excess of 450,000. Reports in regard to the quality of receipts are somewhat varied, but on the whole are fairly good. Prices for hogs have had a downward tendency, the closing average at prominent markets being $5.70 per 100 pounds, compared with $5.95 a week ago, $5.80 two weeks ago, $7.20 a year ago and $4.15 two years ago. The speculative provision market has ruled the past week, and prices had a downward tendency. There was much demand from any direction and with hogs and corn both lower there was a lack of supporting influence. Attention was mainly directed to deferred deliveries. The export trade of product were moderate and show a decrease as compared with the preceding week, but a slight gain as compared with the corresponding week last year.

The following shows the lowest, highest and closing prices of leading articles at Chicago for the week, for December delivery, and also the closing prices a week ago and a year ago:

NEW YORK MARKET.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Attempts on the part of the professional traders to advance stock prices today were disturbed by the development of a number of weak points in very much the same manner as yesterday. The advances which were achieved were in consequence generally wiped out, and the list prices were below last night as a rule. The strength in early dealings was helped by the higher range of prices in London, where the financial community felt great encouragement over the prospect of averting hostilities between Russia and Japan. The stock-market situation at Pittsburgh was much improved today, and market values of Crucible Steel proved a great deal toward repairing the damage done by yesterday's panicky break. The responsive pressure upon United States Steel preferred, which broke that stock in yesterday's market, was relieved in consequence. The official denial of some of the disturbing rumors regarding the business of some of the industrial corporations indicated the activity of the bear manipulators in dissipating the rumors and prompted some recovery. The break in the Canadian group of stocks offered the first interruption to the advance, and served to add to the anxiety caused by yesterday's rumors of financial difficulties in Montreal. The effect on the general list was not very marked, and attempts were made to contest the reaction. The market was without any animation, however, after this development. Later in the day, the weakness of Amalgamated Copper overshadowed the whole situation. This stock was lifted a point in the early dealings, and reflected quite an active speculation, based on tomorrow's dividend meeting. The late break to 33¾, a low record for the stock, caused all sorts of surmises about tomorrow's dividend action. The weakness of the American Smelting stocks seemed to be associable with that of Amalgamated Copper. The violent break in American Car stock toward the close of the session also had an unsettling effect. The common fell 3¾ and the preferred 4¾. The premium commanded by these stocks in the bear market this morning indicated an overextended short account, and the covering by the bears rallied them in the early market. The effect upon sentiment of the later break was correspondingly greater, owing to this supporting influence of the market. No news developed regarding the property. Several attempts were made to rally the market after the various points of weakness had developed. One of these took the form of a bidding-up of the Vanderbilt group. This seemed designed to give the impression that the leading members of the family in control, newly returned from abroad, was buying the stocks. But their subsequent release pointed to the movement as a traders' device. There was a buying movement at one time in Reading also. The resumption of the hearing in the United States Shipbuilding suit seemed to exercise a depressing effect on the trading. The day's returns of railroad earnings were generally favorable, and the decline in imports and the corresponding benefit to the country's favorable trade balance, as reported by the Bureau of Statistics in the September foreign trade return, indicated a favorable factor in the exchange situation. But these considerations failed to hold the late market against reaction. United States Steel bonds rose ¾ at one time, but lost practically all of the gain. The bond market generally was unimportant. Total sales, par value, $76,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—There was a general disposition manifested among wheat traders to sell out long lines, and with an absence of any news that might be construed as of a bullish character the market developed a weak undertone. Opening prices were easier on rather indifferent cables, favorable weather for the movement and larger receipts. December being ¼ to ¾ lower, at 73¾@73¾. Trading was dull the early part of the session, and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. The tendency was toward a lower level, however, influenced by the small demand for cash and the lower prices in Minneapolis. Later, a fair rally occurred on buying by traders, who had sold short early, which sent December up gradually to 89½. A slight rally at Minneapolis and a stronger market at St. Louis were causes for the covering. During the last hour of the session there was selling on the advance, credited to a prominent bull operator, and with an absence of support the market again weakened. Closing prices were near the bottom, with December ¾c lower, at 78½, after touching 73¾@73¾. Corn got a firm start under the influence imparted from yesterday's shipping business and on higher cables and much smaller receipts than had been estimated. There was a fair demand from locals early in the day, and with light offerings the market developed additional strength, helped to some extent by the small offerings from the country. The late weakness in wheat affected corn, and the close was only a trifle higher than yesterday, December being up ¼, at 46¾, after selling between 45¾ and 46¾. Trading in oats was of moderate proportions, and prices held about steady. Buying was mainly by one or two commission houses and local shorts, while the selling was scattered. The firmness in corn and light offerings were early bull factors, but later the market eased off with other grains. After selling between 37¼ and 37¾, December closed ¼ lower, at 37¼. An improved cash demand, with better prices for hogs at the yards, caused firmness in provisions early in the day, but aside from some buying for foreign accounts, the demand was limited, and as the session advanced, the market became easier. Selling by packers was a weakening influence late in the day. The close was steady, with January pork and lard each 2½c lower, while ribs were down 2½@5c.

BIG BAPTIST TEMPLE BEGINS TO MOVE.

PLANS DISCUSSED LAST EVENING AFTER PRAYER-MEETING.

Present Project Calls for Huge Office Building, Running Through Solid Block, Eight Stories High and With Immense Auditorium.

Members of Temple Baptist Church listened last evening, after their regular prayer-meeting, to a description of plans for the great Baptist temple and convention hall, together with proposed ways and means for raising the necessary funds for the same. The committee in charge of these preliminary steps was composed of C. R. Harris, Mattison B. Jones, George Giles and Leonard Merrill. Mr. Harris, as chairman, gave the story of the work as far as it has yet gone.

The proposed building has been designed by Marsh and Russell, architects of this city, and is intended by its originators and promotors to completely fill the traditional "long-felt want" of Los Angeles—the crying need of a convention hall.

It is planned to erect it somewhere within the territory bounded by Fifth, Sixth, Spring and Hill streets, with its frontage on one of the north and south streets. The building, according to the Marsh and Russell idea, will be eight stories high, covering a plot of ground 160x300 feet in size. According to finish and ornament, it may cost anywhere from $600,000 to $1,000,000.

Large store and office facilities are intended to make the investment pay. If this plan is accepted, there will be store frontage on two streets, with ample depth to accommodate any ordinary business, still leaving a clear space of 150 feet in the center of the block for the auditorium. The seating capacity of this great audience room will be 3500 with one gallery. A wide lobby will run through on the street level, from two thoroughfares, and adjoining this on one side may be a café, and on the other a barber shop. On the second floor of the building will be the Sunday-schoolroom of the Baptist Temple Church. This will occupy one of the entire wings, and will be the property of the church every day in the year.

Said C. R. Harris last evening: "Some of the shrewdest real estate men in the city say that we can realize 6 per cent easily on our investment. It is the plan now to organize a temple corporation, an entirely separate and distinct organization, for the raising of funds to erect this building. Enthusiasm seems to be manifested everywhere, and I believe that the time will be surprisingly short till every dollar necessary is on hand. I think members of this church will first take hold of the stock, and after that business men of this section stand ready for anything that they may leave. Offers have already been received from investors in all parts of Southern California."

On the top of one of the sections of the big temple building is planned an up-to-date roof garden and café, and on the other place will be made for two luxurious art studios.

Friendly acceptance of plans for approval of the Temple Baptist congregation, as a whole will be made next Wednesday evening.

SANTA PAULA.

LARGE FIRE LOSSES.

SANTA PAULA, Oct. 14.—More definite information concerning the damage wrought by the brush fires in the mountains and in the northern valley comes in. R. S. Thorpe, who lives in the fire zone, four or five miles above town, states that his own loss includes a thousand feet of lumber, forty acres of fine feed and fencing around 160 acres. He states that the loss to the bee men is heavy; Orcutt & Moore lose 125 stands, the Smith, Brown and Pressy apiaries are reported destroyed, and it is feared that many smaller bee ranches have been damaged, making the loss mount up into the hundreds of tons of honey. Over 1000 gum trees have been wiped out. The Thorpe ranch buildings and those on the Orcutt ranch were saved only by strenuous efforts. Yesterday the east wind fanned the smouldering embers and the fires burned fiercely all day.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE NOTES.

Prof. Everett C. McClelland has received word that his father, living in Alexis, Ill., was seriously injured by falling from a ladder. A second telegram sent twenty hours later stated that he was still unconscious.

Several members prominent in the affairs of the freshman class originated a scheme to start a new literary society in the college in order to have a rivalry with the existent Philomathian Society and to accommodate the large number of new students who will be unable to enter the latter society because of its membership limit. In their class loyalty, several freshmen thought it would be excellent to start the society as a class institution. This, however, has fallen through for various obvious reasons, and while the majority of the new society's members will be freshmen, no class distinctions will be made. No names for the society have as yet been suggested, but its organization will take place in a few days.

DOWIE'S NEMESIS.

John the Baptist II Has Arrived in New York to Save the "Gullible People of Manhattan" from the Zionist.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Dowie is Judas Iscariot reincarnate. I have come all the way from Cleveland, O., to thwart his influence in New York."

With these startling words, which struck horror to the hearts of listening Dowieists, John the Baptist II, the very latest claimant of spiritual powers, arrived in New York today with a huge badge bearing the words: "John the Baptist, the Second."

The man, who is about sixty years old, wears a silk hat and a suit of plain black, and presents himself to listeners on street corners. His name is John Hoop, although he prefers to be called by the title of "John the Baptist," and he came from Bavaria to this country when he was a child.

"I have the gift of prophecy," he asserts, "and am here in New York to keep Dowie, who is an imposter, from getting his evil power over the people. His system at Zion is pernicious, and I do not want to see him work the gullible people of Manhattan."

The Cabinet crisis may be considered solved, says a dispatch from Valparaiso, Chile. All of the ministers with the exception of those of war and navy, will retain their portfolios.

"GARLAND" STOVES AND RANGES bake the bread and roast the meats that make the man.

The Mt. Lowe cars, commencing today, will leave Sixth and Main streets at 8, 9, 10 a.m., 1 and 3:30 p.m.

We Court
the Strictest Investigation Regarding Ourselves and Our Work.

We advertise our specialty to let you know who and what we are. We give our undivided attention to a very limited number of diseases. Generally speaking a very small percentage of our patients ever talk to others about their ailments, except cases of Varicocele, Piles, Rupture, etc. We can show you hundreds of this class among Los Angeles leading business men. Now here is a fact, no doctor can confine his practice to our class of work in a city the size of Los Angeles unless he tells the people about his specialty through an advertisement. More than half our patients come to us through our newspaper ads. Nine men in ten who need our kind of work sooner or later call on a doctor who advertises. Thousands of our patients never would have heard of us any other way. Like any other business man we must be known through some means or we certainly cannot get business. Do you condemn every doctor who advertises because you know every city is filled with pretenders? The trouble is in the patient himself. He should not employ any doctor whom he does not know personally without making a thorough investigation of his standing. Make him show you genuine medical diplomas in his own name at least one of them from a college for special courses, make him refer you to a large number of first-class business men who will tell you all about his standing as a physician. If you will use ordinary judgment you can know who is the genuine specialist. Don't condemn and reject every doctor who advertises because you have been disappointed. We can show you the proof of our work if you care to have it, and if you show us that you are a square man and willing to pay for value received we will trust you for our fee until you know by actual experience that we know our business and treat our patients honestly.

We treat and cure Varicocele, Hydrocele, Piles, Specific Blood Poison, Contracted Disorders, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Strictures.

MANY MEN
Are Treated for Conditions Which Do Not Exist.

Failure to CURE the Result
FUNCTIONAL DECLINE Termed Weakness by Some
The treatment and methods I use get at the exact cause—I am positive they are the most rational, scientific and effective whereby functional activity may be restored; many men suffering from this condition will find their trouble directly traceable to excesses and improper treatment, thus producing a seemingly chronic condition of the entire reproductive system.
Contracted Diseases
Become chronic through improper treatment; painful caustic remedies are the direct cause of stricture, ulceration and deep-seated inflammation. I am confident I cure these ailments more quickly than any one claiming to treat these conditions successfully. I treat the exact cause, and completely remove every sign of the disease.
Stricture
And inflammation of the urethra and bladder. I cure in 10 to 15 days by direct contact with the most effective treatment, which softens and relaxes the hardened formation obstructing the passage. During 20 years I have devoted much time and study to the removal of these annoying troubles and I am safe in saying my cures are more frequent than those of less experience and facilities.
Varicocele
Invariably 4 to 6 days is sufficient in each case. My treatment shows results from first application. All pain ceases, soreness and swelling subsides and a normal physiological condition is brought about and that without cutting, tying, caustic or pain.
Not by Mail
Permanent cures cannot be made by guessing through the mail. Those who have tried it have failed and without receiving even temporary relief. Guesswork is uncertain and unreliable; also expensive. When I treat a case I will know what for and why, and you may know what you can depend upon. Patients coming to the city are furnished rooms free of charge.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

DRUNKEN MAN FALLS OVER THIRTY FEET.

AND YET HE IS RESTING WELL IN PASADENA.

Charles Dunham, Who Says He's from Arizona, Tumbles Off Wall at Garvanza — Railroad Work — Pretty Luncheon—Notes and Personals.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 24 South Raymond Avenue, Oct. 15.—It is said that a drunken man can fall farther than a cat and live. Whether this be true or not, strong evidence was brought to bear on the validity of the assertion last night when a Garvanza man, who was stubbornly about giving out his name, fell from a high stone wall directly opposite the little Garvanza station in front of the hotel.

The man was drunk and when he got up the car said, "Say pard, do you know me? Uh? No? Well that's good. Don't mind now, but I live in Garvanza, and want you to put me off there, see. Then you go to sleep and mustn't be disturbed until I get there, see." He punctuated his remarks out with many a hiccough, made a poor attempt at being happy, and tumbled into a seat where Ridgie has snores with the buzz of a trolley wheel.

At Garvanza the conductor did a little considerable work on the sleeping party, told the motorman to be passent, and helped the bundle of drowsiness off of the car and gave the signal to go ahead. There was a sudden awakening and the dazed-ming steered the man across the tracks in front of the car. He thought that was the way to Garvanza and deliberatly walked over the stone wall and disappeared into the darkness below. Everybody got out to peer over at the remains, and then made a detour and got down below where Conductor Humphrey found the unconscious man lying in a mass of green heap, in the middle of the road. Curiously he was carried up the steep hill and finally gave signs of life in a few moans.

E. P. Rowland, the company's physician, was called from Pasadena and after the man fully regained consciousness. He would not give his name and when the conductor insisted on it for his report, he said, "my name has left me and I don't care if it has. "But your name," insisted the conductor. "My name is Durham, bull durham tobacco, and that is all there is to it." His face was a mass of blood and he wanted to be taken home to his house, minus his little wife. He gave as his address, No. 6153 Piedmont street. Pending the arrival of Dr. Rowland the injured man was placed in the mail car, which is stalled there, waiting to be changed to broadgauge trucks.

At a late hour he was reported resting fairly well with no bones broken, but with the possibility of internal injury. He "fessed up to the name of Charles Dunham, said he was from Arizona, and told his wife left for San Francisco last night. His escape from death was a narrow one, as the wall is over forty feet at the point where he fell.

RAILROAD WORK.

Work on the various lines of the Pacific Electric between this city and Los Angeles is nearing its completion. Cars are running from the Southern Pacific station on Broadway as far as Sycamore Grove without change. At present the cars for Los Angeles via the Hoefle cut go by way of West Colorado street and Fair View avenue, but across the viaduct into South Pasadena, and many of the property owners of South Orange Grove and Columbia street are a bit worried as to whether that portion of track will be abandoned or not. At present the north track is being used, and owing to the infrequency of the cars there is not the necessity of change at South Pasadena. It is not being used.

Mr. Smith, the elder, when queried last night concerning this, said: "That question has not been decided by the company as yet, in fact, I do not believe that it has come up for consideration, but it is my opinoin that the track will not be abandoned." Should portion of the right of way to L◆ be torn up there will undoubtedly be strong objections raised by the Orange Grove residents, as the present station is at present their most available point.

Through the busiest portion of the lines in Pasadena now is on the upper part of the Altadena division, where two trains, one Jap and the other Mexican, are camped, and the broad-gauge is being pushed very rapidly, the work to the end of the section probably be completed within two weeks.

It is unofficially announced that an order is to go into effect which will provide that every third car from Los Angeles shall go around the north and east loop, thereby obviating the necessity of transferring for residents living on the east side of the city.

Treasurer Campbell, who owns property in the Campbell-Johnson ranch, offered to bet $50 yesterday that cars will be running through there by next July. The inactivity of the division is explained by railroad officials on the grounds that rails have not been ordered. It is claimed that the shortage of rails has held the company back at many points more or less.

CUPID'S DAY AT HOME.

The world-wide ruler, Cupid, was the guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon given by Mrs. Clarence Churchill of Bellevue Drive, and as queen presided at Miss Vera Morehouse, whose the dainty affair was given, the engagement to Edward H. Forshaye has recently been announced.

The table decorations evoked that many little chorus of "ohs" and "sweet," "simply dear," which is a way of pretty girls know how to do. Bride's roses were the feature on the chair of the guest of honor, a huge bunch of them, and the other guests took turns at placing their roses in. The place cards were unique and were the work of the hostess. On the upper side of each was found a drawing of a debutante, while on the other a little puzzle was printed out to whom the chair belonged. The soft afternoon's breeze coming up from the west as the sun was nearing its close accidentally caught up two of those poetic effusions, and they appear here-with.

Friends they were, all else denying (Friendship always tried.)
Cupid, though, had seen the end.
Said, 'Why this is very tame.'
Then Cupid as distressed,
Let the guess and love contest.

They soon prove hard to find the Cause of that, but the western breeze
Came not to tell. Here is the other.
Guesses allowed:
Over the girl mem think most fair
With smiling dimples and teeth of pearls,
Must never be jealous of other girls,
Sweet forever, trim and neat,
Must nor be large but quite petite.
She sure will know when this she sees.
Her name is one among the B's."

If the names of those present were given it would be too simple to guess.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Henry J. McCoy, who was general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at San Francisco for twenty-three years, visited Pasadena today as the guest of E. T. Sams, manager of the local branch. McCoy was well pleased with the handsome new quarters of the association, which, by the way, are becoming so popular that more room is as badly needed as when the association was in its old quarters. The class of the young ladies' physical culture club which meets Tuesday and Friday evenings now has a membership of thirty-three, and arrangements are being made to put the large number of applicants in a day class.

Mrs. W. N. Van Nuys and Mrs. Sarah Streif left yesterday morning for Sacramento, where they will represent the local lodge at the State convention of Grand Lodge of the Order of Eastern Star. They will be gone about ten days.

A telegram was received yesterday morning by C. M. and Fred Fishbeck, announcing the death of their father in Chicago, who was an old-time resident of this city. Fred Fishbeck left on last night's limited for Chicago.

Sarah D. Lee, aged 89 years, a native of Maryland, died at her home, North Madison and Buckeye streets, at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. She was the wife of W. C. Lee of this city. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be conducted by F. M. Dowling.

D. M. Linnard of the Hotel Maryland has offered to contribute $100 toward the Tournament of Roses, and in addition to give one day of his time each week between now and New Year's day to work on the proposition. If the meeting of the association is not called within the next few days by the officers of last year, Linnard has declared that he will take steps to call a public mass meeting.

DIED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

EL MONTE, Oct. 14.—J. D. McCloud and wife went to San Francisco to attend the Masonic Grand Lodge convention. Mr. McCloud acting as a delegate from the El Monte order. While there Mrs. McCloud died suddenly from the bursting of a blood vessel in the side. The remains were shipped to Booth & Boylston's undertaking parlors in Los Angeles, where the funeral service will be held Thursday. The deceased was well known here, having lived near Savannah for a number of years.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC LINE.

The route of the Pacific Electric Railway, through this part of the valley, which has heretofore been largely a matter of conjecture, has been settled. E. J. "Lucky" Baldwin, whose property interests are of great extent, is authority for the statement as to the right of way through his land here. He says that the line will pass through El Monte, north of the Southern Pacific Railroad and running parallel to it.

Miss Duren, who has been in charge of the Bassett school, resigned. The school then had a three weeks' vacation. It will commence again next Monday with a new teacher, Miss Howell of Los Angeles.

F. E. Mills has completed a fine residence in Mountain View.

The recent arrival of Clyde Frisble from his three months' stay in the Klondike region has given added hope and life to local football enthusiasts. He got into the field work last night in his old position as center-rush.

Edwin Brink, who accompanied Clyde Frisble last May to Alaska, has returned and entered the medical college connected with the University of California.

SAN PEDRO.

COMING TO LIFE AGAIN?

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 14.—Much speculation has resulted from the action of the City Trustees a week ago, in tabling indefinitely the bath-house petition of Luke Kelly. The fact that the board did not take stronger measures and altogether deny the proposition, is regarded as a play in Kelly's favor. There is no positive assurance, as the subject now stands, that the franchise will not be granted. This has caused a great deal of discussion the past few days, and in some quarters anxiety is felt concernnig the safety of the water front.

A report is current to the effect that if one of the two Trustees who oppose Kelly's petition, should fail to appear at any future meetings during the lifetime of the present board, an effort will be made by the others to grant the concession. Whether there is truth in this rumor remains to be seen. It is known that Trustee Tilton would readily vote to sign away the frontage in the manner that is asked, and unless the public is much mistaken, Trustee Mahar would do likewise.

It was Tilton, who moved that the bath-house petition be "laid over indefinitely," and inasmuch as he is openly playing his cards in Kelly's hand, the inference is that there is a "nigger in the woodpile" somewhere.

City Attorney Frank Karr was asked if he thought the matter would ever come up again. He said: "I don't believe anything more will come of it. It is practically a dead issue in so far as the present board is concerned, according to custom. If the time ever presents itself when but three members are in attendance at the Trustees' meeting, and should an effort be made to bring this proposition to a head, the minority member would probably walk out without voting."

Mr. Karr did not say what the effect would be in case a Trustee should decide to leave a meeting that had already been called, but the belief is pretty general that it would make no difference. There are no set rules governing the San Pedro Board of Trustees, and some say they are at liberty to do almost anything they desire. Of course, this applies only to the order in which meetings run.

A plan has been advanced to have the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and other interesetd bodies in Southern California urge upon the Trustees of San Pedro to bring the petition up again and deny it outright.

BOY BURGLARS.

Five boys, ranging in age from 12 to 14 years, were arrested today, charged with having robbed a tamale stand on Sixth street last night. They are Henry Carese, Thomas Huen, Thomas Brooks, John Cummings and Thomas Gomez, all of San Pedro. It is alleged that three of the youngsters entered the rear of the stand and carried away a trunk and its contents, while the other two politely entertained the proprietor in front. They afterward met near the plant of the San Pedro Ice and Cold Storage Company, on Front street, and were caught taking the articles from the trunk. Three of them have confessed to the theft, but the others are quiet. A preliminary examination will be given them before Justice Downing tomorrow morning.

STATE MINERAL ARCH FOR ST. LOUIS FAIR.

THE most important feature that will grace California's mineral exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition will be a composite arch constructed of the various building and structural materials found in the State. Upon designs furnished by State Mineralogist Aubury and adopted by Commissioners Frank Wiggins and J. A. Filcher, Architects Shea & Shea have perfected plans for this arch, which will be placed at the entrance of the California exhibit.

The plans provide for an arch twenty-two feet in height, and a total width of seventeen feet, with an entrance at the base of seven feet. The base will be granite, with terra cotta, pressed brick and other representative material including sandstone. Immediately above the center of the gateway, in the nature of a keystone, the material will be marble, bearing at the front on either side medallions emblematic of the seal of the State, while on the reverse side two California bears will be represented. The name "California Mining Exhibit" will stand out in bold relief on a background of terra cotta.

All the material will be gathered in the State, and all the exhibitors will be given credit. If possible, it is the intention to erect two such arches, one showing the resources of northern and one those of the southern end of the State.

PROPOSED MINING ARCH.

AGAINST IMMIGRATION.

Chamber of Commerce Adopts Resolutions of Central Coast Counties—Ex-Secretary Bliss Coming.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday the following-named committee was appointed to aid in the entertainment of ex-Secretary of the Interior C. N. Bliss, who is expected here within a few days: F. Q. Story, A. B. Cass, J. O. Koepfli, J. S. Slauson, Hon. James MacLachlan and Hon. M. J. Daniels. Word of his coming was received from Homer Laughlin.

A lengthy resolution composed and adopted by the California Central Coast Counties Improvement Association, petitioning the enforcement of the immigration laws, and the framing of such additional laws as might serve to check the ruinous influx to the United States of the undesirable foreign class, was indorsed by the chamber.

The following-named were appointed a committee to represent the chamber in the entertainment of the Hon. Liang Chi Chao, the distinguished Chinese reformer, who will be in the city next week: John Alton, G. G. Johnson, A. C. Way and Newman Essick.

An invitation from the people of Tulare, inviting the members of the Chamber of Commerce to be present at their jubilee Saturday, was accepted, and such members as can spare the time were requested to attend.

Attention was called to the dusty condition of the city parks, and the matter was referred to the Committee on Parks and Boulevards, the latter to confer with the Park Commissioners for the purpose of devising means for remedying the evil.

J. M. Guinn appeared before the board with the complaint that Los Angeles county has failed to respond to the request of Sloat Monument Committee that each county contribute a memorial stone to the monument. The president of the board immediately appointed a committee to go before the County Supervisors to request them to supply the stone. The committee consists of J. M. Guinn, Maj. E. F. C. Klokke, Herman Lichtenberger, A. M. Edelman and Dr. Walter Lindley.

New members elected are T. B. Burnside, Los Angeles Planing Mill; J. L. Ball, C. H. Treat, G. J. Major, C. Cloetta.

PLANS OF OLD DOMINION.

Extensive Operations of Big Worker in the Globe Field—Shannon Company Also Active.

Plans of the Old Dominion Copper Company of Globe are much more extensive than is generally known. The three new furnaces are to have a capacity of 500 tons of ore each. Even with only two furnaces running this will give ample capacity for handling a large amount of custom business, much to the benefit of the smaller operators in that district, as well as to the profit account of the company, particularly in the matter of securing fluxing ores for the lower level sulphides.

Stands for the new converters are being completed and work has begun on the new iron smelter building. Two furnaces are now being operated, the output of copper being about 800,000 pounds a month.

The new four-compartment shaft is now down 450 feet, and work upon it will be more rapid when uprising shall have been started from the twelfth level. The management figures that 1,000,000 tons of from 4 to 7 per cent. ore is in sight, from which a profit of two cents a pound will be realized. Despite the present production, it is currently believed that the company is on the point of levying an assessment. This rumor has caused a decided slump in the company's stock.

PLANS OF SHANNON.

At Clifton the Shannon Company is preparing to install a converter plant. At present the matte is purified at the smelter of the Arizona Copper Company. The company is making regular payments into the sinking fund, with the expectation of paying off its bonded indebtedness in seven years. Above this payment all profits are being expended for development and for new equipment.

In addition to the ore received from Metcalf and Coronado, the Arizona Copper Company is handling 1000 tons of ore a day from Morenci.

OPENING OF SEASON ON QUAIL AND DUCK.

GENERAL BOMBARDMENT OPENED ALONG THE GAME LINE.

Clubs Will All Have Full Blinds from Morning Until Shooters Have Enough. Blue Birds Being Chased Freely on the Hills by Sportsmen—Parties Now Out.

On the marshes the whizzing wings of ducks; on the hills the whirring roar of flushed quail, punctuated by the staccato crack of nitro powder will make merry music for the sportsman's ears today. The opening of the game season for 1903 has been attended with the greatest enthusiasm ever experienced at such a time in this section. All the sporting goods houses have been doing almost a holiday business taking care of the old timers who know what they want and the newcomers who don't know what they don't want. In many cases extra clerks have actually been hired to look after the business. Partly to the conceded abundance of game, perhaps even more to a general awakening to the sportsman's inducements offered by the adjacent country, is due the remarkable increase in interest. Today not a shooter who can possibly get away will fail to be at his favorite duck club or choicest quail pasture from early morning until his thirst for the opening day's sport has been slacked with a limit bag. Indications promise plenty of these, too.

Most of the clubmen and hunters who are going any considerable distance left last night for their resorts. Every duck club around the city for fifty miles will be taxed to its capacity today, and while the quail exodus will be inferior to that of next Sunday, there will be many a party out after the bonnie blue birds.

All the Ballona clubs will have the "blinds full" sign out in the clubhouse early. On the Recreation, August Winstel, Jacob Adolff, Fred Holbrook, Dr. Crawford, Edward Strasburg, Jacob Kuhrts and probably a half dozen more will be on hand at daylight this morning. The Santa Monica contingent, whose preserve lies directly south, popularly known as the "Santa Monica Walking Club" from its perambulatory predilections, will be represented by Messrs. Le Bas, Weyse, Trench, Martin and Wilhelm, at least. On the Centinela, John C. Cline, Willard H. Stimson, Irving E. Ingraham, Capt. Banning, E. L. Hedderly and possibly three others will be "handing it" to the sprigs, teal and spoonbills. The last two varieties are well represented everywhere, with a sprinkling of widgeon and posibly a few scattering big birds such as mallards and gadwell.

Robbie Ross, Ed Silent, Frank Hicks, W. L. Valentine, Charles McFarland and several others of the Cerritos contingent left last night for their preserve and the Green Wing Gang across the track will consist of Tom Stovell and the Long Beach division, with several Los Angeles shooters. The Pasadena gun club's new ponds will have a full representation.

In the Newport country the guns will be cracking merrily from early to late. E. W. Murphy, Jim Maifield, Charles Loud of Pomona and possibly another are already busy on the Newport grounds, while Ed Tufts, F. M. Notman, W. H. Holmes and John Schumacher are billed to roll cigarettes and shoot ducks on the Pacific reserve. Sam Schenck and several of the new Lomita contingent expect to inspect that preserve today and possibly pick up a few brace of birds.

The whole squad of the Bolsa Chica is eligible for the opening day and the occasion was made a merry one last night. In fact, all the duck clubs formally opened the season yesterday evening at dinner with a spread of even more than the usual attractiveness. Nearly every preserve bids fair to yield one or two good shots the limit, though the birds will be ragged in appearance and full of pin feathers at this time.

The quail chasers have mostly picked up a good string by this time. At Joe Mitchell's in Temescal Cañon, a full house was drawn last night that would beat any three and a pair a shooter ever saw. T. C. Lynch and Artie Pitcher left yesterday for Murietta for a week's shooting on ducks and quail, both of which can be obtained within easy drive from that locality. H. E. Maxson and Ed Dieter are busy today in a favorite quail cañon of theirs in the San Fernando Valley, where the birds are more than usually thick. D. L. Burke and a small party are bushwhacking in the same country.

All told, it promises to be a great opening day.

ANIMALS WELL PROTECTED.

The activity of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals is shown in the report for September just issued. The number of complaints were 50; cases investigated, 50; examinations by the veterinary surgeon, 104; cases relieved, 86; animals killed, 18; persons arrested, 2; convictions, 1; cases pending, 1; amount of fines, $30. The society will print and post where they will have the most salutory effect 1000 circulars bearing the statute that pertains to the cruel use of animals. A public meeting has also been planned to be held soon, when the society hopes to strengthen its work by enlisting popular support. On the fourth Tuesday of each month the board of managers will hold open house in its rooms on the fourth floor of the O. T. Johnson Block.

ARE OUR BOYS DEGENERATING?

Women's Parliament Thinks so and Exploits Cause.

Parents Severely Arraigned by Mrs. Blanchard.

New Officiary Chosen for the Federated Clubs of the South.

There is:
"Protection for what? for copper and steel,
Protection for wool, for beef and for veal,
Protection for yarn, for dry goods and toys,
Protection for mules, but none for the boys."

This sentiment, voiced by Mrs. Lucy B. Blanchard, of this city, was the keynote of the closing session of the Woman's Parliament yesterday afternoon.

In exploiting "The Boy—The Discovery of the Twentieth Century," Mrs. Blanchard held that the world is producing a higher type of womanhood than manhood and that the reasons for such an unequal development are apparent to any casual observer. As compared with the girl in the home the boy was practically left to himself and became the prey to every temptation and evil influence.

RIGHT TO BE WELL BORN.

"The boy has a better right, if it were possible," said Mrs. Blanchard, "to be well born than a girl, for the reason that his soul life is not so well guarded as his sisters. To call into being a little life other than as the blossom of pure and exalted love, is a crime. It is little wonder that many boys are uncontrollable. They are the children of fierce, burning lust, selfish sensualism and legalized prostitution.

"Then most parents neglect the training of their children in purity. Most all boys receive their first lessons about the secrets of life from other boys and on the streets of our cities. Their natures are set on fire of hell, and alas! very many soon find their way into the house of the scarlet woman, who takes special delight in completing their ruin.

"Too large a per cent. of the fatherhood of this country has come up out of just such conditions. What we need and must have, if our civilization is to escape the wreck of every other civilization of the past, is the introduction of a broad, comprehensive system of ethics, which beginning at the kindergarten, should extend through the university, shaping and moulding characters along the highest moral lines; an education in which purity of thought will be so impressed that sensualism will become repulsive. The child must be taught to abhor impurity; taught that the body is the temple of the Holy Ghost.

"The trouble with most of the young manhood of this day is, that it is trained in atrocious surroundings and is living in impurity; the soul dies, and the animal comes to dominate over the spiritual. These unfortunates crave unnatural stimulants, as cigarettes, tobacco and liquor, victims of heredity. Their earnings go to feed their passions. The holy relation of marriage is made to gratify lust, and ends in divorce. This is the class from which our army of tramps is recruited, and our asylums and hospitals are full of such incompetents. It is an endless round, more dissolute fathers to call into being little lives doomed by heredity, parental influences and corrupted environments to lives of impurity, to make more dissolute fathers, to call into being more unfortunate little beings, and so on without end. Born slaves to lust hard for a pure mind to conceive of, sin attacks them in every faculty and function. Sin poisons their reason, so that the power to distinguish good from evil is obscured. And what is the remedy for all this? Our only hope is the early discovery of the boy and his proper education and training in purity and righteousness. The hour has come for a holy, moral crusade, not to capture an empty sepulcher, but to exalt humanity by quickening the divine in humanity.

"Magazine writers dwell upon the increasing undomesticity of women, and would have us believe that the unfortunate condition of the boy is due largely to this cause. They cite statistics, and show that in 1870 there were but 8000 women book-keepers and office clerks, while in 1890 the number increased to 400,000. But they fail to record the fact that the great majority of these women had been forced out of the home into business life by the incompetency of the men, made incompetent in most cases by pernicious habits.

"It used to be thought that the city had done enough for the child life of its population, when it provided for its ample school accommodations. There is a realization, however, in all the larger cities of the country, that the crowding together of many people, as the city grows, changes the environments of children most unfortunately. They are apt to suffer for air in their homes and they are likely to be deprived of opportunities for play. It has come to be believed with us, therefore that the city has no higher duty to its own people or to the nation than to afford natural opportunities for its children for play as well as for work and for study."

MAKE BOYS WASH DISHES.

In the discussion that followed many bright women participated, placing the responsibility for the alleged degeneracy in boys at the door of the home. One eloquent advocate for the boy made a plea to the mothers present to report to the good old-time plan of sharing the housework with their boys, making them acquainted with every detail, engendering an interest in the home, to the elimination of false standards and the fostering of the home spirit.

Other papers were read by Mrs. Belle Summer Angier of San Diego, and Miss Alice Moore of Dalton, Ga. Mrs. Angier had for her subject "The Garden—a Factor in Home Making," and Miss Moore drew some helpful "Lessons from the Myths."

At the morning session, Mrs. J. H. Peck of Goleta, delivered an address in a happy vein, taking for her text "A Merry Heart." "I have no patience," said the speaker, "with this 'vale of tears' theory. We need not wait until we have crossed the harbor bar to find happiness. Instead of a land of desolation, we are living in one of beauty and happiness, which may be seen and realized if we will but look around. How true it is that 'a merry heart doeth good like a medicine.' Cheerfulness is but another term for courage."

During the day Mrs. W. H. Jamison rendered a piano solo; Miss Tertilla Eisenmayer sang "The Spring has Come" and F. W. Wallace gave Elliott's "Song of Hybird's, the Cretan."

SIMPLY BREATHE IT.

A Few Minutes' Use of Hyomei Four Times a Day Cures Catarrh.

The pleasantest, most convenient and the only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh is Hyomei. Simply put twenty drops of Hyomei in the inhaler that comes with every package and then breathe it for a few minutes four times a day.

It seems remarkable that so simple a way of treating catarrh will effect a cure, but the most important discoveries of science have always been the simplest. By breathing Hyomei in this way every particle of air that enters the air passages of the throat and head and goes into the lungs is charged with a healing balsam that kills the germs and bacilli of catarrh and soothes and allays all irritation.

The first day's use of Hyomei will show a decided improvement and in a short time there will be no further trouble from catarrh. Its action is rapid and lasting.

You take no risk in buying Hyomei. A complete outfit costs $1, and if after using you can say that it has not helped you Dean's Drug Store will return your money. What other treatment for catarrh is sold under a guarantee like this?

REUNION DINNER.

University of California Alumni Classes to Gather in San Francisco. University Extension Lectures.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 13.—Reunion dinners will be held in San Francisco by a number of alumni classes of the university Friday evening, November 13, the night before the annual California-Stanford football game. An effort is being made by the officers of the Alumni Association, President Frank Otis, 1873, and Secretary Wigginton E. Creed, 1898, to have all these dinners held in one hotel, so that a culminating general alumni reunion may be possible. The arrangements for the 1900 reunion are in the hands of Frank W. Aitken of No. 503 California street, San Francisco. The alumni of all classes resident in San Francisco meet informally at luncheon the first Saturday of each month at the Maison Riche, Geary street and Grant avenue, San Francisco. All men who are graduates or former students of the university are welcome.

The new department of university extension, established a year ago, is rapidly extending its activities to all parts of the State. Fourteen courses of twelve bi-weekly lectures each will be given this winter in fourteen different California towns, and invitations to form other centers at once are being considered. H. Morse Stephens, director of the department and professor of history, will himself give courses, on "The French Revolution" for some centers and on "The History of the Writing of History," for others at Red Bluff, Marysville, Napa, Chico, Covina, Pasadena, Long Beach, Santa Barbara and San Francisco. Garrick Mallory Borstaff lecturer, will give courses on "Florence and the Renaissance; History, Art, Literature," at Fresno, Visalia, Hanford, Merced and Modesto. Traveling libraries, elaborate syllabuses, and arrangements for class work for those who wish to supplement the lectures will add greatly to the solid value of the courses offered. University credit will be granted to those who successfully complete this optional class work, besides the lectures, and pass the examination set.

Sculptures for the facade of the new Hearst Memorial Mining Building are being modeled in a studio on the campus by Robert Aitken, the talented California sculptor, who decorated the Golden Gate Park music stand and designed the naval monument in Union Square and other fine sculptures in San Francisco. These sculptures for the mining building are the gift of Mrs. Hearst, like the building itself.

The literary skill of the students has been called upon for two playwriting competitions closing this week. For the junior farce and for the junior day curtain-raiser sixteen manuscripts were submitted, and for the curtain-raiser for the annual "football show," to be given in San Francisco on Saturday, November 14, after the intercollegiate football game, no less than twenty-three original extravaganzas were entered.
